Gangsters Finish Job.
Make Your Vows a Movie.
Reporting Is Easier.
8 Big Men.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

NEW YORK gangsters finished a job on Monday. After the usual "ride," Frank Marlow, prizefight promoter and all-around "racketeer," according to the police, was thrown from an automobile with shots in the temple, the jaw and the neck. He died soon after the police picked him up.

SUCH killings are commonplace features of our interesting crime wave. The only unusual feature is the finding of a stab wound in the victim's side, partly healed.

An attempt to kill him about two weeks ago had failed. The killers returned to their job and finished it.

They are "diligent in their business."

JUDGE RHOADES, of the Omaha Court of Domestic Relations, suggests to discourage divorce:

"Make a talking moving picture of each marriage.

"When a divorce is talked of later, make the husband and wife listen to their voices making solemn vows of eternal fidelity, 'till death do us part.'"

THE Judge thinks that would touch their hearts and make man and wife say, "No, we don't want any divorce."

It might perhaps, but not certainly.

There are men and women, too, that cannot even bear to think of those vows, much less to hear them over again, especially when they were made without reflection.

AN Associated Press reporter flying through the clouds above New Jersey yesterday, talked by trans-Atlantic wireless telephone to Miss Dalrymple, of the Associated Press staff in London.

That's an improvement on old days when Bogart was city editor, Clark, night editor, and Charles A. Dana boss editor of the New York Sun and the Pennsylvania ferry house burned down across the river from Cortland street.

A SUN reporter had to cross by ferry to Hoboken, run all the way to the Pennsylvania ferry in Jersey City to get the facts, and run all the way back to Hoboken. No taxis, no electric street cars, no telephones or wireless.

Different, also, was the day when S. S. Carvalho, a young Sun reporter, went out to find a big Negro murderer, found him, cornered and covered him with a gun in a Long Island church, and had to walk him several miles to a lockup.

Reporting is easier in these days.

THE President seeks eight "big men" to put on the farm board.

The big eight and the Secretary of the Treasury will administer funds for farm relief, spending the people's money as intelligently as they know how.

HOW can you tell "a big man" when you see him, and how can you be sure that your big man understands farm problems?

It would be interesting to put the eight big men, after they are chosen, in charge of some typical American farm to see what they would make of it.

The important thing for the British, who are accustomed to being beaten by Helen Wills, is the fact that she wore stockings. She does not usually wear them.

The British dislike the idea of bare legs at Wimbledon, possibly because the King and Queen Mary often attend the games, and they are old-fashioned.

ORGANIZED labor, with Ramsay MacDonald ruling, took charge of the British Empire in the House of Commons yesterday.

Lacking a clear majority, MacDonald can be defeated at any time by Lloyd George and his Liberals uniting with the Tories, or the Tories with the Liberals.

The British wait to see what good reason or pretext will bring Liberalism and Toryism together against Labor.

THE first, and a most important announcement, says MacDonald proposes to recognize the Russian Government and do business with Russia.

That will please a good many Tories that believe in doing business, as Lord Beaverbrook puts it, "even with cannibals."

WAR develops heroism, heavy debts and other things.

In Paris, Dr. Gaston Prieur, and five assistants are sent to jail for a new crime.

They inflicted upon patients wounds that left conspicuous scars looking like war wounds, thus, for a cash consideration, enabling the patients to collect damages from the French Government. A police drive against such wound producing doctors, has eliminated the evil.

THE President signs the Boulder Canyon Dam bill.

And now, perhaps, the able engineer elected President, will be able to do what he wants to do, some able engineering.

IN any case it is pleasant to hear from Washington about something besides prohibition and the advisability of shooting or not shooting those that may or may not have liquor in their automobiles.

BRIDE WAITING, 200 IN CHURCH, FIANCE GONE

Homestead Wedding Called Off; Disappearance of Man Declared Mystery

Two hundred guests crowded into St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church in Homestead today for a wedding that didn't take place because the bridegroom failed to appear.

For an hour Mary Jane Creeden waited, hoping against hope that her childhood sweetheart, John Regis Stacer, would come dashing up the aisle, better late than never.

BRIDEGROOM VANISHED

At the Creeden Hotel the wedding breakfast for 125 guests—friends and out-of-town relatives of the couple—was undisturbed. The Creeden car that was to carry the newlyweds East on their honeymoon was returned to the garage.

At the bride's home, her mother, Mrs. Dennis Creeden, told of Regis' disappearance:

"Regis took the 5 o'clock train for Pittsburgh last night for a dress suit. He took along a suitcase of clothes that he was going to check so that his friends couldn't take it at the last moment as a joke.

"At 7 o'clock there was to be a rehearsal at the church and Regis didn't appear. We felt that possible his friends had held him back in a spirit of fun. We haven't seen him since."

HOPED ABSENCE A PRANK

The bride was hopeful that her sweetheart's absence was only a matter of hours and the prank of friends.

Stacer was employed by the Bell Telephone Company. They took out their marriage licenses yesterday. Stacer was 22, his fiancee 26, according to the license.

Born and reared in Homestead, Regis and Mary Jane were classmates at St. Mary's Parochial School. Later She studied art at Seton Hill Academy. Regis was graduated with the 1925 class from Homestead High School and the yearbook of that class said of him:

"I'll do what you ask with solicitou. care,
Just depe.d upon me—I will if I'm there."

MARY JANE CREEDEN

Miss Creeden, 26, daughter of a Homestead retired hotel man, was to have married John Regis Stacer, 23, today in a Homestead church, but the bridegroom-to-be failed to put in a shining appearance and after an hour everyone left the church.

JOHN REGIS STACER

"I'll do what you ask with solicitous care,
Just depend upon me—I will if I'm there."

WOMAN SHOOTS AT DIPLOMAT

BERLIN, June 26.—(INS.)—M. Rene Binet, French consul at Berlin, narrowly escaped death today at the hands of a woman, believed to be demented, who fired two shots at the diplomat in his office here.

The woman was Agethe Makaroff, a Lithuanian, who claimed to have lost a leg as the result of an accident in Paris. She demanded compensation from Binet as the representative of France, and when he refused, she leveled a pistol at him and fired twice.

A janitor who was in the room at the time saved Binet's life by seizing the woman's arm and diverting her aim. The woman, who had just arrived in Berlin from Paris, was placed under arrest.

River Washes Away 40 Acres of Land

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., June 26.—(AP.)—More than 40 acres of valuable land owned by William Tyson, north of Council Bluffs, has been washed away within the past month by the Missouri River, which is now less than 25 feet from the Tyson farm house. The house once stood 900 feet from the stream.

PAY-OFF MAN IN KILLING HUNTED

NEW YORK, June 26.—(INS.)—While two detectives were speeding to Boston to locate the sender of an alleged payoff draft for the murder of Frankie Marlow, who invested the lights and shadows of Broadway's night life, five material witnesses were held in $50,000 bail apiece in connection with the slaying.

An amount, variously reported from $3,500 to $35,000 was transmitted from Boston to New York after Marlow was found dead with three bullets in his head in a clump of bushes in Flushing, Long Island.

The draft, in the hands of New York police, is believed to have been sent by the man responsible for the murder of Marlow.

THEY BET—AND LOST

Those held were members of a racetrack party who bet and lost on a "hot tip" provided by Marlow on the day he met his death.

GIRLS FIGURE IN CASE

Out of the mystery shrouding the murder of Frank Marlow, the Broadway racketeer, there emerges an astonishing array of girls involved in the slain man's career. He was married and the father of two children, but before the widow claimed the body these things happened:

1. Betty Farley and MyrtleBurke, night club entertainers in New York, were taken into custody by detectives as important witnesses last night, detained for questioning, and released

Endurance Fliers Pass 76th Hour

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 26.—(INS.)—Owen I. Haugland and Charles Johnson, co-pilots of the Miss Minneapolis, seeking to establish a new endurance record in the air, passed their seventy-sixth hour of continuous flying today.

The plane was on its seventy-second lap over its course between Minneapolis, Northfield and Hastings and had covered a distance of 5,760 miles. The fliers have established a new record for sustained distance flying, the previous official total having been 3,200 miles.

Sea-Flying Stowaway Returns—'Dressed Up'

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP.)—The stowaway of the Yellow Bird, Arthur Schreiber, of Portland, Me., returned to America aboard the Leviathan today—first-class—attired in extreme cut French clothes, but with little to say about himself or his uninvited trip.

He was met at Quarantine by his father, Morris Schreiber, a Portland fur worker, with whom he exchanged affectionate greetings, and then he posed, with his father and by himself, for several photographs.

All he wished now, he said, was to get back home and see his mother.

He became angry when questioned regarding reports he had compared himself with Lindberg and his landing in France.

"There is no precedent for what I did," he said, "and there is no way to tell now what I shall do with my experience."

The French clothes he wore were purchased for him by Armeno Lotti, backer of the Yellow Bird flight and one of her crew of three that flew from Old Orchard, Me.

Schreiber started home from France in a second cabin, but was shifted to first class on the voyage. Money for his better passage was furnished by his father.

WESTINGHOUSE PICKS MERRICK PRESIDENT

Electric Concern to Have Main Office in Pittsburgh; Herr Made Vice Chairman

NEW YORK, June 26.—F. A. Merrick, of Pittsburgh, an executive well known in the electrical industry, was elected president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company by the board of directors of the company at a meeting here today.

In announcing the election of Mr. Merrick, A. W. Robertson, chairman, said the board of directors, while accepting the resignation of E. M. Herr, president since 1911, in order that he might go on an extended vacation, had elected Mr. Herr vice-chairman.

HEADQUARTERS HERE

Mr. Merrick will continue to make his headquarters at Pittsburgh. It is understood that the executive control of the company will pass from New York to Pittsburgh as a result of the election of two men of the latter city to the highest positions in the organization. A. W. Robertson, formerly president of the Philadelphia Company, has been spending most of his time in Pittsburgh since his election to the chairmanship of Westinghouse.

Mr. Merrick advances into the position of president from the position of vice-president and general manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

He is a native of New Jersey and received his technical education at Lehigh University.

HELD POST IN CANADA

Shortly after his graduation he was employed by the Steel Motors Company, a subsidiary of the Lorain Steel Company, where he was responsible for many important electrical inventions and where he held the position of manager and chief engineer.

In the acquisition of the Steel Motors Company, by the Westinghouse Company, Mr. Merrick entered the Westinghouse organization. He was immediately selected to prepare plans for a plant in Canada and upon the formation of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Ltd., in 1903, was sent to the Dominion as superintendent of the company.

In this position his ability for organization quickly was recognized. In turn he became manager of works and later vice president and general manager of Canadian Westinghouse Company, Ltd.

WAR ORGANIZER

In the World War Mr. Merrick was assigned to organize the operations of the New England Westinghouse Company, in Chicopee Falls,

74 MUNICIPAL UNITS VETO PROJECT

32 Boroughs, 39 Townships And 3 Cities Fail to Give Two-Thirds Majority

Supporters of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan charter, defeated at yesterday's special election, have made no plans for the future.

They agreed, however, that the fight for the Metropolitan district will be continued.

Legally, the charter could be submitted again at the September primary or the general election in November. It is regarded as unlikely that such a move will be made.

Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the Metropolitan commission, would not discuss the election this afternoon. He stated he had not taken up plans for a continuance of the campaign.

WINS POPULAR MAJORITY

Although defeated, the charter received a majority of approximately 46,000 votes in Allegheny County, unofficial returns show.

It received the necessary two-thirds majority in only 49 municipalities and failed to get it in 74 others.

To have been approved it would have been necessary for the charter to get a two-thirds majority in 62 municipalities.

This requirement caused its defeat.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong today commented on the failure of the charter to pass.

"I believe the charter made a very respectable showing at yesterday's election," Commissioner Armstrong said. "The vote showed that a great many of the people of Allegheny County are in favor of a Metropolitan plan.'

Pittsburgh gave the proposal about 43,000 majority. McKeesport, home of Senator W. D. Mansfield, who led the opposition, swamped it, 7,125 to 584. Both Clairton and Duquesne gave majorities against it.

It received the needed 2 to 1 vote in Pittsburgh, 33 boroughs and 14 townships, a total of 48 municipalities.

It did not get it in the other three cities, 32 boroughs and 38 townships.

TWO-THIRDS HANDICAP

The fatal effect of the two-thirds provision is strikingly illustrated by the fact that the charter received a majority in at least 76 municipalities. Fifteen boroughs and 18 townships, though not giving the needed two-thirds, gave the charter a majority.

The unofficial vote in all but four of the county's 1,436 precincts was:

| | Yes. | No. |
|---|---|---|
| Pittsburgh | 49,227 | 6,933 |
| Clairton | 538 | 715 |
| Duquesne | 627 | 754 |
| McKeesport | 584 | 7,126 |
| Boroughs | 24,375 | 15,219 |
| Townships | 10,701 | 8,967 |
| Total | 86,052 | 39,714 |

The missing districts include 224 in Pittsburgh, all favorable.

Every Pittsburgh ward gave the charter much better than a two-to-one vote.

In spite of the intensive campaigning and the importance of the question, the vote was very light. Unofficial returns indicate that it was about 125,000. The bulk of

$1,600,000 Blaze Sweeps Stockholm

2 HANG AUTO ON CLIFF; JAILED

Two men were arrested early today and charged with drunkenness when Oakland police, responding to a call in Miami street, found an automobile hanging on the side of the hill, held only by one of the rear wheels, which was caught in some brush. The prisoners said they were N. P. Daugherty, 1314 Arkansas avenue, Dormont, and Rols T. McKee, of 640 Shady drive, Mt. Lebanon. Police said the car was owned by McKee.

Wagonmen Ernest Coberly and George Linder attached a rope to the automobile and, using the patrol wagon as a tow, pulled it back to the street. The men were found wandering about in the vicinity and were arrested.

GRIMES HURT, KREMER HURLS

Burleigh Grimes, veteran right-hander of the Pirates, who was scheduled to oppose the Reds in the opening battle of a fi-game series at Forbes Field this afternoon, reported to Manager Donie Bush with an injured hip and it was decided at the last minute to start Ray Kremer on the mound against the visitors.

Grimes has won 11 games and was eager to score his twelfth victory this afternoon to enable him to tie Bob Graves, of the Athletics, for the lead in the major leagues.

Anti-Smith Faction, Republicans to Unite

RICHMOND, Va., June 26.—(INS.)—The alliance between the Anti-Smith Democrats and the Republicans of Virginia will be formally sealed here tonight, insuring a hot fight for the governorship this year. The Republicans will nominate for the governorship, Prof. William Mosely Brown, who was previously nominated by the Anti-Smith Democratic bolters at their Roanoke meeting. Tonight's convention also will ratify the nomination of C. C. Berkley, of Newport News, for attorney general, also named by the Democrats at Roanoke.

Suspect Denies Blame As Boy Disappears

William Valentine, 56, of Anderson street, emphatically denied in Morals Court today that he was implicated in the disappearance of Harry Krist, 5, of rear 209 Anderson street, North Side, missing since Monday.

"I saw the boy playing outside his home when I passed, and that's all," Valentine defended.

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg held him for investigation.

The boy was without hat, shoes or stockings when he disappeared. His mother told the Bureau of Missing Persons that she believes her son has met with foul play.

The Valentines live near the Allegheny River and police, after investigating the case, expressed the theory that the boy wandered to the river, fell in and was drowned.

HOUSEWIVES' REVOLT PRESAGES SUGAR TARIFF REVISION

OPPOSITION NOTED BY HOOVER

President Has Sliding Scale Under Consideration as Scale Is Attacked

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Taking cognizance of the "housewife rebellion" against high sugar tariffs, the Hoover administration now has under consideration a new "sliding scale" of tariff rates on sugar, described as fair to the consumer and yet adequate to protect the domestic sugar industry.

With President Hoover reported as favoring a revision of the high rate of $3 a hundred pounds adopted by the House, Senator Reed Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, has prepared a tentative schedule of "adjustable" rates, which he will submit to the Senate Finance Committee later in the week. While declining to give details of his new scale, Smoot announced its lowest rate would be $1 a hundred pounds and its highest rate the House figure of $3.

HOOVER O. K. SOUGHT

The President probably will be asked to approve the new schedule before Smoot submits it to the committee, of which he is chairman. Its adoption by the Senate will be a foregone conclusion if the President and Smoot agree upon the proposed schedule. The adoption of a dollar rate, under any circumstances, would be the lowest tariff on sugar within the memory of tariff experts.

In the Smoot schedule, the dollar rate would apply only when sugar is selling high on the American market, while the high $3 rate would ... ar prices here ... ool schedule, ... played a large ... Republican ranks, was aired at hearings on the House tariff bill before three Senate finance sub-committees.

Sheep and goat raisers of Texas, mill workers of New Jersey, and woolen manufacturers pleaded for higher rates than the House increases proposed on wool and woolen goods, while others held the bill duties outrageous.

OTHER HEARINGS

Two other subcommittees added hundreds of pages of testimony to the record on glassware and sundry articles.

Meanwhile, President Hoover exercised his authority under the flexible tariff provisions and proclaimed a rate of 3.7 cents a pound on linseed or flaxseed oil as against the present 3.3 cents duty. This would compensate for the recently proclaimed increase from 40 to 56 cents a bushel in the duty on flaxseed.

The House bill would increase the flaxseed oil rate to 4.16 cents and that on flaxseed to 63 cents. Western farm representatives are seeking from 70 to 84 cents on flaxseed.

PEPPER URGES BAR NET BE TIGHTENED

Ex-Senator Asks Closer Restrictions for Admission; Assails Long Vacations

By HOWARD CASSIDY.
Staff Correspondent.

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., June 26.—Tighter restrictions for admission to the bar and more severe educational requirements for candidates were advocated today by former United States Senator George Wharton Pepper, retiring president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, in opening the thirty-fifth annual convention here.

At least a year should elapse before a graduate of a law school could take the bar examinations, the additional year to be devoted to specialized education, and even after admission to the bar advanced instruction should be provided for, Pepper declared.

ATTACKS VACATIONS

He assailed the "ridiculous long allowances for vacations," particularly in primary schools, "which means that the school work of instruction occupies less than eight months of the year," in urging more intensive education generally.

Many of the judges of the state, who concluded yesterday their second annual judicial conference by setting a precedent in American judiciary through a permanent organization for legal reform, remained to attend the bar conference. Pittsburgh jurists named on judges committees were Judges Richard W. Martin and Elder W. Marshall.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Among presentation of reports by various committees, Attorney George W. Alter, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the committee on civil law, recommended that a clear expression be obtained from the Legislature as to the powers of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to make rules governing practice and procedure for all the state courts. He questioned the breadth of this power in his study of the growing assumption of judicial prerogatives in promulgating rules, as distinguished from legislative grants. Broader powers for the judiciary are advocated by the bar here, in conjunction with the general movement in the country. A bill framed by the committee was presented to the conference. The report also recommends abolition of the ancient action of detinue, similar to the existing action of replevin, and the old action of account render, which has a counterpart in an equitable action of account.

Married less than a year, Priscilla, star of the films, and Lieut. Leslie Arnold, star of the air, learned that the first Mrs. Arnold, Greton, Conn., had obtained a Georgia court order declaring void the divorce given Arnold. "To avoid legal entanglements," Priscilla and her flier-husband are going to be companionate and he'll live in a nearby Los Angeles hotel.

CANADA RUM TRADE CUT BY DRIVE

Over 50 Boats to Battle Smugglers Who Scatter Bases to Baffle Pursuit

WINDSOR, Ontario, June 26. — (Canadian Press.) — Canadian customs returns for the current month should show a significant drop in the exports of liquor from the Essex border docks, according to reports of the United States authorities.

Imports at the one-time notorious liquor receiving depot of Ecorse have been cut to a fraction, according to customs patrols, while the occasional rum boat on the American side of the Detroit River is more or less of an oddity these nights, they say.

INCREASE FORCE

Considerable liquor, however, is getting through below Ecorse on the Trenton front. The rum boats are shooting out from Amherstburg into the lake and there are not government boats in adequate numbers to stem the tide.

But this situation is to be remedied as speedily as possible, according to the plans of the prohibition enforcement agencies. More than 50 boats of all descriptions are to be in service by July 1, it was reported, ranging in type from launches for use in shallow channels to the 70-foot speed boats, carrying one-pound guns and useful for long chases.

The new rum chasing fleet is to be directed by radio from a secret headquarters downriver, it said. Reports are to be submitted at regular intervals, day and night, from both American and Canadian sides of the Detroit River, and the government boats can get under way in pursuit of suspected craft as alarms are broadcast.

800 MEN ON BOATS

The strength of the "dry" navy after July 1 is to be: Fourteen of the coast guard 75-foot cruisers, 14 of the customs border patrol boats, eight coast guard boats, eight coast guard boats of the 42-foot class and 17 coast guard boats of the 20 and 36-foot caliber, a total of 53.

It is understood that the personnel of the three departments cooperating in the anti-smuggling drive is to comprise nearly 800 officers and men.

The coast guard reported last night it had seized an Amherstburg rum runner on a small boat with 15 cases of whisky.

RIVER BODY IDENTIFIED

An item published in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday resulted in the identification of the body of Anthony Rosek, 55, who disappeared from his home, 3027 Mulberry way, April 4, and yesterday was taken from the Allegheny River at Ninth street and Duquesne way. The identification was made at the morgue by Mrs. Mary Rosek, who had read the news item and at once suspected the body was that of her husband. She said that he had been in ill health and had undergone an operation a short time before his disappearance.

DAWES DECLINES KNEE BREECHES

LONDON, June 26.—(AP.)—Ambassador Dawes will abandon the example set him by certain of his predecessors and will not wear silk knee breeches and patent leather shoes with silver buckles at his presentation to Queen Mary in the third St. James' Court tonight.

Instead the American, a former general sometimes called affectionately "Hell 'n Maria" Dawes, will wear plain swallow tail evening dress. Both former ambassadors, George Harvey and Alanson Houghton, donned knee breeches for court functions.

No reason was assigned by the sources revealing the former Vice President's intention, which was in defiance of the convention laid down by the lord chamberlain's office.

The ambassador and his wife met both Queen Mary and King George when Gen. Dawes presented his credentials recently, and tonight's attendance at the court will be merely in compliance with formality.

Mrs. Dawes will first be presented to Queen Mary, Senora de Merry Del Val, wife of the Spanish ambassador and Doyen of the London diplomatic corps, acting as her sponsor. She will then turn sponsor herself and introduce eight American debutantes and young matrons to Queen Mary. These will be Misses Frances M. Barclay, of New York; Rosemary Baur, of Chicago; Dorothy Chase, of Waterbury, Conn.; Natalie Coe, of New York; Paulino Fenno, of Boston; Lillian Sanger, of New York, and Mistresses Edward F. Hutton and Aymar Johnson, of New York.

Mrs. Dawes will wear a white and silver gown with a long silver train to one court and a black and white gown with a silver train to the other.

Gen. Dawes today received the honorary degree of doctor of civil law from Oxford University.

Dawes, Wales Start Pipe Fad At Dinner

LONDON, June 26.—(INS.)—After-dinner pipes at London banquets are expected to be the rage from now on, as the result of the example set last night by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Great Britain, and the Prince of Wales.

After coffee at the dinner of the Empire Service League, Gen. Dawes produced his pipe and tobacco and asked the Prince if he objected to his making use of them. The Prince responded by withdrawing his own pipe from a pocket of his evening coat, and filling it from the ambassador's pouch.

In a moment almost every man in the banquet hall had a pipe between his teeth.

Both Ambassador Dawes and the Prince spoke, stressing friendly Anglo-American relations and paying tribute to the veterans of the war.

NAVAL PLANS NEWS EXPECTED

LONDON, June 26.—(AP.)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald last night made known that he hoped before many days it would be possible to make definite announcement of how naval disarmament negotiations were to be conducted, where a conference would be held and the precise objects of that conference.

He was speaking at a Labor reception held at the Friends meeting house in Euston road. At the same time he disclosed that he had had a second conversation with Gen. Charles G. Dawes, new American ambassador to Great Britain, and had seen Hugh S. Gibson, United States Ambassador to Belgium, who arrived in London to assist Gen. Dawes in finding solution to what has been termed the outstanding issue between the two English-speaking peoples.

That negotiations would make such rapid progress had hardly been expected on the English side. Gen. Dawes appropriately allowed the first announcement of the progress of the conversations to come from the British premier. The ambassador himself in speaking at a public function referred only generally to peace among nations.

Mr. MacDonald, while very brief, was extremely hopeful, after referring to the great political victory Labor had won and the general position of his government, remarking that there would be no miracles and no magic but a sincere determination and courage to face public questions. He plunged immediately into his revelation.

ASK PADLOCKS ON 11 PLACES

Eleven preliminary padlock injunctions were granted by Judge Nelson McVicar against saloons, stores and clubs in Federal Court today, pending final hearing of the cases. The defendants named in the suits are alleged proprietors and owners of properties.

The injunctions are against Lawrence Schirra, saloon, 2000 Arlington avenue; Charles Evans, restaurant, 501 Ormsby street; Jake Lafaber, restaurant, 301 East Carson street; Martin Szymczak, saloon, South Twenty-sixth and Sarah streets; Santino Pasulnella, restaurant, 606 Wylie avenue; Mary Markowski, club rooms, 6346 Penn avenue; William Hoyle, store-drinking room in rear, 1409 Wylie avenue; Fletch McIntyre, saloon and club, 1310 Loraine street; Joseph J. Shortt, club, 6111 Station street; Hipolit Paul Szutowiocz, saloon and drinking room in rear, 1856 Main street, Sharpsburg, and I. Kulpa, saloon and store, 12 North Main street, Sharpsburg.

DOCTOR'S WIFE GETS ALIMONY

Mrs. Marie Louise Boyd, 19, of 605 Lockhart street, North Side, whose "December and May" marriage to Dr. Isaac Newton Boyd, 71, 71 Know avenue, lasted less than a year, today obtained an order from Judge Elder W. Marshall in Common Pleas Court granting her $45 a month alimony and $50 counsel fee.

In a petition filed by Attorney William J. Grant, it was stated that Dr. Boyd had a large practice, yielding him a monthly income of $1,000 and upwards. The petition also averred that his wife was in ill-health and unable to support herself and retain counsel. It was filed in answer to Dr. Boyd's suit for divorce.

5 NATIONS COMB SEA FOR FLIERS

HORTA, Island of Fayal, the Azores, June 26.—(AP.)—The Spanish trans-Atlantic airplane which left Cartagena on Friday for New York by way of the Azores still was missing today as numerous ships and planes representing five nations scoured the sea for them.

Two planes were reported to have left Melilla yesterday by way of Huelva and Lisbon and to have taken off from Lisbon this morning.

Several Spanish destroyers and Portuguese vessels have been searching unsuccessfully, and a fast steamer has sailed from Cadez to take part in the search.

The Italian ships Bari and Pantera also are actively searching while the British airplane carrier Eagle, en route from England to Gibraltar, has been diverted to aid.

2 CAR WRECKS MAR HOLIDAY

A Frankstown avenue car, in charge of Motorman Patrick Donohue, split a switch at Lang avenue, dragging a trailer part way across Lang avenue, police reported. Special cars carrying picnickers were delayed for nearly half an hour.

Another car loaded with lunch baskets split a switch at Fifth avenue extension and Hamilton avenue, hurling many of the baskets to the floor. All were placed on another car and taken to the park.

Two Oakmont-Verona cars collided in the fog near the Verona line this morning, according to a police report. Ten passengers in the two cars were shaken up and several windows shattered.

IOWA HAS WAR ON NEAR BEER

DES MOINES, Ia., June 26.—(AP.)—A one-man crusade against the sale in Iowa of near beer was under full steam today, with John B. Hammond, former chief of police, furnishing the power.

The 150,000 bottles of the beverage which were seized several days ago under a search warrant obtained by Hammond, were the subject of a municipal court hearing today. It is Hammond's contention that the near beer, being a malt beverage, comes under the intoxicating liquor restriction of the state prohibition law.

Letters have been mailed by Hammond to all railroad companies operating in Iowa warning them that legal steps would be taken to prevent near beer shipments into the state and that "no quarter" would be shown.

Three carloads of the beverage were unloaded in Boone, Ia., yesterday without interference.

Hammond is not at present connected with any law enforcement agency. He recently was legislative director of the New York Civic League.

Uchida Quits as Japan Signs Pact

LONDON, June 26.—(INS.)—Count Uchida, Japanese signatory to the Kellogg pact, resigned as privy councillor today, according to an Exchange Telegraph message from Tokio.

Count Uchida's resignation, which was entirely unexpected, was prompted by a conflict with other members of the privy council. Dispatches stated Uchida resented the action of the privy council in attaching an interpretative declaration to the phrase "in the names of the respective peoples" in the Kellogg pact. The privy council attached a rider to the phrase, believed that it violated the constitutional prerogatives of the Emperor.

ERIE, Pa., June 26.—(AP.)—Attachments against the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch Circus appearing here are asked in four damage suits filed in Erie County Court. No statements of claims were filed. Three suits seek recovery for personal injury suffered three years ago when the main entrance of the circus was blown down in a storm and a Negro killed and several persons hurt. The other suit is for alleged damage to property through posting of circus advertising.

24 VOTE, METRO PLAN CARRIES

JOHN PAGAN — JAMES TRAPP

PAUL HIBALA — GUSTAV BLANKENBURG — GEORGE THEIN — CHARLES MINNEMEYER

The Aleppo Township election board, which sat for 12 hours to supervise the casting of 24 ballots, of which 16, the required two-thirds majority, favored the Metropolitan Charter. Although 200 have the balloting right, the vote was considered a record because rarely has the township ever reported more than 12 votes in a county election.

Husband Arrested, Finds He Has Two Wives

Harry Frederick, 35, of 1215 Reddour street, testified in Morals Court today that he unexpectedly discovered that he had two wives on his hands when he believed that he had been legally divorced.

Frederick was arrested on a morality charge preferred against him by Mrs. Virginia Frederick, of 952 Behan street, who testified before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg that she married in Wheeling in 1921 and had separated from Frederick the following year, but had not applied for a divorce.

"That all perplexes me," testified Frederick. "I went out West when we separated and friends here wrote me that my wife had secured a divorce. I came back in 1928 and since my wife made no demands on me, I took it for granted I was free."

It was brought out that he married wife No. 2, Mrs. Mary Frederick, in Butler in 1928. Wife No. 1 said that she had made the charge against her husband preparatory to suing for a divorce. Inasmuch as the first marriage had taken place in Wheeling and the second in Butler, Magistrate Rothenberg said a charge of bigamy could not be made against Frederick in this county.

Chefs Say Smokes At Meals "Spoil Their Work"

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP.)—The Chefs' D'Cuisine Association of Chicago is all hot and bothered over the "American habit of smoking cigarets during meals."

In a resolution copies of which were sent to all associations of chefs in the United States, the cooks spoke of the habit as a practice which "renders the diner incapable of appreciating good culinary workmanship."

Queen Mary Given 'Lift' When Own Car Stalls

LONDON, June 26.—(AP.)—Queen Mary had the unusual experience of being given a lift home by a passing motorist when the royal automobile broke down this afternoon in the shopping district near Oxford street.

Her majesty was on her way to Buckingham Palace from an early afternoon's shopping when it was found that the starter of her car was jammed and could not readily be fixed.

C. A. Harrison noticed the Queen's plight and immediately offered her the use of his car.

"Her majesty had been recognized and a crowd was beginning to collect," said Harrison.

"My car was very dusty and I apologized for that, but the Queen said it was all right and stepped into the car with her lady-in-waiting.

"We had no chauffeur in livery, but the Queen made light of that, too, and I took the wheel myself and drove her majesty back to the palace."

LINDY HANDLES 'CHUTES—ONE FOR ANNE!

Preparing to take his bride to 'work' with him, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at Roosevelt Field personally attended to the detail of making ready his plane for an inspection tour of the transcontinental air route of which he is technical adviser. Here he carries two parachutes—one for Anne, one for himself.

LINDY, BRIDE REST IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., June 26.—(INS.)—Closeted in a palatial suite in a hotel here, and closely guarded against intrusion, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the world's most famous newly-weds, are enjoying a brief rest today preparatory to hopping off for Indianapolis this afternoon.

Colonel Lindbergh and his wife, the former Miss Anne Morrow, landed at Port Columbus here just as dusk was settling last night.

The colonel is making a final survey of the air-rail trans-continental route, of which Columbus is the eastern terminal, and is taking the trip in short hops, and in a leisurely manner. Mrs. Lindbergh occupies the rear seat in his two-passenger Falcon plane.

Caught Speeding, Girl Plays Politics

EVANSTON, Ill., June 26.—(AP.)—When 16-year-old Belle Korshak was brought before Police Chief Freeman for speeding she wanted to know, first off, if the chief was a Democrat or a Republican.

"What difference can it possibly make?" inquired the police officer.

"Well," said Miss Korshak, "My daddy's a master in chancery and a Democrat. If you happen to be a Democrat you might be lenient."

The chief happened to be a Republican, but he said he would forgive her anyway.

Which impressed Miss Korshak as being quite sporting.

'NEXT WAR' NOT FOR KIWANIS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 25.—(AP.)—Deploring what they say is the practice of many public men of various countries to talk about "the next great war," a group of Canadian delegates to the thirtieth annual convention of Kiwanis International will offer a resolution of condemnation.

The resolution is to be introduced by Harold M. Diggon, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Dominion of Canada, and says in part that, "Whereas the peoples of the English-speaking nations, as well as those belonging to the other civilized nations of the world, are overwhelmingly opposed to war and in favor of peaceful settlement of all international disputes, be it resolved we deplore the practice of many public men to give utterance to what they term 'the next great war' and that Kiwanis clubs everywhere be exhorted to voice their disapproval and condemnation of the aforesaid pernicious practices."

Dr. C. C. Tatham, Edmonton, Alberta, urged Kiwanians to give personal attention to the problem of the underprivileged child.

"What we desire," he said, "is personal, and not mere checkbook, service."

Horace McDavid, of Decatur, Ill., is the leading candidate for president and is not expected to have serious opposition.

PAPER OWNERS IN BATTLE

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 26.—(AP.)—Harold Hall got a court order here directing his partner, William Lavarre, to show cause why Lavarre should not be enjoined from taking away from Hall operating control of the Augusta Chronicle, Columbia (S. C.) Record, Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald and Spartanburg (S. Co.) Journal, which they own jointly.

The order was made returnable next Tuesday before Judge A. L. Franklin, of the Richmond County Superior Court, and Thomas J. Hamilton, editor of the Chronicle, appointed temporary receiver of all physical stock and money unaccounted for.

ASKS STOCK CONTROL

Hall asked that the partnership be dissolved, that he be given control of his stock, that the stock standing in Lavarre's name be delivered to the court, and that a stockholders' meeting of the Augusta Chronicle be enjoined. He also requested that Lavarre be enjoined from disposing of $129,900 which he said was transferred from a trust fund to Lavarre's account.

His petition alleged that Lavarre was undertaking the executive management of the four papers independent of him.

Hall charged that unfavorable publicity resulting from the loan made them by the International Paper Company was assigned as a reason for the failure of Lavarre to deliver his stock to the paper company.

ACCUSED ON FUND USE

Another charge was that Lavarre has received $400,000 from the International Paper Company for purchasing the stock of the Herald-Journal Company at Spartanburg, S. C., and for paying the debts of that company. Hall alleged that money was not being used as was agreed.

Judge Franklin granted a temporary injunction.

Lavarre intimated that he may have something to say later.

Bogus Check Man Picked Up in Texas

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 26.—J. Frank Gilmer, known bp several aliases, wanted here for obtaining approximately $8,000 on bogus checks has been arrested in Austin, Texas, according to word received here today. The authorities were informed that Gilmer would be turned over to the Department of Justice.

Gilmer fled a year ago after he had posed as a landscape artist.

DEBT WORRIES STIR FRANCE

PARIS, June 26.—(AP.)—Premier Poincare recommended ratification of the Franco-British debt settlement established by Finance Minister Caillaux and Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill, in the Chamber of Deputies with what the deputies considered greater enthusiasm than he had shown in accomplishing a similar duty for the Mellon-Berenger accord.

The Premier explained that although neither the American nor the British debt settlements contained clauses in the event of Germany's defaulting on reparations payments to France, the British settlement carried as an annex a letter from Mr. Churchill to M. Caillaux which showed the entire good will of the British government to reach an equitable solution, should such a situation occur.

The Premier intimated that the debt accord with Britain needed less study and discussion than that with America.

OUSTED CHURCH APPEALS BAN

RIVER FOREST, Ill., June 26.—(AP.)—An appeal from the congregation of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Omaha, Neb., recently suspended by the Nebraska district for continued practice of allowing members of secret fraternal organizations to partake of communion, will be considered by the thirty-fourth triennial convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Missouri Synod.

The synod, of which the Nebraska district is a member, reaffirmed its traditional stand against permitting members of secret societies to be communicant members of the church for any length of time.

It was the unanimous opinion of the Nebraska district that the Omaha church, of which the Rev. F. W. Seesko is pastor, exceeded the time that individual lodge members, newly-converted to the church or its principles, could be allowed communion, it was learned.

U.S. SCHOOL DRY DRIVE DENIED

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(INS.)—The government has no intention of carrying on a propaganda campaign through the public schools to promote prohibition enforcement, Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran declared.

"The fact that but $50,000 is available makes it apparent to anyone that the Federal government is not in a position to carry on propaganda in the public school system, but is only in a position to furnish documentary statements on the workings of the prohibition law," Doran said.

"In fact, the amount intended for this purpose will not exceed the insignificant sum of a few hundred dollars."

Doran's statement followed a conference in which he participated with Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, Assistant Secretary Seymour Lowman, in charge of prohibition, and Deputy Commissioner O. D. Jackson.

Other officers elected are: Vice president, Peter Gletz, of McKees Rocks; secretary, Joseph Pock, of McKees Rocks; financial secretary, Frank Flanhofer, of McKees Rocks, and treasurer, Andrew Hedwig, of Beaver Falls. The next annual convention will be held in McKees Rocks.

Parochial School Dedication July 28

FARRELL, Pa., June 26.—The dedication of St. Anne's Parochial School has been set for Sunday, July 28, 10 years after the dedication of the church. Dr. John Mark Gannon, Bishop of Erie, will be present. The Rev. Simon Miskovcic is pastor of the parish.

Soviet Girls, Barred From Army, Still Training

MOSCOW, June 26.—(INS.)—Communist girls whose feelings were hurt by the recent decision of military chiefs to take no more women into the regular army are getting consolation out of the announcement that summer training camps for girls will be continued this year.

The camps will given women an opportunity to learn every art of warfare taught men. There will be the same rugged life, rifle practice and sham battles.

Young Communist girls insist on wearing khaki jackets with Sam Brown belts and short khaki skirts. Most of them shun feminine clothes even on Sundays.

The girl hesitated.

"Yes," she answered after a while, "but we must be ready."

"Ready for what?"

"Why, for the imperialist war," she retorted with a contemptuous look. "We must be ready at a moment's notice. When the capitalists advance against us, we won't have to run home to change our clothes. We'll dash to headquarters, grab our rifles and be ready to fight!"

BRITAIN TO DEAL WITH RUSSIA

LONDON, June 26.—(AP.)—One of the first acts of the new Labor government has been to cable the announcement to all the dominion governments of the British Empire that Great Britain intends to resume diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia in the near future.

Official confirmation of earlier reports to this effect was made last night.

Political observers believe the Labor ministry's move will receive sufficient support from conservative and liberal members of Parliament to assure approval of British diplomatic relations with Moscow.

It has been known that the Labor party was in favor of renewing the dislomatic and trade relations with Russia broken off by the raid on Arcos House, London headquarters of the Russian commercial mission, made by the late conservative government in May, 1927.

Although his majesty's government is not technically dependent on approval of its new Russian policy by the dominions, the co-operation of other parts of the British Empire is ardently desired by London.

Well-informed persons think that resumption of relations with Russia will be proposed in the King's speech from the throne July 2, which will announce the program of the government.

Borah Lauds Russ Plan of MacDonald

WASHINGTON, June 26.—News dispatches from London that the new labor government of Great Britain intends to resume diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia in the near future, were hailed by Senator Borah, (Rep.) of Idaho, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, as a courageous step on the part of Premier MacDonald. The state department was without any official word of the British action and had no comment to offer concerning the Press reports.

Find Man Kidnaped, Killed Month Ago

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP.)—Police believe they have found the body of the man who a month ago was kidnaped from a taxicab at the point of a gun and whose last words before he was carried away were: "Ernie, please don't shoot." The body was found in a strawberry patch near Crete, Ill., last night.

The body answered the description of the kidnaped man. The "Ernie," police believe, may be Ernie Rossi, aligned with the Al Capone forces.

Fined for Milk Theft; Milked Wrong Cow

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 26.—Clark Conners, farmer of Scott Ridge, was fined $25 and costs by Squire W. C. Clayton, following his conviction of stealing three and one-half gallons of milk from Walter Clark, a neighboring farmer.

HAWKES' FLIGHT WEST DELAYED

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 26.—(INS.)—Frank M. Hawkes, who completed a nonstop flight from East St. Louis to Roosevelt Field late yesterday in six and one-half hours in a Lockheed air express plane, plans to take off at 4 a. m. tomorrow on a non-stop trans-continental flight to Los Angeles, and then to make the return trip here again.

His plane is the Texaco No. 5, the same with which he established the present West to East transcontinental record of 18 hours 22 minutes last February. He is accompanied by Peter Clausen, his mechanic.

Hawkes had planned to take off for the West coast this morning, but a radio set must be installed and repairs are necessary to the leaky gasoline tanks on the ship. Repairs were being made today.

Dawes Applauded By British Vets

LONDON, June 26.—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes struck deep into the hearts of the fighting men of Britain when, at the dinner of the British Empire Service League last night, he said chief instructions from from President Hoover were "to further the ideal of comradeship as opposed to force as the arbiter between nations."

The auditors roundly applauded and cheered the Ambassador's statement, which came as a response to the Prince of Wales' proposing the general's health.

Victims of Auto Wreck Improved

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 26.—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Specht, Waynesburg residents who were injured in a motor accident Sunday near Morgantown, were reported improved today. Both are suffering from severe internal injuries.

MRS. KNAPP TO OPEN SCHOOL

ALBANY, N. Y., June 26.—(INS.)—Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, former secretary of state, who was sentenced to 30 days in the Albany penitentiary last year for theft of state census funds, this fall will open a junior college for girls at Valatie, 20 miles south of Albany.

"Brightfields," a 54-acre estate owned by P. J. Callan, wealthy Albany realty broker, has been purchased by Mrs. Knapp with the aid of sympathetic friends. Mrs. Knapp refused to divulge the purchase price, but Callan paid $130,000 for the estate 30 years ago.

Mrs. Knapp said the prospectus for her college would be issued shortly. In addition to a general junior college course for girls, courses will be offered in music and home economics.

COUPLE FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

PARIS Ky., June 26.—(AP.)—W. P. Ryan, 40, and his wife, 29, were found shot dead in a room at the home of a relative in Bourbon County. From the position of the bodies it was believed Ryan killed his wife and committed suicide.

The couple recently had become estranged but efforts had been made to make up their differences. Ryan was said to have been drinking recently and it was said he had threatened to kill his wife. The bodies were brought to Paris for an inquest.

The Ryans were married about 13 years ago and had been living at Hillsboro, Fleming county, they had two children, James, 11, and Lillian, 9.

Irish Earl's Castle Destroyed by Fire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, June 26.—(AP.)—Glenarm Castle, the County Antrim, home of the MacDonnell family which has been associated with Northeastern Ulster for many centuries, was destroyed by fire during the night.

All that remained today of the historic pile, erected in 1636, was blackened walls and servants quarters. Valuable furniture and pictures were consumed. The Earl and Countess of Antrim, whose seat is at Glenarm, were not at home, being away on a London visit.

Cardinal Gasparri Visits Italian Envoy

VATICAN CITY, June 26.—(AP.)—Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, last night returned the visit of Count De Vecchi Di Val Cismon, the new Italian ambassador to the holy see, who became the first diplomatic representative from a king of united Italy to be received by the Pope.

Blythedale Miner Killed

Peter Chairi, 25, a coal miner of Blythedale, was killed today when he was hit by coal cars in the Ocean mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Smithdale.

Mathilde, Oser Welcomed Warmly by McCormick

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP.)—Mathilde McCormick Oser, with her Swiss riding-master husband, her two children, a Swiss nurse and a maid, returned to Chicago for the first time since her marriage.

On the station platform, waving excitedly as the train pulled in was her father, Harold McCormick.

McCormick hurried over to a car where he saw two youngsters, Anita, 4, and Peter Max, 2, waving back at him. It had been three years since he had seen his daughter.

Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Mathilde's mother who disapproved of the marriage, was not at the station.

Father and daughter emerged from the train sheds together, Max Oser close behind. Suddenly the harvester manufacturer turned, seized the arm of his mustached 50-year-old son-in-law, and pulled him forward.

"I am very happy to be in Chicago," Mathilde told reporters, speaking with a Swiss assent. "I have no plans. The children, Peter and Anita, yes, they speak some English. We will go to my father's home I cannot say any more because I have not planned more."

PAY-OFF MAN IN N. Y. KILLING HUNTED

after denying they were in Marlow's room the day he was shot.

GIRL BREAKS AT NEWS

2 Dolores Farris, star of "The New Moon" in London collapsed in her dressing room after declaring that Marlow was to marry her. A life insurance policy in favor of the dancing girl and a contract on her services for five years was found in Marlow's baggage.

3 Phyllis Briggs, a cabaret hostess in Boston, proclaimed herself the only sweetheart of the murdered racketeer, described their ardent love and told how Marlow lived in daily fear of his life from enemies.

4 "YVONNE," a plump and titian-haired girl, who was known as Mrs. Frank Marlow, lived at 186 Riverside drive, it was discovered last night.

SEEK QUICK SOLUTION

While these developments were taking place, Mayor Walker and Police Commissioner Whalen were exerting every energy to force an immediate solution of the mystery. They conferred in City Hall, after which the Commissioner assigned 50 detectives to the case, with instructions to keep at it until the slayer was seized.

Phyllis comes from Cleveland. The night club girls admitted that they had been employed at the Rendezvous when Marlow owned an interest in the club, which abuts on the Winter Garden at Broadway and Fiftieth street.

At 7:45 o'clock on Monday night, Marlow was standing between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets. Abruptly a big black sedan automobile rolled up to the curb and stopped directly in front of Marlow and two friends. Three men sat in the rear seat. A younger man was at the wheel. The door suddenly opened half way and a voice called:

"Hello, Frank."

WENT FOR RIDE

Startled in spite of his apparent anticipation, Marlow turned. What he saw could not be seen by the men he had been talking with, but it was enough to impel him to step into the car without a wave of the hand or even a word. The door clicked quickly behind him and simultaneously the chauffeur stepped on the accelerator and the big car rolled on. The watchers, astonished at the unceremonious departure of their friend, stared after the car bound downtown, and one remarked:

"Somebody must be in a hurry. You'd think some guy had a gun pressed against Frank's belly—he moved in so fast."

MARLOW BROKE

The man was broke, that's the truth of it. At the race track, bookmakers would accept bets only on a cash-with-order basis from him. He owed a lot of money there, and he had owed it long. Among the Broadway gambling crowd he was equally unwelcome, for many "markers" bearing his name were uncollectable.

Up to a few years ago, Marlow controlled the beer business of the underworld in the district stretching from Forty-second street to Harlem, one of the most lucrative areas. Out of the profits of this trade, he bought Jack Delaney from a rival manager, directed Johnny Wilson's destinies and otherwise became important in pugilism.

After trying other rackets, Marlow hooked up with a gang ruled by Frankie Yale, the Brooklyn gangster, who also was "taken for a ride" to the terminus of his criminal career.

After Yale's death, Marlow became an advisor to the Brooklyn organization. He borrowed $25,000 about six months ago from the money men of the gang to start in business for himself. Two months later, he borrowed $15,000 more. Instead of returning to business, he lost the money at the race tracks or spent it on Broadway girls.

DOLORES FARRIS

Dolores, star of the "New Moon," now playing at Drury Lane, London, collapsed and her part in today's matinee was played by an understudy. "He was the only man I ever loved," she said and told that soon they were to be married. An insurance policy benefits her.

BOGEAUS DENIES PLOT CHARGE

CHICAGO, June 26.—(INS.)—While he continued efforts to free his brother from jail, Benjamin E. Bogeaus, young millionaire husband of Ethelind Terry, former Ziegfeld "Rio Rita" beauty, w hfully defied authorities to prove their intimations that a $30,000 jewel robbery Monday was "a family affair."

Deputy Commissioner of Police John Stege was checking reports that the gems had been valued at only $11,000, although they were insured for $30,000.

"I am interested," said Stege, only in preventing a fraud against an insurance company."

Bogeaus was enraged over reports that his bride of six weeks did not know his family name until it was revealed to her by police, and that she was unaware that his brother, Morris Bogoslowski, had a record fo robbery and once was convicted of murder.

"My wife and I have a perfect understanding," he said "It was not I who changed my name. My parents changed it for me when I was 3 years old."

DIVORCEE DIES IN AUTO CRASH

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 26.—A woman was killed and four other persons were injured early today when their automobile left the Zelienople road in a dense fog and crashed into a pole.

Mrs. Beatrice H. Calhoun, 22, a divorcee, of 116 Adams street, Rochester, suffered a fractured skull and died in a few minutes.

The injured were Mrs. Hazel F. Romidh, 25, of 535 Adams street, Rochester, nose broken, cut and bruised; Lawrence Crudden, 25, of East Rochester, driver of the car, left leg broken; Edward Concelman, 24, of 337 Clay street, Rochester; Charles Anderson, 25, Rochester.

State highway police said charges would be preferred against Crudden. The party was returning from a "joy ride," police said.

Told Marlow Slain, Showgirl Collapses

LONDON, June 26.—(INS.)—Dolores Farriss, beautiful showgirl friend of Frank Marlow, murdered Broadway night club owner, remained under the care of a physician today following her collapse last night when informed of Marlow's death. Miss Farriss, playing a leading role in "The New Moon," a musical show, was unable to appear in today's matinee.

"I can't go on—poor old Frank's dead," Miss Farriss said when she learned of the murder. "He's the only man I ever loved."

JURISTS KEEP ORGANIZATION

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., June 26.—(AP.)—An organization which, in the belief of many, will have a far-reaching effect in the framing of future statutes in Pennsylvania, came into permanent being here yesterday when the State Judicial Conference was perpetuated by selection of an executive committee.

Called last year at the suggestion of the State Crime Commission to make recommendations designed to improve and modernize the criminal statutes, the conference broadened its scope by deciding to deal with practically every phase of administrative law.

SEEK ENACTMENTS

The conference, composed of the state's jurists who are recognized as having more than ordinary weight in their respective communities, made a number of legislative suggestions and expressed the hope that the 1931 Legislature would see fit to enact the recommendations into law.

Before adjourning to meet next year at a site to be selected by the executive committee of 15, the conference appointed several committees to investigate legal reforms and report at the next meeting.

One committee whose work will be of the greatest importance was appointed to make a survey of the judicial business of the commonwealth and to suggest methods for its expedition and improvement. Naming of the committee was looked upon as being a move in the direction of making Pennsylvania law more efficient and speedy.

TAKE IN RETIRED JUDGES

Justice William L. Schaffer, of Haverford, introduced a resolution for a committee investigation of the power and advisability of various courts providing by general rule for submission of special findings to juries in all civil cases on the request of either counsel or on the court's motion. The resolution passed and a committee was named to make the inquiry and submit its findings at the next meeting.

By resolution, judges on the retired list in the state were made members of the conference. It was believed that retired judges, because of their practical knowledge of the law, should have a voice in the conference.

Judges Richard W. Martin, James B. Drew, Elder W. Marshall, Sylvester J. Snee and Harry W. Rowand, of Allegheny County, were named on various committees to report at the next conference.

Police Raid Still In Working Order

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 26.—County detectives watched Tony Marcondi, 33, of Mt. Pleasant, haul a 35-gallon still to the home of Ruth Slater, and then waited two hours, until the odor of the atmosphere told them the still was working.

The officers raided the house and seized the still, together with 475 gallons of mash and eight and one-half gallons of whisky.

MEXICO STARTS CHURCH RETURN

MEXICO CITY, June 26.—(AP.)—Procedure for turning back Mexican churches into the hands of the Roman Catholic priests was announced by the government today. Archbishop Ruiz, apostolic delegate, in an accompanying statement, said 15 Mexico City churches would be ready for the opening services the last of this week, with the first masses probable Saturday.

The government announcement said in every case the archbishop would designate the priests in whose hands the church was to be placed. Then the priest, accompanied by 10 parishoners, will go to the church and interview the present custodians committee, who will hand over their inventory to the priest and parishoners.

Archbishop Ruiz has issued a pastoral letter to Mexican Catholics asking them to lend all their efforts for a peaceful permanent solution of the religious problem, and counseling co-operation with the government.

JUDGES MEET, REVIEW CASES

WESTINGHOUSE PICKS MERRICK

When the United States entered the war further demands were made upon the plant for American war material.

Mr. Merrick, although required to organize and largely re-equip his factory to fulfill American war contracts, completed an order for 60,000 Browning machine guns within 11 months after operations were begun. This manufacturing achievement since has generally been regarded in the industrial field as being without parallel.

After the war, Mr. Merrick was located in London, England, for two years as special representative of the Westinghouse Electric International Company, after which he returned to Canada to resume his duties as vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Ltd.

The achievements of Mr. Merrick before, during and following the World War won for him in January, 1925, the position of vice-president and general manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, with headquarters in East Pittsburgh, Pa. In June, 1925, he was also elected a director of the Company.

CHARTER LOSES IN SUBURBS

these votes, a study of the figures shows, came from the Republican organization which, headed by Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, waged a spirited drive for the charter.

PARTIES JOIN IN DRIVE

From a state political standpoint, the defeat is regarded as a setback for former Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon, who was the leading spirit in the campaign. His influence forced the charter amendment through the Legislature, won its approval at the polls last November and lined up the organization forces here behind it yesterday.

The two-third proposal, inserted in the amendment during the 1925 legislative session by Mansfield, proved too much of a handicap.

The election yesterday ended the most peculiar campaign in the history of Allegheny County. The Republican, Democratic and Independent party organizations joined forces in behalf of the charter. The Metropolitan District Commission, headed by Joseph T. Miller, of Edgewood, waged an educational campaign, aided by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, Boards of Trade, the League of Women Voters and civic organizations generally.

OPPOSITION UNORGANIZED

The opposition, except in the vicinity of McKeesport, was unorganized, yet, due to the two-third rule, was potent enough to block the charter.

The Democratic organization headed by David L. Lawrence turned out in at least two boroughs, Sharpsburg and Millvale.

One surprise came in Stowe Township, which had been given up for lost by organization leaders, but gave a three to one vote for the amendment. Miles Bryan, veteran political leader, is given credit for that township and for McKees Rocks, his home borough. The fight in Wilkinsburg was close, but unofficial returns from that borough show that it approved the charter by about 70 vtes more than the needed two-thirds.

VOTING TIGHT

Several Boroughs and Townships barely reached or exceeded by only two or three votes the needed majority. Aleppo, for instance, voted 16 to 8 for it. The official count may be needed to fix the exact status of such municipalities, although this morning observers expressed the opinion that the later returns will not change the result as indicated by the unofficial figures.

Homestead, with Burgess John Cavanaugh leading the fight, reversed its stand of last fall when it voted against the charter amendment, and voted 12 to one for the Metropolitan district. The North Boroughs—Bellevue, Ben Avon Emsworth, West View and Ben Avon Heights — approved the charter. State Senator Herman P. Brandt and former Representative John W. Vickerman were active in that district. Sewickley and Edgeworth turned down the proposition, as did Aspinwall, former home of former Senator C. M. Barr, who aided Mansfield in the fight against the proposal.

DORMONT OPPOSES

Moon Township, where Commissioner C. C. McGovern has a farm, cast only 73 yes votes and 273 no. McGovern did not declare for or against the charter, contenting himself with a warning against "cheating." Pine Township, where Commissioner E. V. Babcock has his summer home, voted 156 for and 72 against. Crafton, home of Senator Frank J. Harris, gave better than two to one as did most of the neighboring territory where Harris was in charge of the fight. Dormont surprised by an unfavorable vote. So did Bridgeville.

Radio, letters, pamphlets, billboards, newspaper ads and posters were used to tell of the election. Yet yesterday a Republican organization worker approached a Forest Hills resident and asked him to go to the polls.

"Sure," the gentleman agreed, "I'll vote. But I didn't know there was an election today. Who's running?"

Usher Insults Navy Uniform, Gets Term

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP.)—For an insult to the uniform of the Navy, Clifford Reed, chief usher for a movie theater, must spend two months in jail. Joseph F. Collins, a seaman of the battleship Wyoming, and his mother were put out of the orchestra because the youth was in uniform.

"Eleven years ago," said Justice Kelly, "you would have thrown yourself on this young man's neck and dragged him in."

War Governor's Mansion Will Be Razed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 26.—Because it is a fire hazard, the mansion erected in 1867 by Gov. David Tod, of Ohio, known as Ohio's war governor, has been ordered razed.

Advertising Drive Planned By Florists

Formulation of plans for a $20,000 fund for local newspaper advertising was before the Associated Florists Association at a dinner last night in the Fort Pitt Hotel. The membership includes more than 70 florists throughout Western Pennsylvania. A. W. Smith, Jr., was chairman of the session and presented the plan for a year's budget.

FLETCHER EYES SENATE SEAT

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP.)—Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Italy, will conclude 27 years of diplomatic service about September 1, President Hoover having reluctantly accepted his resignation at the insistence of the diplomat.

The chief executive has given little thought to a successor, as only urgent selections for the diplomatic corps are being made until Secretary Stimson has had opportunity to complete his survey of the field and make his recommendations for new appointments, and promotions and shifts within the service.

Personal plans of Mr. Fletcher are not fully known to his friends here, but there has been the suggestion that he would like to round out his career as a senator from Pennsylvania. He is to take a leave of absence about August 15 and his resignation will become effective at the end of this, about October 15.

Mr. Fletcher was born in Greencastle, Pa., in 1873.

VITAMIN B

OFFERED IN A DELICIOUS BEVERAGE

New Hires now on sale at all Soda Fountains and from Hires Barrels

Posed as the BORGHESE WARRIOR, that famous statue in the Louvre in Paris, Franklin Jones, of New York City, is a modern example of glorious health.

Scientific research has revealed a way which provides Vitamin B in Hires—plus a way to increase precious mineral salts, often lacking in average diet.

Many people are not getting enough Vitamin B because so difficult to obtain or unpalatable.

THE whole scientific world has emphasized the importance of the discovery of Vitamin B and how most people are lacking it in the average meal.

A diet including meat, white bread, potatoes and cooked vegetables supplies many needed elements, but not enough Vitamin B. And not enough Calcium.

This accounts for increasing fatigue, nervousness, lessened vitality, and decreased resistance to minor ills.

Now Vitamin B and Calcium can be added to your diet in a delicious, inexpensive way—drink 3 glasses of Hires daily.

Costly research has found a way to include Vitamin B and Calcium with the 16 plant juices of Hires.

Such a delightful way to health! Hires has been acknowledged as healthful for over 50 years. It is widely recommended by doctors and food experts. Yet it is far from a medicine. It is free from drugs.

Make this test: Drink 3 glasses of Hires daily for a month. Then note your health. Note new vitality, new physical resistance.

Calcium Starvation—The richest Calcium bearing foods are nuts, egg-yolk, beets, cabbage, carrots, turnips, cheese, milk, fruits and plant juices. Calcium is utterly essential for children's growth, as bones contain a high percentage of Calcium. Good teeth are also dependent upon Calcium. In adults, Calcium is needed as a repair element. Most modern cooked meals are lacking in Calcium.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

58th ANNIVERSARY

NOTED MURDER SLEUTH QUITS

LONDON, June 26.—(AP.)—Credited with solution of more murder mysteries than any living man, Frederick Wensley at the age of 64, announced he would give over his duties as chief of the criminal intelligence division of Scotland Yard to devote his time to his garden.

The control of the division was expected to revert back to the five area superintendents, known as "The Big Five," since the post of chief constable now held by Wensley was created more as a compliment to his remarkable record of crime detection rather than as a permanent police office.

With his hawk-like features, deep-set piercing eyes and bushy eyebrows, Wensley resembles Lord Reading and looks the part that novelists and playwrights have assigned the detective.

Gas Companies Host to 3,000

FRANKLIN, June 26.—Three thousand employes and their families are expected to attend the tenth annual outing and picnic of the United Natural Gas and associated companies, to be held at Clairton on Saturday, July 27.

Three new sister companies, the Ridgway Natural Gas Company, the St. Marys Natural Gas Company and the Sylvania Corporation will join with the United Natural and the Mars Company in the 1929 outing. The picnic last year was attended by 2,500, and officials expect that this number will be exceeded by next month's affair.

IN BED TWO MONTHS; THEN KONJOLA WON!

For Three Years Rheumatism Made Life Miserable, But Famed Medicine Brought Relief.

How Konjola, the new medicine, goes to the very roots of ills is shown in case after case wherein this master medicine of 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—has triumphed after all else tried failed.

MRS. JAMES T. ANDERSON

This master medicine is being explained by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting those who come to hear just why it is, and how, that this new and different medicine triumphs when hope has been abandoned. In that sentence is the answer to the question of Konjola's amazing success. This super-compound is new and different. There is no substitute for Konjola because there is no medicine like it. Konjola's goal is new, abundant and glorious health fully restored; the mere mission of temporary relief is not the aim of this real medicine. Konjola cleanses and invigorates the ailing organs; it drives impurities and poisons from the system; it opens the door, paves the way for the return of health. What cheer there is for sufferers in the experience of Mrs. James T. Anderson, R. R. No. 9, South Hills Branch, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"I was sick and miserable all over, and had lost hope, and then Konjola worked one of its wonders of which I have read and heard. But I never expected such results, so quick and thorough. For three years I was the helpless victim of a stubborn case of rheumatism. Dreadful sharp, severe pains pierced my back and over my kidneys. I could hardly move my body. Finally I got so bad that I had to remain in bed for two months. Someone had to turn me over as I could not move. Stomach trouble, too, was one of my chronic ailments. I tried everything that was recommended but the only result was failure. I was discouraged and without faith in any medicine.

"My husband had read and heard so much about Konjola that he suggested I should give it a trial. But I had no faith in this or any other medicine. But I knew that something had to be done and so I decided to take one more chance. But I was taking no chance with Konjola. It was exactly what I always needed. It went right to work; I could almost feel it. Day by day I improved. Konjola cleansed and invigorated my system. The poisons were eliminated. Rheumatism grew less severe and finally this wonderful medicine drove it from my system. The soreness, pains and stiffness have disappeared and my digestion is perfect. All my new health and joy in living I owe to Konjola. What can I say to praise Konjola as it so richly deserves?"

Same old story—complete success—wherever Konjola is put to the test. All of Konjola's ingredients work together, yet each of the 32 has a mission of its own to perform in Konjola's campaign for new and glorious health.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Little Tales About Picture Stars Garnered in Tour of Hollywood

MANY AT "HOLLYWOOD REVUE" PREMIERE—BUT NOT MEXICAN LUPE

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, By Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 26.

LUPE VELEZ, the Mex jumping bean, was one of the few flicker-ites not among those present at the premier of "The Hollywood Revue."

"Why weren't you there?" a friend asked her.

"Oh, I was guesting!"

Seemed Lupe had company ter hum. "Guesting" is her original summary . . .

Stories of varied enthusiasm and varied superlatives have reached Edward Everett Horton's ears pertaining to Bess Meredyth's ability with a parchesi board. Mr. Horton even heard that Bess has been acclaimed the champion of Hollywood.

Lupe Velez

Subsequently, Eddie is annoyed. Vastly annoyed. He informed me that years ago the Maharjah of India crowned him parchesi champion of the entire Orient. Naturally, Eddie is proud and it provokes him to have an unknown filch him of laurels without a professional meet to decide who's best.

Mr. Horton has requested me to print an open challenge to Miss Meredyth to play for the international parchesi championship. His only stipulation is that an unbiased third party negotiate the meet and serve as judge. Miss Meredyth can bring her own seconds. The parchesi board, however, will be brought by the unbiased third party.

POLLY MORAN beamed down the aisle. Wait 'till you hear this lil' gal do a take-off on AL JOLSON. Whoopee . . . LENORE ULRIC and SIDNEY BLACKMER strolled in unannounced. Don't see how the announcer missed her mop of individual bob. . . . Mae Murray and her prince swanked for the occasion. MARIE DRESSLER traipsed in with JOHN ROCHE. Marie sings a number called "I'm the Queen," that'll cure dyspepsia! . . . HEDDA HOPPER breezed along with JAMES FORBES. . . . O. O. McINTYRE garnered more attention than the stores when he arrived. Um, he writes a colyum, too! . . . MR. and MRS. LOUIS B. MAYER and IRENE MAYER and WINNIE SHEEHAN foursomed to their seats. . . . BUSTER KEATON didn't appear, but Buster danced a "comedy dance" in the revue that was a riot. . . . MR. and MRS. CONRAD NAGEL tripped down the aisle, Conrad stopping to shake hands enroute. . . . PAUL BERN and MARY DUNCAN managed to elude the "mike." . . . After the show, slews of folk toddled across the street to the Roosevelt Hotel and HARRY RAPF'S party. . . . All credit for this swell revue to Mr. Rapf, Director Chuck Reisner and the stellar performers. . . . And—that's all.

Walter Winchell—On Broadway

NEW YORK, June 26.

THIS TOWN OF OURS

FRIEDA MIERSE, a Zegfeld eyeful, and William Doerge, of Long Island's smott sex, will Lindymorrow it soon . . . Louise Groody didn't go to Hollerwood for a talke-test, at all, but to meet a Honolulu liner bringing her "heart" . . . The Smith Bellews anticipate a blessed event . . . The Lieut. Comm. U. S. N. (retired) Reggie Venable-Fay Bainter seal is being broken . . . The Ted and Betty Healys have not reconciled, but won't tell it to a judge . . . The Committee of 14 is again spending $23,000 to investigate the local pash poison parlors, with Columbia stewdents serving as spies.

The Robert Wolfs (Valma Valentine) have phffft! . . . Fifi D'Orsay (Will Rogers' new leading lady) and Fred Berrens, Detroit Theater conductor, are plenty That Way . . . Horrors Liveright, the tome publisher, and his phormer phlame, Dorothy Peterson, of "Dracula," are baby-talking again . . . The new E. Carroll revue is a show in which everybody in the cast faw down to get a laugh . . . Now, the big idea is to make the critics go boom . . . S. Untermeyer has threatened to raise Aitch with Tammany if his little boy, Alvin, doesn't get a judgeship . . . Joan Crawford has a phace phull of phreckles . . . You now can get Sanka and Haffee Hag o. the Penn diners, thanks to Gen. Pershing, who raised the devil one night recently because he couldn't.

THE vulgarites and salacious "Poolroom" number have been jerked out of the "Hot Chocolates" revusical because the drama defenders made such a fuss . . . The press agent who got the U. S. to make that new electric-bulb 2c stamp "in honor of Edison" is the envy of his confreres who rate it the champ publicity stunt of the decade . . . The Ira Gershwins have traded in their Sealyham for a police durg . . . Danny Dare, the hoofing tutor, and Mary Carlin, late of "The 5 o'Clock Girl" ensemble, are betrothed . . . Billie (Hot Chocolates) Bow, the slim Caucasian-looking lass, who excited the critics with her good looks, had a white mother, who died when she was this high, and then raised by sepias . . . Incidentally, that new hit was liked by the Park Rowgues, who argued that it was good, but not as good as "Blackbirds" (which ran a year), but which they panned!

Gin Eagels has a new shack off the Albany Post Rd., near Sing Sing . . . What prominent young banker was on $500 bail all wk for disorderly conduct and discharged in West Side Court Fridee? . . . Editor and Publisher runs a weekly warning dep't for editors against press agent campaigns . . . Helen Lowell, who will play a mother role again for Belasco, dwells in P. T. Barnum's old home . . . Ted Lewis rates $40,000 for one moon pitcher . . . Paul Whiteman, who has more chins, rates $300,000 . . . Paul Sabin, Park Central Hotel conductor, and Dorothy Fitzgibbons, the love interest in the touring "Good Knees" troupe, will be welded soon . . . Over in Brooklyn her friends used to call ruth Pratt a "long and lanky lass" . . . Now that she's in Congress and just inherited 10 G's they refer to her as 'stately and tall."

RECOMMENDED to diversion seekers: Groucho (one of the white Marxes) reminiscences in the SEPost . . . F. P. A.'s memories of Chicago and Nunnally Johnson's phiction in the same mag . . . "Ex-Cathedra" by G. D. Eaton in Plain Talk . . . M. Constantin-Meyer's "A Man Scans His Past" (Macaulay) . . . Evelyn Scott's "The Wave" (Cape-Smith) which Boston probably will suppress (what an ad!) . . . John Renolds p. 21 cartoon in the Neiu Yaukur . . . L. Armstrong's torrid band at Connie's . . . Claude Binyon's "Inaccurate Biographie" in Variety . . . Sophie Tucker at the Nassau, Long Beach, and the J. Fred Coots-Lou Davis ditty with the swell title: "Speaking of the Devil, Here Comes My Angel Now!"

Eddie Cantor will head the N. V. A. Club, succeeding Fred Stone . . . The first four bars of the hit song, "A Love Tale of Alsace-Lorraine," were written to the accompaniment of the shots that felled A. Rothstein . . . Will Rogers has two million bucks . . . Two Broadway ticket brokerage will merge . . . Schmeling will marry if he wins . . . Mönnie Cuniff, "Sunny" siren, and a famous movie magnet have the tremors for each other . . . Reuben Maury's pappy was in a train wreck which he blames on the engine number because it totaled 13 . . . Dr. Harley B. Lindsay, tooth-puller for the Vanderbilts, fractured his zygoma (ritz for check-bone) playing golf . . . Geo. Whiting knows a Washington, D. C., actor, who has given up drinking giggle-water, because he is armweary.

ON Broadway these midnights the expression: "I care for you in a great big way" has been replaced by "But I feel too bad about you!" . . . And they do not call a pest a kibitzer anymore . . . It's "Aw, don't be an Arthur Schreiber!" . . . And Jeff (Judge, Jr.) Machamer appropriately christens Rudy Vallee's tooter a "sexaphone" . . . Konrad Bercovici, whose new tone on the Crusades will soon be launched by Cosmopolitan, peddles butter and eggs from his Ridgefield, Conn., 200-acre estate to the Algonquin Hotel, and pays fancy prices to eat them there . . . Some reporters on the Wall Street papers made so much coin on a blazing tip they forget to collect their salaries . . . What's in a name, did you say? . . . Well, Walter W Cheetham is a forger now in the Tombs.

The Bob Johnson-Margaret Shea romance has gone bleh, with the rich bandage maker returning to Irene Warner of the chorus . . . A murder was squelched in a Merrick roadhouse the other Sabbath when a sensitive two-gun man whipped out his cannons because he was bumped into while hoofing . . . It's a boy at the Wm. (Universal Service) Hillmans . . . The late August Belmont's dotter, Bessie, is in the "Happy Husband" cast, opening at Southampton Fridee . . . I. Caesar's new hot-cha-cha is Leatrice Joy . . . Louis Wiley, of the N. Y. Times, hangs pictures of himself in his bathroom . . . Mrs. Whitelaw Reid loves to read obituaries, which is why the N. Y. Herald-Trib carries so many of these lugubrious things.

TOM WALLER, of Variety, sings tenor in the Westchester County church choir . . . Geo. M. Cohan's little girl, Helen, is plenty ailing in the Lenox Hill hosp. . . . Magda Johann and Lloyd Mayer, the humorist, will ankle up an altar July 25. I mean they A'Tually will . . . Mrs. H. Moscowitz, Smith's former advisor, and her blessed eventless, Josef Israels, 2d., are exploiting Bing & Bing . . . Burton Rascoe's bride tore up 17,000 United Cigar coupons (because she thought they were no longer valuable) after he had saved them since 1912! . . . Jack Dempsey, who spurned $10,000 to indorse Old Golds (because he feared his rep would be affected with the kids), smokes cigars.

20 Persons Back Of Camera For Each Actor

Dorothy Mackaill, popular actress who portrays the featured role, and Ian Keith, who appears opposite her, were the players. The 40 persons included Director Reginald Barker, cameramen, property boys, electricians, Vitaphone crew, photographers and others.

POINCARE WINS OVER MOROCCO

PARIS, June 26.—(AP.)—The government of Premier Raymond Poincare was given a vote of confidence 347 to 207 early this morning after a long night's session devoted to discussion of recent clashes in Morocco between dissident tribesman and French troops. Yesterday evening the government had a much narrower escape when it was supported, 291 to 266, in refusing to accept interpellation during debate on ratification of the debt agreement.

Foreign Minister Briand and Minister of War Painleve, in long speeches said that France does not contemplate extended military operations in Morocco, her policy being one of peace. The test came on government opposition to a Socialist motion demanding inquiry by a joint army and foreign affairs committee into recent events at Ait Yacoub, where a French column was ambushed and many killed.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A YOUTHFUL AFTERNOON FROCK.

This charming creation may be finished without the fichu collar, and sleeves. As pictured in the large view, printed chiffon was used. The long waist portions are gathered so as to blouse above a fitted hip yoke, to which the flounces and a foundation skirt are joined. The yoke is shaped in a split curve in front. The long sleeve is set in at the regulation armscye. Without the sleeve the shoulder is cut long over the top of the arm. Handkerchief linen, or zephyr are also suggested for this model.

The pattern is cut in three sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress with long sleeves for an 18-year size will require 6 yards 35 inches wide or wider. If the collar is made of contrasting material it will require ⅞ yard 35 inches wide. If the dress is made without sleeves it will require 5¼ yards. The ribbon bow requires 1⅞ yards. The width of the foundation skirt at the lower edge is 1¼ yards. The width of the lower flounce with fullness extended is 3¼ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Film Premiere Gala Occasion

SCREENALITIES: M. G. M.'s gala "Hollywood Revue" opened 'tother eve at ye Grauman's Chinese Theater amid microphones, announcers, ermines, tuxedoes, spotlights, flashlights, a street sardined with excited humanity, cars galore, and officers ditto. 'Twas among the most festive premiers of this premiering colony. W. K. faces glimpsed: CHESTER MORRIS sporting a lobsterish sunburn. . . . DOUG FAIRBANKS, JR., and JOAN CRAWFORD being announced as Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. A pause before the junior brought a chortle. . . . MARION DAVIES hurrying in and smiling her stage fright away. Marion won a thunderous hand by her singing and excellent dancing in the revue. She looked darn swank, too, in the cadet uniform she wore. . . . MARY PICKFORD and DOUG FAIRBANKS made a 9:15 entrance, but the picture hadn't started. WILLIAM HAINES arrived by his lonesome. . . GUS EDWARDS brought ARMIDA. She's a T. N. T. pint of Mexico. MERVYN LEROY and EDNA MURPHY, JACK DEMPSEY AND ESTELLE TAYLOR foursomed together. The crowd cheered Dempsey. The boy's a winner, all right. . . BESSIE LOVE looking too charming to be dubbed cute traipsed in with BILL HAWKS. Bessie does a dance in the revue that'll polish your optiks glittery. . .

Crime Detecting Apparatus In Film

Realizing that the French Surete is the most scientific and efficient police organization in the world, the United Artists studios had exact duplicates of its crime detecting apparatus made for the murder sequences in George Fitzmaurice's all-talking production, "The Locked Door." By far the bulkiest of the instruments is a scale camera mounted on gigantic ladder-like tripods which photographs the position of a body on the floor and takes in much of the surrounding area.

NORMA SHEARER—LEWIS STONE

FIVE MEN HELD IN FRAMEUP

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 26.—Bail was set at $1,000 each for John Mitchell, Sam Mandos, Christ Stamatiou and John Zograpakis, and at $2,000 for Tom Fillas, all of New Kensington, following their arrest on charges of conspiracy and malicious prosecution in connection with the recent arrest of Mike Zervos, New Kensington Greek, on a charge of having murdered Spiros Fillas on the Serpentine road near Vandergrift, on the night of October 4, last.

It is claimed that the first four men, with Tom Fillas, formed a conspiracy to have Zervos accused of the crime, while Fillas, who is a brother of the dead man, made the murder information against Zervos which resulted in his arrest and indictment.

Spiros Fillas was beaten to death with a shovel while he sat in an automobile last October. It had been claimed at the time that Fillas was killed because of having had Zervos arrested on charges of violating the narcotic act.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Beauty and the Brute

IT COSTS a man almost as much to keep his wife painted and in good repair, these days, as it does to keep his car that way.

When the old-fashioned girl didn't want to be kissed she froze a man and explained that she was "a lady." Now, a modern girl apologizes to him for being such a "disappointment."

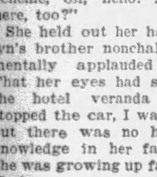
For lifting the facial muscles, brightning the eyes and bringing a glow to the face, there is no beauty treatment so effective as a happy love affair.



HELEN ROWLAND

Never take your wrist watch, your heart or your conscience to a summer resort. The first will get rusty; the second will get lost, stolen or chipped, and the third will get in your way.

The only way to tell a woman's age, these days, is by the location of her vaccination mark—whether it's on her arm, her calf, her thigh or the sole of her foot.

The beautiful woman attracts a man, the brilliant woman interests him, the good woman compels his respect—but the jolly woman GETS him!

Coquettes

By Truda Dahl

© 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THERE was never a woman born who hadn't a touch of coquetry in her make-up. From queen to the humblest peasant girl there's a common bond of coquetry which makes all women kin.

And it's that touch of coquetry that makes her so fascinating and such a enigma to all who know her. For "she can't say 'No' and she won't say 'Yes'," and she keeps the Beloved frantic with worry until she makes up her mind finally. But when she does, he knows that it's forever and ever.

She teases them all, old and young and short and tall and fair and swart, because this is the armor with which she protects her heart. She "keeps them guessing" until she decides which is to be THE ONE, then she coquettes with him until he doesn't know whether he's the favored one or whether he, too, will be thrown in the discard. And just when he is about to give up in despair, all traces of the fair coquette disappear and she becomes simply one of Love's subjects—adoring and being adored. So be patient, and remember that the coquetry is simply "the thorn that protects the rose."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Cleanliness Secret of Skin Perfection

EVERYBODY wants a clear skin and envies one. It is natural to survey the face and hands of a new acquaintance. We learn a lot by the appearance of the skin and the care given the finger nails and knuckles.

DR. COPELAND

I could number several persons of my acquaintance who seem never to clean the finger nails and yet they would be mortified to death to have a breaking out the chin. Others have grimy knuckles, but would stay home to avoid showing a pimple on the nose.

It is a far more common thing to neglect the hands than the face. This is really too bad because much depends on the care of the hands. Soiled hands, dirty nails, fissured fingers—all these carry germs of disease.

Not long ago we read about a girl who was said to be the victim of fatal blood poisoning from the use of a lipstick. I have no inclination to defend too vigorously the use of cosmetics, but I take no stock in the suggestion that the lipstick was to blame. Undoubtedly the infection came from the girl's fingers.

Think of all the things you touch with your hands every day. You cannot avoid contact with contaminated objects. Somebody coughs or sneezes into his hand and while it is still wet he turns a door knob, leaving germ-laden moisture for the next visitor to capture.

Neglect of the hands and finger nails results in tears of the cuticle, hangnails, raw fissures and other broken surfaces which may be the gateway for the entrance of bad germs. It is a mistake to neglect the hands.

A woman shows her age by her hands long before her face tells the story. For cosmetic reasons, then, as well as for health's sake, the hands should be carefully attended.

A common blemish of the hands is the presence of a wart or a cluster of warts. Boys are lucky if they escape having them. At certain ages, particularly between 10 or 11 and 17, they are frequently observed. They are not serious in youth, but in advanced life they are liable to break down into malignancy.

It does not pay to neglect the hands. They should be kept in perfect condition and can be with a little care.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. F. M. Q.—Is there any virtue in the serum treatment for colds or influenza?

2.—Is it wise to force children to eat?

A.—Yes, this treatment has proven to be very effective in many instances. Have your doctor advise you.

2.—No. A healthy child will eat without coaxing or forcing. If a child lacks appetite there is usually some underlying cause and this should be definitely located and cleared up.

B. R. F. R. Q.—What will cure a drooping eyelid?

A.—Consult an eye specialist about this condition.

MRS. W. M. Q.—What will cure the "itch?" Is there anything in the nature of a cure which can be put in the bath water?

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Another of Sam's Schemes Is Afoot, and Madge Is Worried.

"WE'VE been watching for you for hours," Carolyn Brixton exclaimed explosively, stressing almost every other word in schoolgirl fashion. "I thought you never would come. I didn't dare go over to the school—new girls aren't expected until tomorrow, you know—but I thought maybe when you came, you'd let me get just a peek at things."

"Of course," Marion said capably, "and—I don't know—maybe Mrs. Barnes—just wait—I have a scheme, oh, hello! Ronald! You here, too?"

She held out her hand to Carolyn's brother nonchalantly, and I mentally applauded her poise. That her eyes had spied him on the hotel veranda before we stopped the car, I was quite sure, but there was no hint of such knowledge in her face or voice. She was growing up fast, our little Marion.

Helena Brixton came down the steps with the slow languid grace always investing her, and greeted us warmly.

"How pleasant it is to be here together!" she said. "I'm sorry Sam and Charles can't be here. But they want to explore the country round about here. Sam has some idea about developing a summer resort, I believe. So they took the small car and went away almost as soon as we reached here. They won't be back until tomorrow afternoon. Can you stay until then?"

"I'm afraid not," Lillian told her. "You see, Marion will be settled at school tonight, so there won't be any vital reason for our staying. It's too far to drive back again tonight, though. We'll start sometime tomorrow forenoon."

"Then you won't see Sam," Mrs. Brixton said regretfully, "but it will be so nice to have you that long, anyway."

"Helena Brixton is the sweetest soul alive," Lillian said the first time we were by ourselves, "but she is also the most easily duped. She's really sincere in thinking that Sam and I would regret not seeing each other. I suppose he's told her that the quarrel was all made up, and hasn't the slightest idea this summer resort development is colossal camouflage on his part."

"I wondered at her telling about it so openly and artlessly," I commented. "There were other people within hearing."

"Of course," Lillian returned, "if Sam Brixton were contemplating the buying of land for a summer resort, he wouldn't let a word of it be breathed, and I'm very sure Helena would be the last person he would tell, for she has the indiscretion of a woman to whom all business is a cryptogram. No, he told her purposely, hoping that some of the natives would hear her spilling it to us. He's the canniest thing going that way. He has some object in exploring this country, you may be sure, but it isn't a real estate development. However, I should fret! I was dreading having to meet him again. Now I can settle down, relax and really enjoy the next 24 hours."

The last part of her anticipation may have been realized, but there was neither settling down nor relaxing for either of us during the remainder of the day. Lillian vetoed going over to the school until we had had luncheon, and Marion, from whom she expected violent objections, was surprisingly complaisant when she discovered that the Brixtons had waited luncheon hoping for our arrival. I had noticed Marion and Ronald talking earnestly together just before luncheon, and I was not surprised when, after luncheon, Marion came into the room where Lillian and I were putting on our hats for our trip to the school and spoke hesitantly.

"Mums, may I ask you something?" she said.

I moved promptly toward the door, but Marion threw out a protesting hand.

"No, no, Auntie Madge," she said. "I want you to stay."

There was a distinct appeal in the glance she threw me, and I guessed that she was counting on my aid.

Household Hints

Artificial silks are extremely fragile in water. They must never be wrung or rubbed, but squeezed gently through the hands in a soapy solution.

A little vaseline injected into the hinge portion of the frame of a new umbrella will not spread like other oil and is a sure prevention against rust.

Linoleum may be cleaned by rubbing with a soft flannel dipped in equal parts of olive oil and vinegar. If this is used instead of soap and water, the linoleum will last much longer.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Informal Dress

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly advise me if it will be quite proper for me to wear a formal dress to an informal dance at a hotel when the young man I am going with will wear a business suit? Several other girls in our club will also wear formal dresses.

JANE.

AREN'T you planning a very inconsistent costume for the informal dance? It would be inappropriate and inadvisable to wear a formal dress to an informal dance. You would feel very out of place since the dance is informal and since the men are to wear the most informal kind of clothes. I advise you to wear either an informal frock, say of some kind of crepe, or an informal dinner dress.

Sweet Girl Graduate

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to graduate from high school in the very near future, and I should like to get some information in regard to the announcements. I have been going about with a young man and his family and mine are very intimate friends. Is it correct to send two announcements, one to him and one to his father and mother?

DOUBTFUL.

YES, this is just the thing to do.

An 'Un-Dancing' Partner

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to a dance in a short while and many of the young men are going "stag." My escort does not dance, and I am considering sitting out the first and last dance with him. Would it be incorrect not to accord him more of my dances? If a "stag" asked me for the first dance could I accept?

G. Y. M.

HOW very bleak to go to a dance with a partner who does not dance! Couldn't you persuade him before the dance to take some lessons in . . . is most glorious of arts, so he will know what fun it is to dance, and how dismal it is not to? If you decide to go with this partner you had better, I think, be courteous enough to sit out the first and last dances with him—and try to look as if you liked it!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, June 27

ACCORDING to the powerful rule of the luminaries on this day, in trine aspect, there is assurance of advancement, preferment, honors, increase of salary, with recognition or favors from those in places of authority. It is a time for approaching employers for these. But if dealing with large corporations, rings or secret orders, be on guard against craft or scheming. Be clear visioned and straight-forward. Likewise refrain from extravagance and squandering.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of splendid opportunity, with promise of promotion, favors, increase and preferment from employers or others in places of authority. But deal cautiously with secret orders or with trusts, rings, etc., guarding against subtlety. Be conservative in handling money.

A child born on this day may be disposed to be prodigal and indulgent, and may have a tendency to crafty or underhand methods, but it may attain good position in employment.

ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR
POPULARITY

AN all-steel cabinet that cannot warp. A mechanism that is hermetically sealed, dust-proof and self-oiling. No wonder the General Electric Refrigerator has set new standards! It actually operates more quietly—it uses less current, it provides the maximum of food storage capacity.

And—important to busy housewives, it operates automatically, regulating itself so that the temperature is always within the safety zone—several degrees below 50.

These new all-steel models are remarkably low in price, beginning at $215. at the factory. They are as durable as a safe and cannot warp. They keep cold from seeping out and heat from creeping in more effectively than any previous refrigerator ever offered.

Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel models and learn how easily they may be bought with conveniently spaced time payments.

Be sure to listen in on the General Electric Hour broadcast every Saturday Evening from 8 to 9 Eastern Standard Time over the N. B. C. network of forty-two stations.

There are now over 250,000 users of General Electric Refrigerators. Not one of them has ever spent a single dollar for repairs or service. That was our guarantee to them.

U. S. TO DEPORT BABE ALONE

NEW YORK, June 26.—(INS.)—Elisa Valerie, 14 months old, youngest deportee ever to leave this country without a guardian, must go back to Lisbon, Portugal, a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island has decided.

The child's mother, a stewardess on the liner President Wilson, attempted to bring the girl in because the baby's father was somewhere in this country, but when the immigration authorities refused to allow her to do so, the woman died in grief at Ellis Island.

Weather Conditions.

Showers and thunderstorms occurred over all the Atlantic Coast states during yesterday and last night and at scattered places westward over the Ohio valley and lake region, and the northern and central plains to the Rocky Mountains. The skies are clear this morning at most places from the Mississippi valley to the Appalachian Mountains. Relatively high barometer overlies that section, but the barometric conditions are decidedly flat, which is favorable for local showers. Pressure is low over the Rocky Mountain states and over the Northeast.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary or rising slightly in some sections. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.9 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.1; Dam No. 6, 7.5; Dam No. 9, 7.7, and Dam No. 12, 4.8. The dams are up.

Balfour's Recovery Rapidly Progresses

WOKING, SURREY, England, June 26.—(AP.)—Published statements that Balfour's health again is causing anxiety today were declared to be inaccurate. At his brother's home at Fischer's Hill, where he is staying, it was said that Lord Balfour's convalescence was progressing slowly and that he still hoped to go to Scotland in August. The aged statesman is said to be spending his leisure hours writing his memoirs.

Boulder Dam Electric Purchase Offer Made

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—(AP.)—Dr. Elwood Mead, United States reclamation commissioner, announced last night that the Southern California Edison Company had offered to purchase the maximum amount of electrical energy to be generated by the projected Boulder Dam on the Colorado River.

CHICKERING

SPONSORS A SMALL GRAND BY

Marshall & Wendell

Famous Since 1836

Priced $595

Never, to our knowledge, has there been offered a baby grand with so much to recommend it, so much to rouse your desire for ownership as this handsome little mahogany grand, sponsored by Chickering, built by Marshall & Wendell. Into its design has gone the accumulated experience of 106 years of fine piano-making, and a keen knowledge of the needs of the present-day American home. Its price could be greater, but not its charm. Size is small, but value enormous. And the tone is so smooth, so rich, so colorful, that it will satisfy the most discriminating musician. In our judgment this is the finest piano value in America today, a piano whose equal can only be found way up near the thousand dollar mark.

To enrich your home with this wonderful little Marshall & Wendell grand requires only a small down payment and the equivalent of

$4.00 per week

Your old piano, no matter what its make, will be taken in exchange, and a generous allowance made. Marshall & Wendell pianos may also be had with the Ampico, $750 up.

Skin troubles—pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion — all foretell a body weakness — a deficiency in red-blood-cells.

If you desire a clear skin, you must keep your blood in good condition.

"S.S.S. has brought me health and happiness"

WITH the last blemish gone, confidence returns. More friends—more invitations—more good times. With the joy and pride of possessing a clear skin, self-respect increases.

Everybody wants to be attractive. It is a just and natural ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils, eczema and other skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low.

The sure way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood nourishes the body and works against infection and disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

S.S.S. proven record over 100 years

If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders, take a few bottles of S.S.S. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the remedy, which is made from fresh vegetable drugs, and has stood the test of over 100 years.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, wants to keep her newest beau, Mat Tully all to herself. Returning from a ride she leaves him at her door to avoid her mother's questionings and her sister's stares. Later Mrs. Hollenbeck warns Nancy against her own mistakes of marrying a poor man. Nancy after a sleepless night decides to follow her mother's advice. She breaks a date with Mat. Louise and Nancy leave for the annual house party of the rich Craigs. Nancy meets Jack Beamer, handsome English sportsman, married to wealth. Mrs. Craig comments. Louise, Nancy's sister, and Mat discover Beamer ardently embracing Nancy. Nancy, out with Jack Beamer until 3 o'clock, tearfully defends her actions to Louise. Next morning Mrs. Craig tells the girls their mother has wired for them to return.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

THEY sat around the breakfast table with its fringed pink cloth, and cheerful yellow dishes, half a dozen young people who had suddenly lost interest in the house party. Say what you like about Nancy Hollenbeck—and most of them had been saying it without conspicuous charity, she did keep things moving. Nobody could think of so many absurd, delightful things to do. Nobody laughed so much, or had such a good time. While she was there, it was a party.

"Don't go!" May Belle begged, suddenly remembering how dull it had been before Nancy got there, and forgetting how she had threatened to monopolize Gil Neal before Jack Beamer mercifully distracted her attention. "Mother, tell the girls they can't go. Wire Mrs. Hollenbeck, there's a dear. You can fix it. It can't be anything important!"

"Yes, please do, Mrs. Craig!"

"Gee, we can't spare Nancy!"

Nancy . . . they couldn't get along without Nancy . . . Nobody protested against Lou's going. She was, as usual, overlooked, forgotten in her corner. Her slim hands were tightly clenched in her lap. She flushed and bit her lip to stop the trembling. Thank heaven they were going!

Yes, they were going. No amount of coaxing impressed Mrs. Craig. Her friend Kitty Hollenbeck had wired for her girls, and she was going to see they didn't miss the train. If they could come back later that would be splendid, but for the present there was nothing to do but finish breakfast and get off on time.

Anna, the maid, had everything packed when they rose from the table. Sam, the surly old Chinaman, was piling bags into the back of the car, grumbling at their weight. Oscar, the family chauffeur, was at the wheel, waiting.

"I hate to hurry you, but there's only 11 minutes left, and Oscar can't speed until he strikes the highway," Mrs. Craig wheezed, hustling them out to the waiting car, letting them take hats and wraps from Anna's hands, with never a suggestion that they might like to go upstairs and adjust them at the mirror.

Lou marched ahead, Nancy lagged behind, full of last minute witticisms for the boys, and breathless, loving hugs and kisses for the girls.

"Eleven minutes . . . I do hope you can make it. Give my love to your dear mother. . . . May Belle, you mustn't detain the girls!"

Everyone crowded around, the boys on the running board, the girls in a tight little group on the drive. "It's just horrid of you to go!" "You will be back for the big dance!" "Don't forget to let us know the minute you can start back."

Nancy was answering everyone, laughing that rippling little laugh of hers, keeping her glance from Beamer, the only one except Louise who hadn't had anything to say.

"Nancy!" He couldn't keep back any longer. He pushed forward, shoving Gil Neal and Cary Fleming out of the way as if they were children. "If you must go, girls, let me drive you down to the city in my car. Much more comfortable than the train. What do you say?"

"Oh, no, they'll be expecting us on the train, Jack. But thanks a lot for offering!" She couldn't avoid his gaze any longer. She lifted her head, a little shyly, a faint, secret smile curving her lips ever so slightly . . . Do you remember? Have you forgotten . . . last night.

His fingers closed over hers. He said thickly in a kind of whisper that carried to Mrs. Craig on the steps, to the little giggling group on the driveway, "You little devil! You know I'll follow you anyway!"

Then with a wave of his big, well shaped hand, and a mumbled "Take care of yourself!" he was gone, pushing unceremoniously past the others, disappearing, whistling, around the corner of the house. The car started, the Hollenbeck girls and their heaped on baggage were on their way, in a cloud of fine, yellowish dust.

Louise, sick with apprehension, turned on the still dreamy Nancy. "Do you want everybody to know? The way you two looked at each other, I—I can't explain it. It knocked me. And you should have seen Mrs. Craig's face. Oh, how could you?"

"How could I what?"

"Look at him that way . . . it was like last night all over again."

"But I didn't do anything!"

"No, nothing at all!"

A long, painful pause, while Lou stared straight ahead at the back of Oscar's head, and Nancy twisted her gloves nervously in her lap. Then, "I suppose I have you to thank for mama's wire."

"I don't understand you," Louise returned coldly.

"All right, I'll make it plainer. Did you wire mama to send for us?"

"Of course not. What do you take me for?"

"You didn't?" Nancy's eyes darkened with fright. Two red spots flamed in her cheeks. "Oh, Lou! Do you think . . . Mrs. Craig . . . you think she wired mama? She was so mad because Jack likes me! She'd do anything, that woman! Oh, Lou—if she did!"

"No, no—I'm sure she didn't. Nancy, for heaven's sake, pull yourself together. Oscar will notice!"

"A lot I care about Oscar!" Nancy added. "It's Mrs. Craig I'm crying about!" And cry she did, in fits and starts, with pathetic little dabs at her brimming eyes, all the long way home, so that in the end, instead of scolding, Louise had to comfort her and reassure her instead.

"I don't know what will become of me," she said finally. "I'm too sensitive. I shouldn't care what anyone thinks so long as I'm getting what I want, but I can't help it. If Jack Beamer does get a divorce I'll just suffer tortures. And if we can't be married in church it won't seem right—"

"You're not really planning to. . .to. . ." Louise couldn't go on. Her lips wouldn't form the words. Then all her worst fears were confirmed, Nancy was deliberately encouraging Beamer. "Nancy, you wouldn't marry a man you didn't love!"

Nancy fixed large, troubled eyes on her sister. "No, that would be a sin. But it wouldn't be so hard to fall in love with Jack Beamer, would it? He's terribly good looking, you have to admit that. Distinguished—"

"Dissipated!"

"He is not. Don't be a prude. He is fascinating. I don't care what you say. He's always fascinated me—"

"Last week Mat Tully was the only fascinating man you ever met!"

"Mat Tully! Will you stop harping on him? Suppose I did have a crush on him. Can't I get over it if I want to? Why do you always try to make everything hard for me? If you'd ever been in love yourself you'd know how hard it is for a girl . . . oh what's the use in trying to talk to you!" she broke off angrily.

Lou stared past her, out the window. Her unseeing gaze was riveted on the swiftly changing landscape. Marsh land, overgrown with rusty weeds. Tules, heavy brown heads swaying. Lush meadows with cattle knee deep in grass. What she was really seeing was Mat . . . Mat who had put his arm around her for a minute . . . a little minute . . .

"It isn't as if I were marrying someone just for money. Like papa's friend, Mr. Lachman. He's rich, goodness knows. And a bachelor. I guess lots of girls would jump at him. But do you think I'd take any man with dandruff on his collar, and a bald spot, just to get his money? Ugh! It makes me sick, just to think of it. So that's why it's so wonderful about Jack. He has money, and social position, and he isn't like the boys we know, looking for some woman to help him get ahead. He can get ahead by himself. And Anita Beamer doesn't care anything about him, he told me that himself. She'd have gotten a decree a long time ago if she had the pep. She's just too lazy. So I haven't anything to reproach myself with that way." Nancy's sweet voice rattled on; Louise heard it, as if from a great distance. She ought to interrupt, to reason with her, but she could not rouse herself to do it. For once in her life Lou Hollenbeck was more absorbed in her own troubles than anyone else's — even Nancy's.

"I was so afraid you wouldn't get the wire!" Mama met them at the door, turned her cool, wrinkled cheek to be kissed.

"Mummy, dear! Oh, I'm so glad you aren't sick, and everything's all right!" Nancy flung herself upon her, laughing and crying all at once in the relief of seeing that mama didn't know, that Mrs. Craig hadn't started anything, that she was still safe.

"Mama's girlie!" Mrs. Hollenbeck's faded blue eyes blurred. She slipped a skinny arm around Nancy's slender waist, smiled triumphantly to herself. Other mothers might lack affection, other mothers might have cause for worry in these hectic, modern times. Not she, thank God, not she!

"But why did you send for us, Mummy? What was the big idea?" Nancy, cool and self possessed again, was flinging off her things, noting with the clearer vision one always has after an absence, that the thin place in the hall carpet was almost worn through, and something would have to be done about the wallpaper, it was a disgrace.

"Oh!" Mama came back to earth with a start. "It's your Aunt Ellie. She—"

Even Lou smiled sympathetically. Stingy Aunt Ellie . . .

Signing Amy — By Lura Coolley Hamil — Daily Short Story

HER battle with the icy wind blowing down Michigan avenue brought Amy Rogers to a sudden stop in the lee of the buildings. On the pretext of looking into a shop window she inspected her reflection. Not too badly damaged. So far as she could detect, no actual evidence of her fight with the wind. It was a morning when she must look her best, for she had a most important engagement at the Blackstone, for which she was arriving a bit early and by train and a walk from the station instead of by taxi.

Amy was not particularly thrifty. Amy was, merely, broke and the interview had to alter her status. She was determined on that.

Inside the hotel as she waited, watching the other women while apparently idling over a book she had brought with her, Amy went over the arguments by which she had forced herself to this moment. For if she were not mistaken, and in matters of proposals Amy was not altogether inexperienced, she would be able to go away from this luncheon with Georgie's heart and hand in her keeping.

George was backward and naive, but he was deeply in love, and brave as a lion for the time being. Last night had brought the thing to a focus and Georgie to a proposal but some inhibitation of cowardice—for she did not love him—or a wish to play with the idea a few hours longer before committing herself, had led Amy to put off deciding.

That Georgie was determined to be put out of his misery she was sure. Knew, too, that it was unthinkable that a girl in her senses would refuse this chance. Refuse a rope that put her on a sure footing, something she had dreamed of through the precarious stretch of her precarious career!

Amy was not a star, probably never would be. Her stage career had been a long dull grind, and this last layoff made things more desperate than usual. Georgie's timely attentions had been a godsend. This invitation to lunch with him was pure joy. Last night's dinner at the club as welcome. Amy knew how to toy with food she longed to bolt, could push away dishes she was hungry for, playing the game. She must not fumble now. Times were hard, hard, for showgirls.

How silly it was to dally with such fortune. One mistaken move and someone else would grab him. She had so debated the case all day. It angered her that she must debate it, that, convince herself as she might, the old question remained. Continually in her ears it sounded.

"And Andy?"

There it was again. Andy! Whose path crossed hers once a year or thereabouts. Andy! whose light-heartedness made the weeks merry that they had together, now and then. Once they had been engaged to be married. They joked about it now, but with an undercurrent of seriousness that would not be denied.

The thought of matrimony had daunted them both, stage people that they were and small artists whose acts could not combine or his support them. So she had put him out of her mind and thrown herself into this intimacy with Georgie and his friends, determined to forget. Had succeeded, one would have supposed.

Beginning to be conscious of delay, of tardiness, Amy looked at her watch and felt a sudden panic. Would Georgie fail her? He was so safe, so sure, so affluent. The little things she did not like about him were as nothing by comparison with his infallibility. Skies might fall, but Georgie would not fail her.

So she was taken back for a moment when she was addressed by Andy Weston, here unexpectedly and out of season. A prosperous, handsome Andy who swept her with him, protesting, and ordered a table.

"For three if you insist, but my engagement takes precedence of Georgie's. How marvelous you're looking! And how are tricks? Not so good, Madeline tells me."

Oh, Madeline! A chatterbox. But even Madeline's interpretation could not do away with Georgie's ring waiting only for her acceptance. She smiled the sure little smile that women keep for putting a man in his place, and said exactly nothing. For she wanted no argument, no persuasion. Least of all from Andy. She had won her own approval by too hard a struggle to risk argument.

Then reluctantly, for he read her like a book, but firmly because he loved her, Andy Weston told her the one thing that could have lessened her chagrin. For Georgie, strangely, did not come and she had so wanted to close the matter. Quickly, before her heart failed her.

"Dubois wired for me, Amy, and he sent a message to you when I talked with him this morning. He needs a new cast and wants us both. Your salary—I took it on myself to settle that, is three times what you have ever had."

In her excitement Amy reacted to him exactly as always and squeezed his hand happily before she remembered Georgie. Without moving she studied a moment. Why not? Why do the thing she found so hard when the old free comradeship beckoned? The first glamour was gone from stage life, but she had worked long and hard, and this looked like recognition. Why scorn the thing she had earned, when Georgie bored her anyway?

As easily as that the matter was settled. She went with Andy to see the contracts nor dreamed that among the items of stage gossip with Andy, Dubois had added this.

"Get Amy Rogers for me, will you? I never see her any more except with young Georgie Sands. A crook, that fellow. The girls think he is genuine and he has fooled dozens. Marry? Not Georgie!"

On a chance Andy had tried the Blackstone, knowing Georgie's haunts. Had seen him leaving with the new star at the Illinois — and Amy waiting. Being a gentleman, Andy was saying nothing of all that or needed to. For the lure of the work she loved was enough and to spare. Amy's guardian angel was still on the job.

KDKA to Broadcast Medal Awarding

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

COMMEMORATING the work of the late Benjamin Lamme, chief engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers tonight will present Allan Bertram Field, English scientist, with the first Lamme medal for his mathematical and experimental investigation of Eddy current losses in electrical machinery. The presentation will be made at Swampscott, Mass., and will be on the air over KDKA at 7 o'clock.

The event will be of particular interest to those mechanically inclined and it should be one of civic pride for Pittsburghers because Mr. Lamme did most of his work in the Westinghouse plant at East Pittsburgh.

A favorite, "Whispering Hope," duet for contralto and soprano, will be on the WCAE Gospel Hour at 7 p. m., followed, at 7:30 by the popular Quinby Symphony.

"OLD STAGER" WEDS

Four of the 10 Best Bets go to WJAS with the Show Boat presentation of "Garry Owen" at 8 o'clock, a dance medley on the LaPalina program at 9:30, the usually attractive Kolster Hour at 10 and Brother Brokenshire's return to the Kansas Frolickers at 10:30 p. m.

Walther's "Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger," by Wagner, will be played during the Stromberg-Carlson concert through KDKA at 10:30.

Sometime late this afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church at Beverly, N. J., the first all-radio wedding will be performed. Henry M. Neely, Philco Hour's "Old Stager," will be married to Miss Gertrude M. Jones, for several years Neely's partner in a flower farming enterprise. Jessica Dragonette will sing "Mem'ries," the chorus will join in "That's the Song of Songs for Me" and Marp Hopple will conclude with "O Promise Me." All but the minister will be radio artists.

How I Bleach My Skin White

"The camera is a merciless eye," says Miss Genevieve Barr, noted New York model, "and we girls who have to face it have a method of our own for keeping our skins white and flawless.

"We buy no ready-made preparations, but get three ounces of Orchard White at the drug store and add to this the juice of two lemons. This makes several weeks' supply of a very fine skin bleach which softens, refines and whitens the skin without any harm or irritation. And because you use it while it is still fresh, it is twice as effective as any ready-to-use preparation. I find it a dandy bleach for tan and freckles, too. Every girl who takes up posing in New York sooner or later learns this studio secret. The bleach costs only a few cents to make."

DOUBLE DECK NEW BRIDGE

Work on the bridge of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad over the Monongahela River at Bellevernon will be started immediately, officials announced upon receipt of information that the project had been approved by the War Department.

It will be a double-deck structure. The lower deck, 60 feet above the water, will be used for tracks of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, which will connect the Monessen and Allenport plants of the company on each side of the river at this point.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Cotillion, Crowning Event For Debutante, to Be Held December 17

AT a time when the merciless sun is compelling society folks to plan July flights to the mountains and seashore, it might seem absurdly foresighted to plan for dances in far off December.

But by the time the city is deserted, nearly all dates for debuts and the more important dances will be entered by the keepers of social records. Never before, or at least for a number of seasons, has it been so important to arrange dates months and months ahead of time. And no wonder, with the debutante list numbering nearly 40 already.

OF course the dance of dances, you all know, is the cotillion, at which the debutantes of the year are the belles of the ball. This year the cotillion will be held on Tuesday, December 17, in the Pittsburgh Club, the scene of cotillions for many a year.

And the committee in charge of this event, primary in importance for the younger social set, includes, I understand, James Verner Scaife, Jr., Richard King Mellon, Moorhead Holland, John H. Ricketson III and William Christopher Robinson, Jr.

The evening of the cotillion is always noted for dinners preceding the ball, too.

FROM now on much of the social news we hear will concern the approaching exodus for summer homes. Early July will see the departure of many families, and by late July there'll be very few society folks indeed in the city. A few, however, will stay on in their Sewickley Heights homes.

Early in July the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander and Mrs. Alexander, with their daughter, Madelaine, and sons, Maitland Alexander, Jr., Alexander Laughlin Alexander and Charles Beatty Alexander II, will leave for Grey Ledge, their summer home at Dark Harbor, Me.

Mrs. Alexander and her daughter, by the way, are just home from the boat races at New Haven.

The William Christopher Robinsons and their family, including their debutante daughter, Mary, will spend the summer months at Watch Hill, Rhode Island, one of the most popular summer resorts with Pittsburgh folks.

There'll be some folks who'll not go far away from home. The Augustus K. Olivers and their children will go to Eaglesmere in July, I hear.

ADDING variety to social conversation, dominated to a great extent to plans for leaving the city, is news of returning travelers. The Horace Forbes Bakers and their children, Mary Rachel Baker and France J. Torrance Baker, are expected back the first of the next month. They'll not be in town long, I imagine. They usually spend July and August at their summer home, Bass Rocks, Gloucester, Mass.

ADDING interest to activities of the younger set this month has been the return of the school boys and girls. Thomas E. Pickering, son of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Pickering, of Morewood avenue; Lawrence W. Knapp, Jr., of the Schenley Apartments, and David McCargo, son of the Grant McCargos, of Woodland road, are back from the Hun Preparatory School at Princeton, N. J.

MR. AND MRS. J. H. PORTER, of Chadwick avenue, Sewickley, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mildred Gordon Porter, and Donnell Neel Oliver, son of Mrs. William Oliver, of the Cathedral Mansions, which was solemnized Saturday.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss E. Louisa Soisson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustin D. Soisson, of Connellsville, to Robert M. Ewing, Jr., son of Deputy Attorney General of Pennsylvania Robert M. Ewing and Mrs. Ewing, of Rosemary road. The engagement was announced at a bridge tea given Thursday by Mrs. Soisson at her summer home near Connellsville. The wedding will take place in August. Miss Soisson is a graduate of Frances Shimer College, Mt. Carroll, Ill., and Mr. Ewing was graduated from the Indiana State Teachers' College, the Kiskiminetas School and Washington and Jefferson College. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Mrs. Clarence W. Hays was a Pittsburgh guest at the tea, as well as members of Mr. Ewing's family.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD VINCENT BIRCH, of Balph avenue, Bellevue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Catherine Birch, to Robert John Shouse, of Balph avenue. The wedding will take place early this summer.

Missionary Society To Meet Tomorrow

ITS annual all-day meeting will be held tomorrow in the Mifflin Avenue Church, Wilkinsburg, by the Pittsburgh Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock and luncheon will be served by the women of the church. Mrs. E. M. Balsinger, conference president, who returned recently from a trip abroad, will preside. Reports of the year's work will be given and a program of society interests will be presented by department heads and officers and Miss Olive Morgan, Miss Elsie Martline and Mrs. Eleanor Shrodes. The society, which comprises five districts, Allegheny, Blairsville, McKeesport, Pittsburgh and Washington with their large outlying territories, in addition to making large contributions to national mission work, supports wholly three local institutions, the Methodist Episcopal Deaconess' Home, the North Side Community Center and the Elizabeth A. Bradley Children's Home in Oakmont. It also employs a social worker to assist in problem cases from Morals Court. Through the work of the younger members in Christ Church, the Louise Home for Babies was established and is maintained.

NOT only was the porch party which Mrs. F. F. Rohrer gave yesterday a farewell for Mrs. Will Earhart, retiring president of the Tuesday Musical Club, but it brought to the guests news of the National Federation of Music Clubs convention which was held in Boston earlier this month. Mrs. James Stephen Martin described some of the high lights of the convention, especially the midnight frolic of the Past Presidents' Association, which is always an annual event, and at which the Tuesday Musical Club's Foster Singers appeared in their period costumes. Miss Virginia Kendrick, Pittsburgh' prize winner at the convention, sang several of the numbers which she had given in Boston and Mrs. Earhart outlined her European trip. Dr. and Mrs. Earhart are to meet Dr. and Mrs. Charles Heinroth in Munich for the opera season.

EXTRA-POWERED and "KNOCKLESS"

—that's the new-type ATLANTIC GASOLINE

EASY STARTING. Without sacrifice of power, Atlantic Gasoline contains just enough of the higher or more volatile elements needed to let the spark take hold at low temperatures—when the motor is cold.

QUICK PICK-UP. Easy ignition, through a scientifically balanced "chain of boiling points," makes Atlantic instantly responsive to the command of the throttle. Note Atlantic's agility in traffic.

EXTRA POWER. By bringing more of the higher power-producing elements of petroleum into the form that enables modern motors to utilize them fully, a pronounced degree of extra power has been developed in the new-type Atlantic Gasoline.

THERE is no mistaking the added power you get in this extraordinary new motor fuel which is being produced by one of the world's largest and most progressive petroleum refining organizations.

There is no imagination about the way it reduces fuel "knocks"—even when the going is slow and the pulling is hard.

Yet, with both these much-sought features, Atlantic Gasoline is amazingly easy-starting, remarkably quick on pick-up, marvelously clean- and complete-burning.

Not a single desirable motor fuel quality is sacrificed. It is without question the most efficient and most thoroughly satisfactory all-round gasoline you have ever used!

KNOCKLESS COMBUSTION. In the way the crudes are selected, and their desirable elements blended, Atlantic refiners have developed the "knockless" feature to the highest degree ever attained in an all-round, all-petroleum motor fuel.

MAXIMUM MILEAGE. Atlantic Gasoline is so remarkably clean and so splendidly balanced that complete burning is inevitable, maximum mileage obvious, and pocketbook economy an undisputed fact.

READY OBTAINABILITY. No matter how good a motor fuel may be, it is of little use to you unless you can get it when you want it. Atlantic is always near at hand. No other gasoline distributing system offers you such convenient and dependable service.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

VILLAGE GOSSIP: The town has gone traffic light with few complaints. . . . Corners downtown which boasted two gendarmes will in the near future get along with but one traffic officer. . . . The change does not alarm the traffic men who say there is still plenty of work to be handled. . . . Supplementing the red, yellow and green lights at Bigelow boulevard and Tunnel street is a bell which rings when the lights change. . . . This is by way of an experiment and if it helps, bells may be installed at other corners. . . . They are more melodious than the shrill blast of the policeman's whistle, especially in those moments when the policeman has a mad on against someone. . . . The day of the individual picnic was revived recently when Dan Winters, one of our solons, gave a picnic for his friends of the South Side section in Kennywood. . . . The largest privately sponsored picnics were held by the late Denny O'Neil, who served two terms as county commissioner. . . . One of the most notable picnics passed out, much to the regret of thousands. . . . It was called the orphans' picnic and in a day long ago was held in Calhoun Park, near Lincoln Place. . . . It was a two-day affair and the receipts went to keep up St. Paul's Orphan Asylum. . . . Freddy Dengler, a city assessor, stages two or three picnics every year in more or less private groves. . . . Joe Ward writes in with a note supplementing the announcement of Father Charles Cherdini's ordination to the priesthood. . . . Mr. Ward, a whilom athlete, reports that Chuck Cherdini is the greatest athlete ever turned out by Duquesne University. . . . A first class football or baseball team could be recruited from members of the various ministries in Pittsburgh, who mixed the forward pass and the basehit and the study of theology and kindred subjects. . . . Dave Hillman, who weighs 225 pounds in his stocking feet, has laid in a pair of knickers for a coming ocean voyage. . . . Quite a few of the local police and detectives rejoiced over the recent decision which allows them to collect certain witness fees, held up for quite a time pending a decision by the court. . . . Some of the boys will collect as much as $500, which is nice vacation money. . . . Frank Brown, the Pittsburgher who spends his summers umpiring in the American Association and his winters in the Public Works Department of the city, had an off day and visited Pittsburgh. . . . Like the well-known street car man, Mr. Brown spent his day off in looking at a ball game. . . . Baseball by the way is failing to attract the usual crowds in Pittsburgh and the sport writers are quoting the local owners as saying that the season so far is a disappointment, although the home boys are right in the thick of the fight for the pennant. . . . Dennis Hogan, who worked on both the small and the big mills, was reminiscing the other day about old-time boxing days in Pittsburgh. . . . When younger, Dennis was not so bad with his dukes himself, thriving in the days of a very famous club known as the Emeralds. . . . John Nugent, of Braddock, has a big job on his hands. . . . Besides being a candidate for vice president of the state Elks, Mr. Nugent is also arranging to take about 150 of the dear brothers to Los Angeles to attend the national convention. . . . The party will be gone three weeks and two days, to be very exact, and will depart about a week hence. . . . The Shriners recently returned from a similar junket and one of them advised Mr. Nugent to ask for two diners instead of one on the long trek across the continent. . . . Trying to feed 150 men and women in one diner brings difficulties. . . . What local boy now carries an umbrella practically all the time, rain or shine?

. . . Mrs. Enoch Pugh knows the answer to this one. . . . Bob Pugh is a pretty good bridge kibitzer. . . . Mr. Pugh kibitzes in the Thornburg league. . . . Congressman Paddy Sullivan sat through a rain to see a boxing show the other night. . . . Pat O'Malley had an informal reunion with Bernard Conway, Johnstown, who must have been a reasonable a sergeant as Pat, a private under Conway, greeted him very cordially. . . . The fact that Pat weights some 200 and stands better than six feet might have had something to do with it.

ELECTION FRAUD WARRANT OUT FOR DUERR

Commissioner of Stowe Township Accused of Stuffing Ballot Box

A warrant for the arrest of John D. Duerr, former township commissioner of the Eighth District, Stowe Township, who was named as the "higher-up" during the recent Stowe Township election board trial, was sworn out before Alderman George A. Anderson this morning.

The information, made out by George W. Murren, chief of county detectives, charges Duerr with violations of the election laws in the September primaries of 1927. County Detective Michael Ford was sent to arrest Duerr. The information was drawn up by Assistant District Attorney Veers D. Edwards by direction of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner.

Sam Williams, majority inspector, who turned state evidence, testified at the recent trial that when he returned from lunch on September 20, 1927, he found that 100 names had been added to the voting list. He said that when he inquired of Duerr what this meant, the latter told him it was none of his business. Elmer Street, a voter, testified to seeing Duerr put 100 ballots in the box.

Duerr resigned as township commissioner several days ago.

STEEL HOME FOR BRIDE

MRS. GEORGE H. LOVE

Society Bride Sets Vogue, Chooses Steel Home

Steel has entered the domain of Pittsburgh's June brides, and it threatens to change the old world's conception of love in a cottage.

And the revolution rests at the door of Miss Margaret McClintic, prominent in Pittsburgh and national society circles, who on June 3 became Mrs. George H. Love.

Miss McClintic, whose father, H. H. McClintic, is president of the McClintic-Marshall Company, had the task of choosing a house—the same problem confronting all brides. She wanted a fairly small house, pretty, with all modern improvements—like all brides. And she was perplexed—like all brides.

BROTHER SOLVES PROBLEM

Then her brother, R. H. McClintic, entered the picture with suggestions. He had a right to, since his Steel Frame House Company is interested in brides' domiciles.

The upshot of it all is that Mrs. Love, when she returns from her honeymoon, will walk into the first steel-constructed home that has ever been erected for a young chatelaine.

Erection of the stele was begun a few days ago in Braeburn place, off Shady avenue, between Wilkins and Fifth avenues. The lot was chosen and the foundation laid during the past few weeks. Brandon Smith, Pittsburgh architect, made the plans. It will be a simple American Colonial type, of 12 rooms, with a formal garden in the rear. Its biggest novelty will be the steel framing, which will render it fireproof and add the many advantages of steel construction.

WILL SET NEW VOGUE

While it is expected to set a vogue in society circles, it is not, of course, the first steel frame house in the country. The Steel Frame Housing Company of which Mr. McClintic is vice president, and a subsidiary of the larger steel concern, has constructed a number of model steel frame houses throughout the country, adapting them from the years-old steel plans that have made the skyscrapers possible.

The steel frames used take the place of the ordinary wood framing in every detail, Mr. Smith said, from the sill to the rafters. They include all interior partitions and the framing of all openings, dormer and bay windows, and other special design elements. The foundation is the same as that used for wooden frames. The outer walls consist of a layer of steel fabric with waterproof backing. The floors of steel joists carry a similar mesh on which concrete is poured. The roof is of wood plank over steel rafters and carries a heavy slate top.

Mr. and Mrs. Love, who are in Europe, will return in the late summer to occupy it.

START EARLY TO PLAN FOR CAMPAIGN

More Charitable Agencies to Be Aided; Larger Budget Vital in November Appeal

Announcement was made today that every division of the second annual Welfare Fund campaign, scheduled for November 12 to 22, is being organized now.

With Joseph Dilworth as general chairman and G. G. Coolidge as assistant, plans have been laid for a repetition of the success which attended the first campaign last fall, when 60,000 persons in the county oversubscribed the budget of $965,000 for the support of 25 philanthropies for the present year.

This fall with an increased membership of charitable and philanthropic agencies, a larger budget will be necessary. Under F. A. Leovy, a preliminary canvass of gifts of large amounts will be made. William B. Schiller will act as vice chairman of the group and H. A. Gidney as secretary.

Mrs. William Frew will act as associate general chairman in charge of 35 teams of women in the Central division. These teams will be divided into seven sections of five teams each. E. W. Mudge will head the 35 men's teams. Employers throughout the district will be urged to arrange a canvass of their employes under an employes division to be organized under the leadership of F. J. Chesterman.

Mrs. John M. Phillips will have charge of organizing a house to house canvass in the districts outside the city. The publicity committee will be organized by Edgar J. Kaufmann, chairman. R. Templeton Smith will be chairman of speakers and Leo Lehman will have charge of advertising.

FLOWER GUILD CHEERS SICK

Shut-ins and the sick of Pittsburgh's poor sections are being cheered through flowers by the National Plant, Fruit and Flower Guild which receives gifts daily in the lobby of the Nixon Theater.

Local flower and garden clubs are co-operating in the annual work of the guild, which receives flowers daily, except Saturday and Sunday, from 9 a. m. until noon. Twenty-seven organizations assist in the distribution of the flowers. The guild opened its receiving station on June 18 and will continue until October 1.

Midnight Wedding Staged for Pair In Martinsburg

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 26.—Mildred Louise Hoffman, 23, and Darrell Clifford Webb, 25, of Toms Brook, Va., used emergency measures to speed their marriage here Saturday midnight.

Appealing to Policeman Davis at headquarters, the couple had Deputy Clerk H. C. Keedy roused from bed to issue the license, and the policeman and clerk accompanied the pair to the home of the Rev. W. T. Hall, of the First Baptist Church, who officiated in bathrobe and slippers.

RUM ACCUSED ASKS DETAILS

John F. Brennan, former chief of police of McKeesport, and Sam Crown and Louis Davidson, three of the 32 defendants named in the indictments in the McKeesport liquor conspiracy cases, today demanded a bill of particulars in United States District Court.

Attorneys David S. Heimlich and A. J. Rosenbleet, representing the three defendants, appeared before Judge Nelson McVicar, contending that the charges in the indictments handed down May 16 were not specific, but so general that it was impossible to prepare a proper defense.

Assistant United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith argued that Brennan, Crown and Davidson were not entitled to a bill of particulars for the reason that they knew the nature of the charges, the names of those indicted and that the 19 overt acts alleged show how the conspiracy was carried on. The 32 defendants are charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

ROTARY HONORS RETIRING HEAD

George Rankin, Jr., completed his term as president of the Wilkinsburg Rotary Club at yesterday's luncheon meeting in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. He gave a short talk in which he thanked the members for their co-operation and the committees for their wholehearted support.

George Felger, the new president, will take office at next week's meeting. During Mr. Rankin's term the club has grown until it has reached a membership of 75. His year stands forth as one of the most successful in the history of the organization, members said.

Following his talk, he was given "three cheers" by the members. Arlington Locke, the club's delegate to the international convention at Dallas, Tex., gave a report of the convention's activities.

ROBBERS' DEN TORN DOWN

The old locktender's residence at West Bellevue Station, which Burgess William J. Longmore, of Bellevue, charged had become a rendezvous of thugs and hold-up men has been razed.

The large brick building, for many years occupied by the lockmaster of the old Davis Island Dam, was acquired, along with adjacent property by the Pennsylvania Railroad after the dam was abandoned several years ago, with the construction of the Emsworth Dam.

Numerous petty robberies had been traced to men making their headquarters in the ramshackle structure, Burgess Longmore informed the railroad company. He recently received official notification that the building, a landmark, had been removed.

Husband Sued for Alimony Shortage

Fred B. Patterson, Euclid avenue and Hay street, who was ordered to pay his wife $65 a month, pending his divorce suit against May E. Patterson, has been directed by Common Pleas Court to show cause why he should not be attached for failure to pay the alimony.

In his libel, Patterson charged infidelity and gave his wife's address as 6601 Jackson street. Mrs. Patterson has a daughter, Virginia, the couple having been married in 1919, separating April 9, last. Patterson, it is stated in the petition filed by the wife, is employed by the Duquesne Light Company, and earns $200 a month.

A bus will meet members at Perry highway and West View Park at 11:50 a. m. The committee includes Mrs. D. A. Hughes, Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. George P. Morgan and Mrs. W. R. Thornberry.

4 LOTTERY MEN GET PAROLES

After serving two weeks in jail, four confessed operators of the Pitt lottery, largest catch of the county graft-fishing season, were paroled today by Judge Thomas D. Carnahan.

The four were sentenced June 11 to serve from three to six months each in the county jail after pleading guilty to maintaining a lottery.

Those freed on a two-year parole were W. L. Reinecker, 765 Anaheim street; Harry Halliday, 3504 Diploma street; Leo A. McCormick, 202 Chesterfield road, and Joseph A. Lauer, 1230 Herron avenue.

Testimony at the time pleas were entered revealed the lottery as the most extensive clearing house pool unearthed by the racket probe. An automobile was given away each week as a prize along with numerous other prizes.

Headquarters of the lottery, at 823 Federal street, were raided December 15, 1928, and a large quantity of equipment confiscated.

Retiring Rotarians Sing 'Swan Songs'

"Swan songs" by the retiring officers featured the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Fort Pitt Hotel today. The new officers will assume their duties next Wednesday. Participating in today's program were Robert H. Wilson, president; William B. Robinson, first vice president; David T. Riffle, second vice president; Frederick G. Rodgers, secretary; I. Franklin Miller, treasurer; V. Daniel Nirella, sergeant-at-arms, and the directors.

City, county and state police today are searching for John Hoffman, Sr., 68, who has been missing from his home on the Hope Hollow road, Carnegie, since last Thursday. Relatives believed that he may be the victim of an automobile accident.

DOGS BANNED AT OVERBROOK

All licensed and unlicensed dogs, running around at large in Overbrook Borough, will be shot and killed, starting next week, according to Chief of Police Harry Seibel.

"We have four dogs now that are under observation," the chief said, "and I will not take any more chances of having any of the children and grown-ups of the borough bitten by any more dogs."

"A licensed dog must wear a leash and be led by its owner, otherwise the owner is subject to a fine," he said.

Despondent, Man Takes Own Life

Michael Vogel, 69, ended his life early today by shooting himself in the head with a revolver in the cellar of his home at 72 St. Michael's street, according to a report by the South Side police to the coroner. Vogel had been suffering ill health and members of his family stated that he had been despondent for several months. He left a note written in German which the police were not able to translate and it was turned over to the coroner.

Perfect Record

BEATRICE E. CAVANAUGH

Beatrice, 11, 102 Forty-second street, daughter of Capt. Bernard Cavanaugh, No. 42 Engine Company, who has been graduated from Washington School No. 1 with honors. She was never tardy nor absent.

Pulmotor by Plane Fails To Save River Victim

Frank Kirkpatrick, Jr., 7, who left Pittsburgh Monday with his parents and a younger brother for a week's vacation at Royal Oaks, on the eastern shore of Maryland, will be brought back home today—dead, victim of drowning yesterday despite the efforts of the Baltimore fire department, which rushed a respirator to the scene by airplane.

The boy, a son of Frank Kirkpatrick, former Pittsburgh newspaperman, is believed to have fallen into Miles River while walking along the bank. His body was recovered by another boy.

Efforts to restore respiration were begun as soon as the body had been brought to the surface. An appeal was made to the Baltimore fire department for a respirator. Through the efforts of Secretary Wilkinson, of the department, an airplane was dispatched from Logan field, with Lee Dice as pilot. William C. Brust and George V. Kaufman, attached to the fire department infirmary connected with No. 1 truck company, were the passengers.

The plane landed at Easton, six miles from Royal Oak, where it was met by an automobile. Arriving there, the firemen worked for two hours, but were unable to resuscitate the lad.

PHI DAY MUSIC REBROADCAST

Establishing a world record for distance reception in daylight, KDKA early today picked up the signals of PHI direct from Holland and rebroadcast them to listeners. The signals came in very feebly at first, but as they increased in intensity they became audible enough to put on the air on the regular wavelength. Fans were more than surprised to hear Dutch music at 10 and again at 10:30 a. m.

Several weeks ago KDKA succeeded in picking up the signals of PCJ in Holland, rebroadcasting them at night time when atmospheric conditions make reception easier. Reception on short waves of a station in Europe in daytime is exceptionally good and very rarely are the signals strong enough to rebroadcast, then only for a short time due to "fading."

Railroader Must Pay Wife Alimony

A legal separation was granted Mrs. Lydia E. Haas, 41, of 13 South Euclid avenue, Bellevue, from her husband, Harry W. Haas, by Judge Elder W. Marshall in Common Pleas Court today. She was awarded $125 a month alimony. At a hearing several weeks ago, Mrs. Haas testified that her husband frequently beat her. They were married June 30, 1922. Haas is general agent of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad.

Mate Bigamist, Says Wife; Asks Divorce

Allegations that her husband deserted her a year after they were married, married another woman and served a year and a half in Sing Sing for bigamy were made by Mrs. Marie Dorothey Heath, 23, of 147 Orchard street, Knoxville, at a hearing in her divorce suit against Edward P. Heath before Judge Thomas J. Ford, in common pleas court today.

Childs Foot Crushed By Truck, in Hospital

Lohn Greiner, 7, of 27 Uxor way, is in the St. Joseph's Hospital suffering a crushed right foot which he received when he ran under the wheels of an automobile truck driven by Ronald Egan, 25, of 1055 West Chestnut street, Washington, Pa. on Sarah, near South Thirteenth streets, yesterday. The driver was arrested, charged with reckless driving, and was later released on a forfeit for his appearance in Traffic Court when the boy is discharged from the hospital.

TAX CUT URGED FOR ZONING

The Pittsburgh Housing Association is planning a change in the Pittsburgh graded tax law to induce property owners to leave more open spaces on dwelling house lots. Directors of the association have referred the proposal to the surveys and research committee, with hopes that a report on it will be available by fall.

Under the proposed plan property spaces up to twice the area required by the zoning code would be taxed as if they were part of the building. The present grade law requires that land shall be taxed on 100 per cent of its valuation, but a building shall be taxed on 50 per cent of its valuation.

TRUCKS INJURE 2 CHILDREN

Two children are in the McKeesport Hospital today, suffering injuries received when knocked down by trucks yesterday. Rita Black, 7, of 1102 Tube Works street, was knocked down by a truck when on her way to attend the Knights of Columbus picnic at Olympia Park.

Robert Kalkbrenner, 7, of 401 Walnut street, Versailles, was injured when he slipped and fell beneath the truck of Frank Patterson, of McKeesport, which was being driven near the child's home. The boy had been running alongside the truck when the accident occurred, it was said.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 25.

Since the whole prohibition problem has kicked up such a mess in all embassys, Charley Dawes seems to have solved it better than anyone I ever heard of. He is not going to serve it in England, not because it's against our law, not for the good of mankind, but he is not going to serve it. Because he don't drink. That's the best reason that's been given.

Some German made a scorching speech against us in the Reichstag yesterday. He didn't mention us by name, but he said a certain nation composed of 48 states and a flag with a lot of stars on it, and a President who was an engineer, outside of that he left everybody to guess.

Yours, WILL.

BODY OF OHIO VICTIM TAKEN FROM WATER

Allegheny At Brackenridge Being Dragged for Youth Drowned Following Dive

Two boys were drowned while swimming in the Allegheny and Ohio rivers last night. The body of one was recovered while the Allegheny was being dragged for the other.

The body of Edward Bozulawski, 12, of Erie, Pa., was recovered last night from the Ohio River near Dixmont, where he was drowned while swimming with other boys several hours before. Edward left the Holy Family Orphan Asylum, of which he was an inmate, without permission, it was said.

The Allegheny River at Brackenridge was being dragged today for the body of Mieczyslav Kamioski, 14, of 26 Lookout street, West Natrona, who drowned after diving from a barge last night.

LINCOLN AVE. POOL ASKED

Citizens of the Lincoln avenue district have gone gunning to City Council to obtain a swimming pool and other improvements for their community. It is pointed out that efforts of the people for a period of 15 years have failed to win the favorable attention of Council, and in the meantime 40 swimming pools were opened in other districts of the city.

A climax was reached when Brook N. Edmonston, secretary of the Lincoln District Board of Trade, communicated the board's action at its June meeting to City Clerk Robert Clark. He said:

"My people suggested that Council be informed that, in the opinion of the Lincoln community citizens, we have received very little consideration from Council, and that we have now reached a point where we know that we are entitled to a fair share of the money spent."

FLIERS LAND AT RODGERS FIELD

Rodgers Field proved a welcome sight to Assistant Secretary of War Patrick Hurley and his pilot, Lieut. Fred Kimble, during a rainstorm yesterday afternoon, after flying almost an hour in search of a place to land.

Lieut. Kimble, after getting his bearings and weather reports following the storm, took off again for Washington. He said he was unable to see either Bettis Field or the emergency field at Uniontown from the air.

The War Department official was flying from Detroit to Washington.

Bellevue Burgess Seeks Re-Election

William J. Longmore, veteran burgess of Bellevue, will be a candidate for re-election at the September primaries, he announced today, in response to request from many citizens. He is serving his third term. After serving two terms he relinquished the office 12 years ago, only to resume its duties four years ago. Reared within the boundaries of Bellevue, long before it was incorporated, he is one of the oldest native residents of the borough. For many years he has been purchasing agent for the Westinghouse interests.

Coraopolis Joins State in Paving

The Coraopolis borough council at a special meeting last night authorized expenditure of $30,000 by the borough in co-operating with the state highway department in constructing the final link in the Fleming Park highway from Coraopolis to Stowe township. ## Summer Dance

LEORA OSGOOD

THREE PAROLED IN RUM FIGHT

Anthony Rizzo, of Homewood, convicted in the Federal District Court at Erie in March, 1928, of assaulting and interfering with Harry Kuhns, a former prohibition agent, in performance of his duty, and of transporting contraband liquor, was placed upon parole for one year by Judge W. H. S. Thomson.

Charlotte Olekzak, of Middle road, Indiana Township, and Paul Sustowicz, of Sharpsburg, co-defendants with Rizzo on the latter charge, were also paroled for one year each.

At the trial Kuhns claimed Rizzo attacked him in the "Eight-Mile House," Middle road, when there on official duty. Later he arrested Rizzo, Sustowicz and Miss Olekzak in the Sandy Creek road. Kuhns testified that just before placing them under arrest a can containing moonshine was thrown from their automobile.

Attorney Max V. Schoonmaker, counsel for the three defendants, who had a motion pending for new trials, withdrew the motion and the cases were disposed of by the paroles.

BLAST HURTS 3, INQUIRY BEGUN

Opollo police today are investigating the cause of an explosion in a shack in the rear of the home of William Miller, near Apollo, which caused injuries to three of Miller's small daughters yesterday. Two of the children are in the Citizens General Hospital suffering severe burns and another is confined to the family home.

Betty Miller, 4, and Marian Jean Miller, 5, are in the hospital. Betty was burned on the face, body and arms, and Marian Jean had four fingers on her left hand blown off. Bonney Miller, 2, was burned about the face. The house was formerly occupied by a miner and it is believed that dynamite had been left in the shack.

Ground Is Broken For Hospital School

Ground was broken yesterday for the new nursing school of St. Francis Hospital at Forty-fifth and Calvin streets. The building is being erected at a cost of $1,250,000. It is to contain 400 rooms and departments for graduate supervising nurses and a complete educational section.

The building also will contain a chapel with capacity for 400 persons. There will be a large gymnasium with seating capacity for 700, a swimming pool, bowling alleys, tennis courts, constructed so they can be transformed into a skating rink, and sun parlors, roof gardens and a large living room and tea room.

Representatives of more than 30 volunteer fire companies from various parts of Allegheny county will participate in a parade this evening in Glendale, marking the opening of the street fair being held by the Glendale Volunteers. The fair will be held each night and will close Saturday midnight. Proceeds will be used to pay off a mortgage on a fire truck. R. J. Mann is general chairman of the fair and has Fire Chief John Franko as his assistant.

Drops Worries Clark Takes Vacation

Murders, holdups, robberies and the traffic problem are not going to worry Director James M. Clark of the Department of Public Safety, for the next 10 days, for he will be on his vacation. He is enroute with Mrs. Clark and Miss Peggy Clark for camp Ken-Jockетee, near Hanover, Vt.

While Miss Clark will spend the summer at the camp, Director Clark and her step-mother will continue to Atlantic City. They intend to return to Pittsburgh, July 5. Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh will look after Mr. Clark's affairs while the latter enjoys his rest.

RUM, 5 STILLS DESTROYED BY DRY RAIDERS

250-Gallon Plant Found in Finley Twp. Farm House; Suspect Held Under Bond

Visiting five places yesterday, federal prohibition agents destroyed five stills and large quantities of mash and moonshine. Of five men arrested, one was held under bond.

The largest plant was discovered in a farm house in Finley Township, where a still of a 250-gallon capacity was destroyed. No one was found in the place. In a shed in the rear of 13½ Dick street, a 100-gallon outfit was demolished, the raiders said. Giovanni Paganda and Carlo D'Angelo were summoned for hearings in connection with the raid, it was reported.

FREED ON BOND

Francis Wagner, 21, of 2927 Brecker street, was released on a $1,000 bond following the seizure of a 75-gallon still at that address, according to the agents.

Frank Lachowicz, of 306 Campbell street, and Charles Grej and Frank Kuvatroski, of 322 Shingiss street, all McKees Rocks, were notified to appear for hearings in connection with seizures of stills at their homes, according to the agents' reports.

Police of the Frankstown Avenue Station last night raided a house at 6486 Frankstown avenue, where, they reported, they seized a small quantity of moonshine and arrested Patsy Fitzgerald, 34, of 7200 Kelly street, charged with keeping a disorderly house, and six persons charged with being visitors.

CHARGES ROBBERY

The raid followed complaint of Mrs. W. B. Smith, of 1003 Franklin street, Wilkinsburg, that her husband had been robbed in the place. Smith was unable to identify any of the occupants as the ones who robbed him. Mrs. Smith told police she would appear in police court today and make charges against other speakeasies.

STOLEN AUTOS FOUND, 4 HELD

Four men arrested in two automobiles said to have been stolen in Pittsburgh were being held in two Ohio towns by police today.

Arrested in the automobile of Daniel Raischick, of 3029 Preble avenue, which, police said, was stolen from Sturgeon and Reedsdale streets, Saturday, Dudley Lidell 24, of 1021 Ridge avenue, and James Lynn, 19, of Nashville, Tenn., were being held by Fremont, O., police, local authorities were notified.

The capture in Youngstown, O., of Bryant Prentiss, 17, of White street, and Dudley Phillips, 15, of Humber way, this city, in a machine reported stolen from the Rev. B. S. Mason, of 2121 Whiteside road, also was reported to local police.

FROLIC TICKET REQUEST RUSH BEGINS

Early Applications Urged To Avoid Last Minute Confusion; Age Limit Set

Application for tickets to the amusement rides at Kennywood Park on July 3, when the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picnic for boys and girls under 16 will be held, are already coming in in increasing numbers.

Every mail brings more requests for ticket strips to the 10 great amusements open to guests of the Sun-Telegraph on that day.

The Whip, the Merry-go-'round, the Old Mill, the Ferris Wheel, the Racer, of choice of one ride in Kiddieland, the Caterpillar, the Miniature Railway, the Seaplanes, the Tilt-a-Whirl, the Tumble Bug, all stand ready for Pittsburgh children under 16 years of age who plan to visit the park on July 3.

It will only be possible to accommodate 8,000 youngsters at the Sun-Telegraph picnic, so applications for tickets should be sent in as soon as possible. Requests for tickets will be granted in the order of their receipt in the mail.

Bring your lunch and carfare, and the Sun-Telegraph will provide a glorious day of pleasant amusement.

Ask for your tickets now and avoid the last minute rush and the chance of being too late. Send all correspondence to the Sun-Telegraph Kennywood Park Picnic Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, stating that you are under 16, and asking for a strip of tickets good at Kennywood Park on Wednesday, July 3.

HOSPITAL HAS DEFICIT

At the annual meeting of the life and contributing members of the Western Pennsylvania Hospital, seven trustees whose terms expired were re-elected for a three-year term. They are Charles D. Armstrong, George S. Davison, George D. Edwards, Joseph H. Holmes, Dr. C. C. Sandels, Henry G. Wasson and John S. Weller.

It was announced that receipts for the fiscal year were $877,000 and expenditures $900,000, leaving a deficit of $12,000.

The cost of free service was $265,000. The state contributed $60,000, or 22 per cent. The hospital paid the remainder.

The hospital reported for the fiscal year 191,301 hospital days, or an average of 524 patients every day of the year. The average occupancy of the 600 beds was 87 per cent. There were 931 births.

The death rate among the patients was 5½ per cent. This was a little higher than usual, and may be accounted for by deaths in the influenza epidemic of January and February.

POST ARRANGES CONTESTS

Preparations for the program for the regular monthly meeting of the Homewood Post of the American Legion, to be held Wednesday, July 3, in the Legion headquarters at 7212 Kelly street, have been completed.

Three novel contests, a "Loud Necktie," "Hot Sock," and "Father and Son" contests, will feature the social program. Only members of the post can compete, and a member can only win one prize. George Gillmore, Edward Gluckson, E. J. Dieter, Jr., R. Landers, and C. H. Dick are the judges.

Joseph Roth, membership chairman, and his committee, will bring in a number of new candidates to receive the legion obligation which will be given by the post initation team composed of Commander R. S. Hoerr, Roth, J. H. Elder, Jr., A. M. Foster, L. E. McKelvey and J. R. Landers.

Councilman, Auto Club Head, Pays Parking Fine

Councilman J. C. Zwingler, of McKeesport, who also is president of the McKeesport Automobile Club, drew a tag for a parking violation and promptly went to the police station and paid $1 fine. Traffic Inspector J. H. Newlin had placed the tag on the councilman's car.

Dog Bites Child Playing in Yard

Alice Huot, 9, of 3 Neptune street, while playing in the yard of the St. James Parochial School, at Sanctus and South Main streets, yesterday, was bitten on the right arm by a dog, said to be owned by James McDonald, 71 South Main street. The girl's wound was cauterized by Dr. L. D. Rubenstein, 30 Wabash avenue. The owner of the dog was notified by the West End police to keep the animal tied up

INSTALLATIONS ON AMARANTH PROGRAM

Final Business Sessions on Schedule Today; Tour and Theater Party End Meet

Installation of the newly-elected officers tonight will bring the business sessions of the thirty-second annual assembly of the Supreme Council, Order of the Amaranth, to a close in the William Penn Hotel.

Various committee reports and unfinished business occupy the two sessions during the day. Tomorrow morning will be given over to a sightseeing tour while the closing event on the convention program will be a theater party in the afternoon.

An all-day election session was necessary yesterday, due to contests for the offices of supreme secretary and supreme associate conductors.

Officers elected were as follows: Supreme royal matron, Mrs. Maud G. Pettis, of New York; supreme associate royal matron, Mrs. L. Ione Ford, Alhambra, Cal.; supreme royal patron, Foster W. Cline, Denver; supreme associate royal patron, Dr. Phillip J. Jones, Hartford; supreme treasurer, Mrs. Sadie McIntosh, Jersey City; supreme conductress, Mrs. Florence M. Bostwick, Philadelphia; supreme trustees, Charles Thompson, Mrs. Margaret Matz, Mrs. Martha Moran; chief commissioner of appeals, Dr. Geoffrey Pettis; supreme secretary, Mrs. Anna Shipman, re-elected; supreme associate conductress, Mrs. Myrtle Weidman.

PENNSYLVANIA DINERS

ALADDIN found rubies growing on trees... That was good... But perhaps cherries are the better fruit.

They have the ruby beauty and the ruby heart. Inside the cherry, all tenderness—but poignant—mysterious, vorful, tart juices.

Try it this week on Pennsylvania Diners... A true "Arabian Nights" surprise awaits you beneath the golden crust... And it's only one of many delicacies on the menu.

541 TEACHERS SECURE FRICK FUND SCHOLARSHIPS

AWARDS MADE AT ANNUAL MEETING

Judge Buffington Presides Over Distribution of More Than $100,000 in Tuitions

Five hundred forty-one teachers in the Pittsburgh public schools were granted scholarships for summer study to 60 institutions of their own choice at the twentieth annual meeting of the Henry C. Frick Educational Commission in Pirate Hall of the William Penn Hotel last night. The awards total over $100,000.

Thirty-six of the scholarships are for study abroad, 101 for the University of Pittsburgh, 88 for Columbia, 44 for the University of California, 22 for Carnegie Tech, 19 for the University of Wisconsin and 44 for Pennsylvania State University.

800 AT DINNER

About 800 attended the meeting and dinner, of which Judge Joseph Buffington, president of the commission, was toastmaster. Judge J. Warren Davis, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals; David E. Kaufman, United States Ambassadore to Bolivia, and Dr. S. E. Weber, associate superintendent of schools delivered addresses, which were followed by distribution of scholarship awards.

HELPS CHILDREN

For the purpose of helping the children of the city through the further education of the teachers, the Frick Educational Commission was established in 1909 by Henry C. Frick. The interest of $250,000 was put in the hands of the late Dr. John A. Brashear to be awarded annually in scholarships to city teachers.

In 1916 when another $250,000 was added and only then at the solicitation of the commission the name of the donar of this fund was made known.

TAX REFUND

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP.)—The estate of Henry C. Frick, of Pittsburgh, received a refund of $244,163 for over-assessment of income tax and interest in 1917, it was announced by the bureau of internal revenue. The over-assessment results from a reallocation of dividends received during 1917 and determination of the tax liability with respect thereto at rates prescribed by law for the years in which the profits or surplus from which the dividends were paid were found to have been accumulated by the distributing corporations and to a decision of the United States Supreme Court.

CITY WARNED ON FIREWORKS

"Citizens might club together and have fireworks celebrations in public places on the Fourth of July, if the proper caution is shown," Pfarr said.

Gratified that the police intend to regulate the explosion of fireworks, Pfarr warned that a city ordinance prohibits the handling of explosives by other than licensed or experienced persons.

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, emphasizing the great loss of life and property, said that property losses traceable to firecrackers averaged $800,000 in the United States annually.

ST. CLAIR ROAD TO BE GRADED

An order from court authorizing the grading and surfacing of Willowbrook boulevard in Upper St. Clair Township will be followed immediately by the improvement of the highway, according to an announcement today by the Board of Township Supervisors.

The boulevard forms a new connection between the Johnson and McMurray roads with the Washington road about a mile north of Thompsonville. The new thoroughfare opens up a wide stretch of country which is being rapidly taken for suburban residences. It is about two miles in length.

Secretarial School Exercises Tomorrow

Commencement exercises of Grace Martin's Secretarial School will be held tomorrow at the William Penn Hotel. John A. Adams, principal of the Perry High School, will deliver the principal address. Pauline Bageant, of Winchester, Va., is first honor student, and Ruth Ager, St. Mary's, Pa., second honor student.

Divorce Asked for Desertion of Wife

William J. Renziehausen, 824 Halkett avenue, Braddock, married in 1920, has filed a libel in divorce in Common Pleas Court against Anna May Renziehausen. He alleges she deserted him in 1924.

Elks' Porter Finds Baby on Steps To Club

YOUNGSTOWN, O. June 26.—Eugene Machen, porter at the Elks club, discovered a baby wrapped in a clean, pink blanket, on the steps leading to the club house yesterday.

Machen was attracted by the infant's cries.

BALLOON PRIZE GIVEN RACERS

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP.)—The holders of the world record for distance in a free balloon, Lieut. T. G. W. Settle, of Washington, and Ensign Wilfred Bushnell, of New York, both Navy aeronauts, were presented with the Litchfield trophy, awarded annually to thee winner of the national elimination balloon race.

The two naval fliers won the event this year by landing their craft on Prince Edward Island, Canada, 952 miles from the starting place at Pittsburgh, which established the new world mark.

Presentation of the trophy was made by Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, president of the National Aeronautical Association, in the presence of Secretary of the Navy Adams, Assistant Secretary Ingalls, Admiral Moffett and P. W. Litchfield, of Akron, O., who donated the trophy in 1924.

SEEK PUGILIST IN SLUGGING

Suffering from a probable skull fracture, Joseph W. Grande, 34, of 604 West North avenue, was in a serious condition in the Allegheny General Hospital today while homicide detectives were endeavoring to learn how he had been injured.

Grande was found lying in East Lacock street, near Federal street, by Arthur Scarlotti, of 1201 Buena Vista street, and Charles Stillwell, of 16 Saturn street, last night.

Detectives Harry Scott and Jerry Deasy, of the homicide squad, said Grande insisted that he was not a victim of violence. He could not, however, account for his injury.

The detectives, after an investigation, expressed belief that Grande had been beaten by an ex-pugilist, for whom a search was instituted.

Shenango Course Engages Artists

SHARON, Pa., June 26.—Four numbers of the Shenango Valley artists' course have been secured. The Russian Symphony choir will be here on October 28, Albert Spalding, violinist, on February 18; Richard Crooks, tenor, on March 10, and Barrere Little Symphony on April 7 or 8.

Unpaved Stretch Won't Be Repaired

MONONGAHELA, Pa., June 26.—A change in plans indicates that the unimproved portion of Route 247 within the Monongahela City limits will not be improved from funds amounting to about $15,000 given the city by the State Highway Department for street improvement purposes.

'TRIAL' TO END PRINTING MEET

Technical lectures on printing this morning and a moot trial on printing education this afternoon completes the final day's program of the eighth annual conference on printing education being held at Carnegie Institute of Technology. The conference opened Monday under the auspices of the Carnegie Institute of Technology and the United Typothetae of America.

The relationship of printing to education and the reliance of one to the other were stressed by speakers at sessions yesterday morning and afternoon.

At the moot trial today, E. E. Sheldon, of Chicago, is presiding judge; T. G. McGrew, of Indianapolis, represents industry, and Merritt W. Haynes, of the Department of Education, American Type Founders Company, champions education.

JOINT FETE FOR '4TH' PROPOSED

Ross Township citizens have been invited to join with West View in a Fourth of July celebration this year by action of the West View Board of Trade.

The West View trade organization already had extended an invitation to residents of Bellevue, where the customary observance was abandoned. While no official reply has been received from the Bellevue Board of Trade indications are that many citizens of both Bellevue and Ross Township will attend the celebration in Boggs Field.

Solicitors reported that the response to the appeal ofr funds on the part of West View citizens was virtually 100 per cent. Those in charge anticipate an attendance of 20,000.

Plans were discussed for the annual outing of the Board of Trade to be held August 29 in North Park.

Officers of the organization were authorized to lay plans for an intensive membership campaign to be begun in September. C. V. Shoup, president, will announce the committees for this drive soon.

SCOOTER RACE PROVES TALK OF TOWN

Children Make Ready for Big Event at West View; Arrangements Completed

Tomorrow's the big day! Scooter races at West View Park are already arousing intense interest among Pittsburgh's younger folk, who will see pupils of 11 North Side schools compete at West View tomorrow for the North Side championship.

Judges who will preside over the meet at West View are: Miss Jane Trefflinger, of the Hall's Grove school; William Breitwieser of the Columbus school and J. A. Schartung of the East Street, City View, and Spring Hill schools.

START IN AFTERNOON

The races will start at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, as announced in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday, after a parade around the ball grounds for which boys and girls should assemble at 1 o'clock.

Everything is all set for a great race. The West View sweepstakes will go down in the history of Pittsburgh, it is said, as the first of a series of events made possible by the Sun-Telegraph's offer of a free "Whoopee" scooter to any boy or girl who obtains one 26-week order for the Sun-Telegraph.

Over a thousand of these subscriptions have come in and every indication is that many thousands of boys and girls in Pittsburgh will find themselves enjoying this summer far more than they have others—a "Whoopee" scooter opens to everyone speedy transportation, exciting games, and athletic fun.

REGISTRATIVE NECESSARY

Pupils of the eleven schools entering the "Whoopee" scooter races at West View tomorrow must register with their principals before the picnic. The Sun-Telegraph can not accept their applications for admission.

Watch for the winners of the $5 gold medal, the 50 amusement tickets, and the 25 amusement tickets—"Whoopee" scooters and the Sun-Telegraph will bring these boys and girls good luck.

Legion Auxiliaries Meet at Monongahela

Ready Funds Short, Pass Award Helps

Nothing succeeds like success. John Posch, 6566 Rowan avenue, recently obtained a position after being out of work for a year and a half. And that started a train of happy incidents, the most recent of which is the receipt of a $5 award from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. The money has gone to Mr. Posch as holder of street car pass No. 32,381.

JOHN POSCH

Mr. Posch bought a copy of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph on his return from church. His pass number was almost the first thing on which his eye fell.

"For 18 months," said Mr. Posch, "I was unable to obtain employment at my trade as a cutter. Not long ago I secured a position with an Oliver avenue custom tailor. But I don't mind telling you that after my long period of idleness this money from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will come in 'mighty handy.'"

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 42,099 | 84,001 | 27,482 | 14,893 | 76,550 |

These passes entitle their holders to receive from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Railways Company passes good all next week:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 11,469 | 42,554 | 70,704 | 02,649 | 37,000 | 68,117 |
| 00,467 | 35,780 | 65,029 | 00,015 | 28,809 | 64,109 |
| 86,029 | 27,425 | 62,381 | 84,413 | 26,584 | 60,023 |
| 80,063 | 18,008 | 55,129 | 78,583 | 14,269 | 50,292 |
| 75,349 | | | | | |

Holders of the following current passes will be awarded $2 at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph offices before July 2:

| | | | | |

Employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Railways Company are not eligible in this campaign. Awards are only made to passes good during the week their numbers are published. This week's passes are tan with green lettering, series No. 26.

Ambridge Man Head Of Beneficial Union

AMBRIDGE, Pa., June 26.—John Bittner, of Ambridge, was re-elected president of the Workmen's Beneficial Union at the close of the national convention of the organization here. Other officers elected are: Vice president, Peter Gletz, of McKees Rocks; secretary, Joseph Pock, of McKees Rocks; financial secretary, Frank Flanhofer, of McKees Rocks, and treasurer, Andrew Hedwig, of Beaver Falls. The next annual convention will be held in McKees Rocks.

Beaver Marriages Setting Record

FOUR INJURED AS AUTOS CRASH

Driver Held After Collision Which Sends Woman to Hospital; Children Hurt

Four persons, two of them children, were injured in a collision of two automobiles at Beechwood boulevard and Alger street late last night. Kenneth Whitaker, 20, of 3928 Nantasket street, driver of a car which Hazelwood station police said crashed into and overturned one driven by Morris Rosen, 787 Hazelwood avenue, was held on a charge of violating the automobile laws.

Those injured were in Rosen's car. They were Mrs. Bessie Rosen, 23, and Anneta Rose, 4, of 787 Hazelwood avenue, and Mrs. Edgar Greenberg, 20, and August Greenberg, 7, of 4136 Delavan street. All were cut about the head and face and sent to their homes after treatment by a nearby physician, except Mrs. Greenberg, who was taken to Mercy Hospital and held for observation.

Church Lawn Fete Closes Tonight

Tonight will bring to a close the lawn fete held by St. Francis de Sales Church on the parish school grounds, Margaret street and Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks. There will be dancing in the school auditorium. Proceeds from this affair will be given to the school building fund.

—Children quickly sensed the idea behind Ex-Lax and parents followed.

THEY didn't read any books on medicine—but they knew they were taking the right thing.

Ex-Lax quickly became popular with the children because of its delicious chocolate flavor. With the first taste they said "Good-bye" to old-time, nasty-tasting cathartics. But the youngsters liked the effect, too. Ex-Lax was gentle, and never upset their little stomachs.

SO EVERY AGE KNOWS OF EX-LAX—FOR CONSTIPATION Parents soon learned that Ex-Lax is effective for them, too. That it is not only delicious but a scientific improvement upon the harsh, nasty-tasting cathartics it is replacing.

CHOCOLATE IMPROVES LAXATIVE EFFECT The laxative ingredient of Ex-Lax is a triumph of chemistry. It is first of all safe, and gentle. Does not disturb digestion nor cause griping. It is not absorbed by the system. And it is not habit-forming.

It does not embarrass. Its action is positive, dependable—yet natural.

There are other possible carriers for the laxative ingredient. But chocolate was chosen for Ex-Lax because it is the ideal medium.

And chocolate, as employed in Ex-Lax, dissolves completely. Carries all of the laxative into the stomach—in the manner best assuring uniform action and full effect.

So Ex-Lax is not just a "candy" laxative. It is chocolated by the exclusive Ex-Lax process, for sound scientific reasons.

Try Ex-Lax! Let it tell its own story. Your druggist has it in two sizes 25c and 50c. Trial size 10c.

A'S STAR WINS 42 OF LAST 51 GAMES

BOB GROVE, the American League's mightiest pitcher, took advantage of the Pirates' idleness yesterday to draw a step ahead of Burleigh Grimes for the distinction of being the leading hurler of the two major leagues in number of games won. The star southpaw of the Athletics, who has been abreast of Grimes with 11 victories and only one defeat, stepped out while Burleigh was loafing on an open date and rang up his twelfth triumph of the year at expense of the lowly Red Sox, putting it up to Burleigh to win today or fall behind.

Bob Grove

Grove is also within one game of Grimes' record for consecutive victories this year. He has won nine in a row since his only defeat of the season, which was suffered at the hands of the White Sox in his fourth engagement of the campaign.

Mack's great southpaw has a remarkable record for one full season and parts of two others. He won his last six games in 1927, won 24 and lost eight last year, and has won 12 and lost one in 1929, so that of his last 51 games pitched he has won 42 against only nine defeats. About the best record since that of Jack Chesbro. Chesbro, however, accomplished his famous feat in a single season, 1904, when he won 41 games and lost 12, a percentage of .774, for the New York Americans.

IN spite of what Grove has accomplished, Manager Connie Mack, when asked on the eve of the recent Yankee series whom he considered the strongest cog in his machine, replied that Outfielder Al Simmons was his most valuable player in the winning of games.

Mack, of course, had the offense mainly in mind, and in the important string of five games with the Hugmen Simmons surely bore out his manager's estimate. Al batted .619 in the series, making 13 hits and scoring 10 runs in 21 times at bat. Among his 13 hits were four home runs, three doubles and one triple, a total of 30 bases, and in addition to the 10 runs scored by himself he batted in nine others.

FRANK (BULL) BROWN, local American Association umpire, and his working partner, George Johnson, came to Pittsburgh yesterday to spend an off day, and both confidently predicted that Steve Swetonic is going to prove a big winner on the slab for the Pirates.

The two umpires based their estimates on what they had seen Swetonic do in the Association last year. "Whatever it is that has caused Swetonic to weaken in some of his games this season, you may rest assured that the trouble is only temporary," said Johnson.

Frank Brown

"THAT boy is a great pitcher, and sooner or later he will prove it. His fast ball has a hop, he has a curve ball that fairly explodes, and besides he has splendid control, is as smart as they come and every pitch he delivers has a definite purpose. "Yes, and the curve ball he breaks close to the plate when he has a batter two and nothing is the best I ever saw," observed Brown. "It may not be a strike but it is so close that the batter fears to let it go by, and it's good night for the hitter when he takes a punch at it and the curve breaks." Johnson picks the Pirates to win the National League pennant unless all the breaks go against them. "I have liked them since they started to get going in early May," he said, "and I think the club is a corker all around. To my eyes the Bucs shape up better than any of the others."

PITTSBURGHERS or former Pittsburghers in other parts of the country appear to be wrought up over the Pirates' great showing in the pennant race to a far greater extent than some of the fans at home. They complain hat they can't find enough to read about the Bucs. The following was received from Los Angeles, Cal.:

"My friends and I are boosters for the Pittsburgh baseball club. The team is not getting from some directions the publicity it deserves. If a New York or a Chicago club wins a game, it is published right and left, but nothing is said of the Pirates' winning almost every game. Go to it, boys. We are pulling for you.
(Signed) "One who is a Pittsburgher yet."

IN his attempt at a successful defense of his title as open golf champion of the United States in the big annual tournament opening tomorrow over the Winged Foot course at Mamaroneck, Johnny Farrell will tackle the toughest job cut out for any sport champion.

Johnny Farrell

Winning the United States open two years in a row under present conditions is conceded to be Sportdom's most difficult task—in fact, a well nigh impossible one.

TRUE, it has been done. Willie Anderson won as many as three consecutive National opens in 1903, 1904 and 1905, and J. J. McDermott did it twice in 1911 and 1912. But things are different now. An open champion in these days was not required to face so many high-class opponents as Farrell will find facing him when he starts his hard battle tomorrow. There will be twice as many top-notch golfers on the Winged Foot links as were on hand for the British open last month. Hagen, Jones, Horton Smith, Mac Smith, Von Elm, Sarazen, Diegel, Voight, Melhorn, Armour, Turnesa, Cooper, Burke and Cruickshank are just some of the boys that Farrell will have to beat to hold his title. Nice job.

BACK from a Western trip on which they won six out of nine games, Pittsburgh's league leaders today begin a string of six games with the Reds, including the first bargain double-header of the year

National Open "Battleground" and Title Aspirant

BUCS' POSITION STRATEGIC AS FOURTH NEARS

BULLETIN.

Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitball ace of the Pirates, who was slated to face the Reds in the opening game of the series at Forbes Field this afternoon, reported to Donie Bush with an injured hip and it was decided to start Ray Kremer against the visitors.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

The close approach of the Fourth of July milestone on the National League highway holds no terrors to the speeding Pirates, who today will attempt to enhance their first-place position with a victory over the skidding Reds.

While being on top when the Glorious Fourth arrives doesn't insure a pennant, by any means, it is a fact that the club which holds to the crest at this period of the race wins a lot of prestige. Wise baseball men are quick to see championship qualities in a team that hovers close to the top once July is reached. Spurts like that put on by the Braves during April and a part of May are generally given just the sort of a "tumble" they deserve, but if the Tribe were still ahead of the pack they naturally would be regarded highly. And by this same token the Pirates must be looked upon as potent contenders.

Donie Bush went into the present campaign surrounded by "ifs" and "buts," but the present status of the club would tend to prove that many of these annoying and aggravating considerations have been removed. The proof of the pudding always is in the eating, and the proof of a ball club's skill lies in its daily performances. Especially against clubs which are rated as being pennant possibilities. Our Pirates have acquitted themselves nobly in competition with the Cardinals, Giants and Cubs.

PITCHERS IMPROVED

Skipper Bush now is confident that his pitchers are at least 30 per cent better than they were during the first couple of weeks of the season. The return to form of

RATE GERMAN CHOICE OVER PAULINO

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 26.—This, take it from me, is a Max Schmeling town. Everyone is convinced that the German heavyweight is a sure pop to walk in with a victory in his 15-round elimination bout with Paulino Uzcudun, the Basque woodchopper, out at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night for the benefit of New York's milk fund, of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman.

All of the fight men are singing the praises of the "German Dempsey" and the newspapers are full of stories of his prowess and predictions that he will outdo the original edition of Dempsey, the man-killer, beginning with this bout.

Paulino, they would have you believe, is just the other fellow tossed into the ring on the theory that it takes two men to make a fight.

MAX RECORD DULL

Methinks all of the wise ones are in for a rude awakening. There is nothing in the records of the rivals to justify such confidence in the younger of the two and such a wholesome lack of respect for the other one. If anything, Paulino looks like the tough hombre and Schmeling the party who remains to prove himself.

There is no question that Schmeling is the man of color in this meeting of contenders for the mantle discarded by Gene Tunney less than a year ago and that it is on him that the ballyhoo has been split. His unbroken string of four conquests since his arrival in this country last year and his feat of knocking out Johnny Risko some months ago have projected him strongly into the limelight and made folks curious about him, while Paulino is pretty much of an old story.

The Basque has been around for several years and never has been anything but just a stumbling block for other fellows. Going nowhere in particular he has managed, nevertheless, to stall traffic all along the line.

Psychologically, Paulino will have all the better of it going into the ring tomorrow night. Few expect him to do much, if anything. The

WOMEN OPEN PLAY IN NET TOURNEY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Women's singles contesting in the forty-first annual Western Pennsylvania net tourney got under way on the Stanton Heights rectangles before noon today. The feature morning tussle found Maybell Steele, Carnegie Tech girls' champion, overcome odds to down Vida Hurst, 1928 Pittsburgh interscholastic titleholder, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. The battle was warm, fought throughout, the greater experience of the Tartan star ultimately determining the issue. Two other early engagements saw Mrs. Winifred Eschner, of Erie, defeat Mary Edwards, home racqueter, 6-0, 6-1, while Rose Straub, Johnstown entry, eliminated Eleanor Lemon, of the East End, 6-1, 6-0.

Clean-up contests in second and third-round men's singles were disposed of at 2 o'clock, and the men's doubles started at 3:30 p. m.

There will be a brief interlude at 5 o'clock, during which the new David I. McCahill three-year men's singles trophy will be formally presented to the Pittsburgh Tennis Association by the donor, noted local racquet enthusiast and horseman, after whom the cup has been named. Chairman J. Phillips Davis of the tournament committee will accept the handsome flagon on behalf of the association.

Yesterday's abbreviated men's singles tally was productive of bits of brilliant and spirited mixing, despite the heavy condition of the turf. Billy O'Loughlin, Duke prep ace and 1928 West Penn runner-up, caught a tartar in Charley Woods, clever University Club tactician, winning 7-5, 14-12.

Meanwhile, Paul Hicks, ex-Princetonian and Edgewood's best, put a quietus on the auspicious rise of Whitey McLain, P. A. A. husky, 6-3, 6-0, and "Tack" Hammer, ever-dangerous Greensburg veteran, dug too many into the ground for Al Bialas, another Winged Head satellite, whose 6-3, 6-3 elimination proved something of an upset. In the fourth engagement of the short affair, Frank Walton, Stanton Heights, added Jimmy Miller, of Shady Side Academy, to his array of victims, the verdict reading 6-1, 6-4.

GOLF'S GREATS TUNE UP FOR OPEN

MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 26.—(AP.)—The rugged course of the Winged Foot Golf Club is all cluttered up with the world's greatest golfers as they went about their final day's practice for the open championship competition opening tomorrow morning.

Some of the star pros and amateurs about to enter the quest for the game's greatest prize took their game to pieces yesterday to see why it would not tick. Others were satisfied and went about hoping that they could keep it just where it was at the conclusion of the day's practice.

BRADY SCORES WELL

The best practice round was contributed by a great golfer, who will use his flexible wrists for handshaking instead of making golf shots. Mike Brady, veteran pro at Winged Foot, who by irony of fate failed to qualify for play in the championship and will confine his activities to being a genial host when the firing begins, played the course in 68 strokes. He was followed closely by Neal McIntyre, pro from Indianapolis, who had a 69.

If any of the other stars broke 70 they kept the feat concealed from the public and their fellows.

Bobby Jones played a good round with Gene Sarazen as a partner against Bill Mehlhorn and Leo Diegel. Walter Hagen and Horton Smith were teamed up against two good amateurs, George Von Elm and Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston.

Few of the players laid unusual stress on their scoring. They were experimenting in the main to see if their previous conclusions as to how to conquer the embattled Winged Foot course were correct.

SMITH NOT WORRIED

MacDonald Smith sized up the situation when he said: "I am not keeping any scores today. They will keep it for me later, and that will be soon enough to worry about the strokes." Bobby Jones said he was well satisfied with his iron play. He was out in 35, but picked up at the twenty-fifth hole when he reached the rough through what he called a "grievous error."

Walter Hagen, the British champion, was not enthusiastic. A friend asked him if he expected to play today. "I'll have to," was the reply. "I'll need it."

COEN, U. S. STAR, BEATEN AT WIMBLEDON

TILDEN, OTHER YANK STARS VICTORS

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26.—(AP.)—Wilmer Allison won the first victory for the United States in the third round of the British men's tennis championships today when he defeated J. D. P. Wheatley, England, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

Helen Wills, American tennis ace, paraded through the second round of the women's singles championships with a victory over Mrs. Schomburgk, of Germany, 6-0, 6-0. It was Miss Wills' second straight conquest of the tournament without the loss of a game.

Tilden, in a joyous mood, seemed about to win 18 straight games from the ranking German player until he lost the second and third game of the third set. He slowed up his pace then and the count then went to deuce and six all. Bill then finished the match with two flashing games.

JUNIOR COEN BEATEN

The American contingent lost one member when Wilbur (Junior) Coen, Kansas City youngster, dropped a hard-fought decision to Christian Boussus, one of the younger French stars. The scores were 6-1, 10-8, 7-5.

John Hennessey came through his match with J. H. Frowen in fairly easy fashion, defeating the Englishman, 6-2, 6-1, 7-5.

Miss Helen Jacobs, the California girl, struck another blow for the United States by defeating Miss L. Rost, England, 6-3, 6-0.

Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, California veteran of many international tourneys, defeated Miss Ermyntrude Harvey, one of England's leading woman players, in another second round match, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

MISS MORRILL BEATEN

Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., lost her second-round match to Miss Eileen Bennett, British star, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, sensation young Englishman who eliminated Francis T. Hunter yesterday, continued his great play today, defeating Jacques Brugnon, of France, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

George Lott, third ranking United States star, easily defeated L. Bonzi, of Italy, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3.

Mrs. L. R. C. Mitchell, of England, defeated Miss E. R. Clarke, Wightman Cup team captain, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Miss Clark eliminated Edith Cross, young Berkeley, California, star in yesterday's first round.

Henri Cochet, the French flash who, according to the "dope" should oppose Tilden in the finals, had a scare in his match with Lyttleton Rogers, of Ireland, before winning, 5-7, 6-0, 9-7, 4-6, 6-3.

BETTY NUTHALL WINS

Miss Betty Nuthall chief British hope for final honors in the women's singles, defeated a formidable opponent in Miss de Round in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, in their second-round match. Betty took no chances and played a strenuous game, characterized by fine length of shots and hard driving.

Also in the second round, Miss K. Bouman of Holland, defeated Miss N. Lyle, of Britain, 8-6, 6-1.

JACOBS VICTOR OVER DOEG

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 26.—(AP.)—John Doeg, of Stanford University, who is rated nationally No. 3, was brushed out of the intercollegiate tennis championships at the Merion Cricket Club yesterday by Edward Jacobs, of Pittsburgh, in a third round match. The scores were 8-6, 6-1.

The Baltimore youth was not swayed by the Californian's scorching service. He played a more experienced game and advanced to the net in the second set to make the last four games a procession.

Sixteen singles players advanced to the fourth round as a result of third round victories. The only other startling defeat was that of E. C. Mather, of Oxford, a Rhoades scholar from the University of Texas, by Berkeley Bell, also of the University of Texas, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0.

Will reaching for the ball tend to produce a hook?

To a certain extent, reaching for the ball will produce a hook. Reaching will give freer arm action and the hands will work faster in pronating, causing a hook.

A'S WIN TWO; GIANTS LOSE

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The home run crown may fall to Master Melvin Ott, the child prodigy from Noo Awlins, and not to Buster Gehrig when Babe Ruth's war club is laid upon the shelf. The midget mauler smacked his twenty-first homer of the season against Brooklyn yesterday and now leads the sluggers of both leagues. He had been tied with Gehrig.

Despite Marvelous Melvin's circuit clout, the Giants were unable to break the Brooklyn jinx and lost their fifth straight game to the Robins, 12 to 10. Five runs behind in the ninth, the battering Brooklyns tied the score and then won out in the tenth, Picinich's homer and Hendrick's triple climaxing the two outbursts.

The Athletes stretched their lead over the Yankees to a full 10 games by two-timing the Red Sox, 7 to 1 and 8 to 2, while the Yanks were idle. Mule Haas collected seven hits and Grove and Shores pitched, Grove turning in his ninth straight victory and his twelfth win of the season in the opener.

The Phillies lost their ninth straight by dropping a 5-to-4 decision to the Braves, but came out of their slump with a bang by scoring six runs in the ninth of the second game, winning, 8 to 6.

Walter Stewart, of the Browns, turned in a two-hit classic in blanking Cleveland, 8 to 0, after the Indians had scalped the Howleymen in the opener, 10 to 7. Lon Luis Fonseca drove in seven of Cleveland's runs in the first game.

Detroit's steam-roller attack broke loose with a roar as the Tigers piled up 11 runs in the seventh inning of their game with the White Sox. The Sox eventually emerged from the debris on the short end of a 14-to-2 count.

Deacon Litz Enters Bridgeville Race

The most colorful array of automobile racers ever to gather in this section, will be presented to the thousands of followers of this thrilling pastime July 4 afternoon at the Pittsburgh-Bridgeville board speedway. Director B. Ward Beam, who already has the signatures of seven drivers who competed in both the Indianapolis and Altoona races this year, announces that he will have the blanks of at least a dozen more celebrites ere the list closes.

The latest to send in his blank is Deason Litz, the giant of the game, who stands more than 6 feet and tips the scale at 230.

TINNEY WINS TWO

CADDIES TURN IN EXCELLENT SCORES

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

From the scores the caddies are turning in as they qualify at the various clubs for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's second annual Western Pennsylvania junior amateur golf tourney for the William Randolph Hearst trophy, to be held Thursday, July 11, over the Schenley Park public links course, it is evident that the winner of the event will have to play almost record breaking golf.

The caddies, the only potential entrants who have to qualify for the tourney, have been playing some fine golf at the various club qualifying events. Peter Halahan, the 15-year-old lad, who scored a 73 at Schenley Monday, indicated that he must be figured upon for serious scoring in the tournament itself. Jimmy Scajbarretti turned in a 76 over the same course, no mean total.

SCORES GOOD

Over the difficult Butler Country Club course, Johnny Fragale recorded a 94 and Russell Kinney a 95. At all the clubs where the caddies have qualled so far, good scores have been in order. It is safe to predict that last year's winning total will be lowered in this year's event.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's tournament is open to all amateur junior golfers, 18 years of age and under, not attending classes above high school grades. There is no entry fee, but all contestants must provide their own clubs.

Caddies playing in the qualifying rounds at their various clubs (and none can enter individually from any one club if a qualifying round is held there), must be 15 years of age or under, for any boy who accepts money for caddying after his sixteenth birthday is immediately professionalized, and is not eligible to this, an amateur tournament.

NO RESIDENCE LIMIT

There is no limit on your residence, either — you can jive anywhere and enter the tournament, providing you can assure the Golf Tournament Editor regarding your amateur status and other requirements.

The four low scorers in each caddie quadifying round will play for a team championship cup, as well as for the individual prizes. The cup will be held by the club which the winning team represents, and medals will be presented the boys.

All entries must be in the hands of the Golf Tournament Editor on or before Friday, July 5—so there is little time to waste. The entry list is well over the 300 mark with the qualifying rounds included, and it is growing every day. No post entries will be accepted, so don't take a chance on having yours held up until too late by the mails.

PIRATES WIN OVER TOLEDO

Fred Fussell, Pirate southpaw, pitched a fine game, yielding but five hits. The Buccos got seven, and made them count.

Pittsburgh used both its new players, Ingram, an outfielder, and Clarke, a shortstop. The latter played second and short and Ingram galloped about in left field. Both of the new men got hits, each cracking out singles.

The Pirates scored right off the bat, Lloyd Waner smashing out the only extra-base hits of the game when he tripled with Bartell on first. Bartell got on through the medium of a fumble.

The Bucs scored again in the fifth. Toledo scored in its half of the inning, and both teams tallied again in the seventh. That ended the scoring.

Four Crews Elect Captains for 1930

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—(INS.)—Four of the varsity crews which competed in the intercollegiate regatta here elected captains for next year before leaving for home.

Pete Donlon, stroke of California's 1928 Olymic winner, was chosen to lead the Bears. Washington picked Warren Davis, of Hoquiam, Wash., who rowed at bow.

M. I. T. chose Thilitus Holt, of Colorada, who was at the No. 3 sweep. Harold Deming, of Springfield, Mass., who rowed at No. 7 in the Syracuse junior varsity, was elected to captain the Orange varsity.

Pete Barnum Injured in Mill, Dies

BALTIMORE, June 26.—(AP.)—Robert (Pete) Barnum, 27, former Parkersburg, W. Va., high school and West Virginia University track and football star, died late last night at the Maryland General Hospital from burns received when he fell into a vat of molten metal at the Sparrows Point plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation last Friday.

Barnum, for the last two years had been a member of the Bethlehem Grays, professional football team representing the steel company, and had been employed as a steel puddler at the mill. Friday he stumbled and fell into the vat, saving himself from instant death and cremation in the metal by grasping a ledge until pulled out by fellow workers. He was a star track and football backfield man.

GOTHAM GOES FOR POPULAR SCHMELING

burden of producing is almost entirely on the shoulders of the young German, who so much resembles Jack Dempsey in looks and general appearance. But the same has been true of Paulino in many of his other fights, and he always puts up the same sort of a steady, plugging, plodding battle that wears out his opposition in the end. There's nothing brilliant about the Basque, and nothing inspiring, either, but he gets results.

LENGTH SUITS BASQUE

The 15-round route would appear to be ideally suited for Paulino against Schmeling. Max will have to set the pace to make good the boasts of his legion of followers, and he figures to have his troubles getting past the arm-and-elbow defense of Paulino and to wear himself out trying. In 10 rounds, his forcing tactics might win for him, but it is a big question if he can be the aggressor from the first bell and still have enough left to stave off the Basque's closing challenge in 15 rounds.

There is no comparison between the records of the men. The wise ones will tell you that Paulino lacks a punch and is only a mauler, yet his record shows that he has scored 28 knockouts in 46 bouts, exactly as many as Schmeling in the same number of starts.

And the caliber of his opponents has been considerably higher than that of men Maxie has met. He has been in there with Harry Wills, Tom Heeney, Knute Hansen, Jack Delaney, Johnny Risko, George Godfrey, Otto von Porat, Jack Renault, K. O. Christner and others of note, while the only men aside from the nondescript lot of Europeans Schmeling has met have been Joe Monte, Joe Sekyra, Pietro Corri and Johnny Risko. Almost all of Maxie's reputation, therefore, has been based on his nine-round knockout of Risko after Johnny had been softened up by George Godfrey. And, at that, Risko got up after being floored at the start and was beating Schmeling up to the time he fell a victim to the latter's right cross with only a little more than a round to go.

NEVER BEEN STOPPED

Paulino never has been stopped, despite the imposing list of opponents he has faced. The same cannot be said of Schmeling, who has been knocked out three times, twice technically by one Fred Hammer and Larry Gains, the latter the Canadian Negro, and the other time for the full count by Gypsy Daniels, fourth-rate English heavyweight, as recently as February of last year.

Never having seen Schmeling fight, I am not going on record as picking Paulino to win over him, but I am strongly inclined to believe that this will be the outcome of the battle for sweet charity's sake. They tell me Maxie has shown amazing progress during his American campaign, and he is in intelligent hands, with Joe Jacobs, Pete Reilly and Billy McCarney behind him. He has a good left, but his right cross is his most dangerous weapon. Paulino's best bets are his unbounded courage, rugged strength and a natural left hook. If Schmeling can't "take it," as his record against seasoned opponents leads one to believe he can't, Paulino is the sort to make the fat stand out like a sore thumb.

BETTING LIGHT

For a big battle that shapes up like a tossup at best, there is a remarkably small amount of betting on this shindy. This probably is due to the fact that almost everybody and his brother on the scene of action likes Schmeling and there is a shortage of dough on the other guy.

Interest in the show, which was slow in coming to a boil, has picked up considerably in the last few days, and the boys will be fighting to a $500,000 gate, at the least. Tickets sell for from $3 up to $50, and there will be no radio broadcast of the show.

Otto von Porat and K. O. Christner, both of whom have blown decisions to the underrated Paulino this year, are in the 10-round semi-final, and there is considerable interest in their meeting.

COAST BOUTS ARRANGED

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 26.—(AP.)—Tom Gatlery, manager of the American Legion stadium, announced today the matching of Fred (Dummy) Mahan, deaf-mute, with Freddy Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, O., for a 10-round welterweight bout July 12 and Vincent Forgione, of Philadelphia, with Oe Roche, San Francisco Italian, for a 10-round middleweight scrap July 19.

SYKES REED TO BECOME JUNE GROOM

By JESS CARVER.

June appears to be a dangerous month for the athletes. They are either getting themselves licked, like Pete Bowen, or married. Pat Reagan, Duquesne University line coach, now booked to make his appearance as assistant mentor at Villa Nova, was the first of the local athletes to take unto himself a wife, and now Dr. Sykes Reed, former Pitt basketball and baseball star will join the charmed circle of the boys who have to ask when they want to go out nights.

Sykes Reed

Dr. Reed, a practicing dentist, is to be married Saturday evening to Miss Charlotte Miller, of Braddock. The ceremony will take place in the Lutheran church.

PAULINO, SCHMELING ON EDGE FOR BOUT

HEAVIES PRIME WITH LIGHT EXERCISES

By PAULINO UZCUDUN,
Who Boxes Max Schmeling in a 15-Round Elimination Bout in New York Tomorrow Night.

(Translated from Basque by Interpreters).

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., June 26. —For only the second time during nearly a month in which I have been training for my bout with Max Schmeling it rained yesterday, but not enough to interfere with my scheduled light exercises—a long walk, punching the bags and shadow boxing.

Paulino Uzcudun.

I weighed just 193 pounds yesterday afternoon, a five-pound increase from last Friday when Manager Paul Arthus decided I was too fine at 188. I think I will weigh in at from 192 to 194 for tomorrow night's battle in New York.

Since Schmeling and I are to box for the Milk Fund, which benefits its children chiefly, it pleases me much to learn that the new-born twin daughters of local parents have been christened Pauline and Paulina Rowe. I defy my opponent to equal that honor; . t. who knows but that some good German father will name his twin sons Mack and Max? That is, if such births happen before tomorrow.

I plan to continue my light exercises today and get myself all ready for that most enjoyable pleasure of all—the airplane ride, tomorrow morning, to New York. Be assured from my heart that Paulino never felt more fit to fight than he does at present. Nothing bothers me, everything would seem to amuse me.

IN FINE HUMOR

It is not difficult at all to keep in humor as one approaches a big fight, if one does not take too seriously all the wild rumors that fly about as part of what Americans call the "ballyhoo," that is, the steaming up of interest in a coming event.

For example, my friends tell me that the newspapers are giving considerable space now to the report that my left elbow is crippled and that I cannot straighten out that arm shoulder-high as most people can.

Well, it is true I cannot straighten out that arm, which was injured years ago in a bout in France, when I slipped and landed on that elbow, fracturing some bones which have healed long ago. That old injury has been no secret; in fact, I heard Manager Arthus refer to it in talks with newspapermen several times in the past few weeks.

But my left is far from crippled, and I think that somewhat stiff elbow increases the force of my left hooks. My associates and I enjoyed hearty laughs when informed that Senor Pedro Reilly, the mystery man of Max Schmeling's advisory staff, had puzzled reporters by solemnly alleging that my left elbow tends to make me punch too low. Poor Pedro is worrying so much over Paulino's battle-scarred left, which is still, of course, my best punching arm, as any competent fight follower knows.

SORRY FOR REILLY

Perhaps poor Pedro, who, you must not forget, was the manager of Jack Delaney when he won from me a year ago on an invisible foul, should be pardoned for worrying so much over an elbow. Indeed, some of the witty boxing writers say that Senor Reilly's brilliant Delaney might be contending for the championship yet if it were not for a too agile elbow.

Si, I will have more motives than fame and fortune when I start to chop down that Reilly-Jacobs meal ticket tomorrow night. Si, I earnestly hope to give Max Schmeling what Jack Delaney just missed.

SCHMELING READY

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 26.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling did a few miles on the road this morning as his final preparation for the Milk Fund bout with Paulino in New York tomorrow night. He didn't need much work after his torrid workout yesterday before a big crowd of spectators.

Benny Touchstone, the Florida heavyweight who had been sparring with Paulino at the Hoosick Falls camp, said the German did not look good enough to beat the Basque. On the other hand, Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion, said Max appeared to be a truly great fighter.

Schmeling will leave for New York by automobile at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and go directly to the offices of the boxing commission to weigh in.

Noted Dogs Entered In Sewickley Show

According to E. M. Joel, show secretary for the Sewickley Kennel Club, which will hold its annual exhibit of canine artistocrats Saturday in the horse show ring at the Allegheny Country Club, the forthcoming show will have on display more different breeds than any past exhibition under similar auspices.

The entry list is a large and classy one, and the diversity of breeds makes it attractive to all dog lovers, regardless of their individual tastes.

RACE DRAWS STARS

The modified marathon run in connection with the track and field meet to be held at Oliver High school field in Brighton road on Saturday, under the auspices of the Twenty-Seventh Ward Athletic Club has attracted a field of 25 distance runners.

Long's Sport Comment

at Forbes Field next Saturday. Five of the games are to be played here and the sixth in Cincinnati next Sunday.

Six consecutive games with the tailenders might look like a soft spot to the Cardinals, who have defeated them 14 times in 17 meetings to date, but the program does not promise to be a joy ride for the Pirates. Red Lucas has beaten the Bucs nine times in succession. Pete Donohue upset them last week when he couldn't beat any other club. Luque generally gives the locals a fight, and all around the series look like one in which the Bushmen will find it wise to keep hustling every minute.

WHILE the boxing authorities and promoters are trying to hit upon the best plan of making some return to the fans who paid to see shows in which the main bouts were ended in short order by foul blows, a method of squaring things at the Meyers Brothers Bowl in North Braddock suggests itself.

Paulino Uzcudun

First Tony Herrera fouled Phil Goldstein there, and last Monday night Buck McTiernan fouled Andy Di Vodi. As a result the patrons did not get a run for their money on either occasion. The fans who pay at the gate and keep the boxing game going are the ones who are entitled to first consideration. Why not rematch Herrera-Goldstein and McTiernan-Di Vodi for 10-round bouts at a special show, the double windup to be preceded by, say, a four-round opener and a six-round number? That card ought to draw a house large enough to reimburse the promoters adequately for the extra cost, and it would give the fans what they paid for before and did not get.

ON the eve of the Max Schmeling-Paulino Uzcudun heavyweight elimination fight of 15 rounds at the big Milk Fund charity show tomorrow night at the Yankee Stadium in New York, the majority of boxing critics are still confidently prophesyng a victory for Paulino. They are basing it all on Paulino's ability to "eat" punishment until his opponent tires from his own efforts and the rough going, and then to unleash an unpolished but damaging offense of his own which they figure will carry him to victory in the late stages of the scheduled 15-round combat.

BUT it is possible that they are overlooking some of Schmeling's good qualities while dwelling upon those of the Spaniard. The main item against the German is that he has been idle since February.

If he doesn't show any ill effects as a result of that long loaf, his speed, fair boxing ability and punch will give him a much better [illegible] to him.

SOLMEN SIGNED FOR GO WITH ZELNACK

After a layoff of more than a month, Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, will come back to the ring against Chuck Zelnack, the Glassport football player, in the second bout at the Meyers Bowl Monday night. Solmen left the ring shortly after his fight with Buck McTiernan at the Moose Temple, where Buck knocked him out in the tenth round. In the Zelnack bout, Mickey will be fighting as a middleweight, as he has acquired at least 15 pounds since his last fight.

Jack Zivic, local welter, and Sgt. Sammy Baker, of Mitchel Field, New York will be the main contestants of the show. Incidentally Baker is meeting Georgie Levine in the main go at Dexter Park tonight. The bout was scheduled for Monday night but threatening weather caused the postponement.

Howard Williams, Swissvale Negro, has been matched to trade punches with Joey Feldman, of Cleveland, for six rounds in the third bout of the show. Williams made quite a name for himself when he stopped Georgie Kerston at McKeesport last winter, and since then has been winning consistently. Both boys will fight at 148 pounds.

Matchmaker Jules Beck is trying to bring together Johnny Haggerty and Young Nanci for the semi-final. In their second meeting, three weeks ago, both were close to being stopped several times.

Rain and threatening skies resulted in the postponement of the Chuck Wiggins and George Godfrey 12-round heavyweight bout at Taylor Bowl, Cleveland, from last night until tonight.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, and Frankie Buff, of New Kensington, have been matched to fight the semi-final to the Cuddy DeMarco-Eddie Frisco bout scheduled next Monday night at the Charleroi ball park. This show is for the benefit of the Charleroi Mid-Atlantic League team.

Along with the Wiggins-Godfrey postponement the rain also forced the Al Singer-Dominick Petrone embroglio in New York to cover, but if the weather permits, the two will take to the ring tonight.

Frankie Genero, the National Boxing Association flyweight champion, and Art Giroux, of Canada, are matched for a 10-round bout at Montreal tonight. Mike Dundee, Rock Island junior lightweight, will meet Jackie Dugan, of Louisville, tonight in the 10-round feature bout at Dayton, Ky.

GRIMES READY FOR REDS

Kremer probably will boost the sharpshooters to that degree in itself, and Bush looks for plenty of victories from Steve Swetonic and Ervin Brame, not to mention one or two others.

Grantham has been pushed around a lot, with this manager or that saying he would not do on second, yet if you were to pick one player over another who deserves most credit for the rise of the club it would be hard to pass up Boots. It may be that there several on the team who are out in front of Grantham in value, just the same it would be difficult to pick these boys over George.

BARTELL REAL STAR

Little Dick Bartell seems to be playing as well as any shortstop in the game, with the result that the infield is functioning in a delightful manner. The outfield, composed of the Waner boys and the Flying Pole, is hard to eclipse.

In all events, the club is all set to begin another big advance. They have six games in a row on their card, a doubleheader being scheduled for Saturday. This double bill will mark the twentieth anniversary of Forbes Field. After the two games are completed the Pirates and the Reds will move to Cincinnati for a single game on Sunday.

Burleigh Grimes is due to work today. The ace of the slab staff nursed a lame hip when he came to Pittsburgh yesterday, but he felt that he would be able to take his turn on the mound.

Capt. Pie Traynor also came on ahead of the club, his broken nose getting the benefit of a rest day. Pie is anxious to stay at his post and probably will.

Adolf Luque or Eppa Rixey probably will be the pitching selection for the Reds.

Long Shot Winner At Night Racing

TOLEDO, June 26.—(AP.)—The first Grand Circuit meeting in history at night opened here last night with a crowd estimated at 10,000 viewing a five-race program.

A long shot, and the major upset, was recorded in the featured 12-class pace won by Dean Wilson with Wirt Mallow in the sulky. Col. Strong, Valentine's crack pacer, which won at Lexington, was the favorite and won the first heat with Kenney Direct second and Riley third. In the second heat Mallow brought his charge through when the tiring Colonel faltered and fell back to fifth, and rewarded the backers of the Joe Wilson gelding with $144.80 for each $2 ticket.

Another long shot went over when Henry Thomas won the first heat of the claiming pace with Senna Tee.

With action booked for four courses, 16 W. P. G. A. clubs will break out into action today in the first round of the team championship play. St. Clair, Fox Chapel, Field Club and Oakmont will be the scenes of action.

At Oakmont, Hannastown, Fox Chapel, Stanton Heights and Allegheny will compete; Chartiers Heights, Alcoma, Longue Vue and Greensburg will play at the Field Club; Westmoreland, Highland, Field Club and Valley Heights will battle at St. Clair and Oakmont, Shannopin, St. Clair and South Hills play at Fox Chapel.

WATSON-SEIFERD TIE

W. P. Watson and G. Seiferd tied for the net honors in the Bankers Club of Pittsburgh tournament held at the Edgewood Country Club yesterday, having 66s. Each was out in 101 and had a 35 handicap.

J. H. Neish opened the Booby Prize with 145, and F. G. Bishoff won the kickers' handicap, having a net 73. O. L. Long had the low gross, an 83.

Chicago CopsFeature At Washington Park

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP.)—Chicago, great 6-year-old son of Granite, still carries on in a winning fashion. Yesterday the pet of the F. M. Grabner stable was tossed into a mile-and-an-eighth gallop for 3-year-olds and up at Washington Park, and he proceeded to give his younger opponents a lesson in winning races in record time. In capturing the event and $1,350 for his owner, Chicago was forced to equal the track record of 1:51.

W. Curran's 4-year-old Jack Higgins finished only a neck behind the winner. The short end of the purse went to Mrs. E. Denemark's Frances Milward.

LOCAL WOMEN ADVANCE

BUFFALO, June 26.—Two Pittsburgh players start out this morning in the second round of match play, championship flight, in the women's ninth annual invitation tournament at the Buffalo Country Club. One, Mrs. W. C. Boggs, opposed Buffalo's brilliant younger star, Peggy Wattles, thrice holder of the district title and once a successful qualifier in the women's national. Miss Anjeanette Hunter, the other Pittsburgher successful in the first-round series, meets Mary Nixon, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Boggs won her first-round match when she defeated Cecil Eustace Smith, Toronto, 5 and 4. Miss Hunter eliminated Helen Little, Rochester, 2 and 1.

The third Pittsburgh contestant in the titular flight, Mrs. F. Campbell, was put out by Miss Dora Virtue, Montreal, 8 and 6.

Tiger Golfers Win Third Team Title

DEAL, N. J., June 26.—(AP.)—For the third time in as many years, Princeton won the intercollegiate golf team championship yesterday, but only after play-off battle with a fighting team from Yale.

After winding up two days of golf with the identical tally of 643 strokes, the well-matched teams of these traditional rivals went out on the links at sunset to settle the issue in nine holes of medal play, and the Tigers won by 164 strokes to 173.

In third place, behind Princeton and Yale, at the end of the double session, which comprised the team championship and the qualifying rounds for the individual competition as well, came Georgetown with 647. Detroit was fourth, 665, and Harvard, fifth, 679.

Gladman, Partner Win in Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., June 26.—(AP.)—The women's intercollegiate tennis championship advanced slowly yesterday as a result of Monday's deluge, which rendered most of the Longwood grass courts unplayable. But five matches, including one doubles, were played during the day.

Marjorie Gladman and Josephine Cruickshank, the University of Southern California doubles team, made the second round by defeating the Radcliffe team, composed of Maribelle Vinson and Dianne Cummings, 6-1, 6-1.

DAN BILLICK WINS

WALTHAM, Mass., June 26.—Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, knocked out Eddie Roberts in the seventh round of their scheduled eight-round bout here last night. Roberts after failing to gain consciousness in his corner was rushed to a hospital where he recovered two hours later. His condition is not serious, however.

TOMMY CRAWLEY NOTICE

Tommy Crawley, boxer, is requested to call Jules Beck at Duquesne 21908 at 7:30 this evening.

GRAYS INJURED IN SMASHUP

LEWISTOWN, Pa., June 26.—(AP.)—Six members of the Homestead Grays, Negro baseball team of Pittsburgh, were injured near McVeytown yesterday when the motor car in which they were making a trip to this town, was wrecked. With the exception of Walter Canady, who remained at Dr. Black's hospital for observation, the injuries consisted of bruises and lacerations.

The other players injured were Sanford Jackson, E. W. Graham, Joe Williams, Oscar Owens and Jap Washington. All were treated at the Lewistown hospital.

SANDLOT UMPS FAIL TO AGREE ON RULING

By TOM BIRKS.

It becomes very evident that the umpires will have to get together on the play where the batsman is hit with a batted ball that seemingly smashes down on the plate and hits the batsman.

This particular play in the National League usually finds the umpires calling it a foul ball and strike.

On the sandlots however, different umpires have different ideas as to how this play should be called. The question cropped up in a game that meant much the other evening, and with runners on the sacks and one out, the batsman, a right hander, hit the ball which seemed to hit the plate, and as the runner started to run, the ball hit him. The umpire promptly called him out, which may or may not have been the right decision. The following evening the same play came up, and the umpire called it a foul.

TEAM WANTS GAMES

Manager McConnell, of the Wilmerding West Penn League team, is looking for a game at home Friday evening and a game Sunday abroad. With the Airbrake nine in a tie for first place in the loop, Manager McConnell wants to keep the club busy. Two games abroad July 4 are wanted. Manager wishing to book the Airbrake nine call Valley, 533-J.

Manager Pete Elder, of the North Bessemer nine, is expecting a large crowd tomorrow evening, when the Dan Heeps travel to the Railroad grounds to meet his outfit. Honus Wagner has agreed to be at the game, and the presence of the "Flying Dutchman" should pack in the fans.

The game at West View Park July 4, between Pleasant Valley and Stowe Civics, will start at 3 p. m. This game is going to be the feature attraction at the park. Independence Day, and should attract a large crowd.

RAIN HALTS TEAMS

Rain put an effective check on the sandlot baseball program last evening, only a few games being played. In the Inter-County League, Dormont nosed out the Jimmy Smiths by a close 5-to-4 count. The J. J. Boyles met defeat at the hands of the Stephens club in a Gimbel Major League game, 11 to 10. Rankin won over the Braddock Owls in a Tri-Boro League fracas, 2 to 0. Pitcairn defeated the Havana Red Sox, 7 to 3, and the J. A. Thomes nine won its second game in as many evenings, defeating Pleasant Valley, 6 to 1.

RAILS, UTILITIES LEAD STOCK ADVANCE

Losses of May Reaction in Industrials Virtually Erased by Recent Rise

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP.)—A broad upward movement of prices took place in today's market with the railroad and public utility averages reaching record high levels. While the industrial average was still a few points under the year's top, the recent advance has practically wiped out all of the ground lost in the May reaction.

Oils and coppers were the only important groups which failed to participate in the upswing, due largely to the uncertainty regarding the outlook in those industries.

Call money renewed unchanged at 10 per cent, with an apparently sufficient supply of funds attracted to keep the rate at that level all day. There was no change in time money or commercial paper rates. Wall street is looking for another large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans this week, due not only to the revival of bullish activity in the stock market, but to the expiration of stock purchase "rights."

NEW HIGHS MADE

Strength of the high-grade railroad, public utility and industrial shares, more than a score of which established new high levels, testified to a strong investment demand. Professional operators also were reported to be heavy buyers of those stocks in an apparent effort to revive speculative confidence in the general market. Trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, but public participation was still on a much smaller scale than it was before the sharp break in prices last month.

Merger rumors continued to play an important part in market operations. Wright Aeronautical, which is expected to enter into some form of a combination with the Curtiss group of companies, ran up 7½ points, and Curtiss 3.

Public utilities were again heavily bought. New high records for the year, or longer, were registered by International Telephone, North American Company, American Power and Light, and Public Service of New Jersey, the gains running from 3½ to 7 points. American Water Works advanced 5, Standard Gas and Electric 4, and American Telephone 3½.

AUBURN SOARS

Auburn Motors continued its spectacular advance by jumping 7 points to another new high at 342¾, which contrasts with the year's low of 221. General Electric advanced 7½ points to a new high at 316½. Dupont, Worthington Pump, American Tobacco, Borden, Johns Manville, Newport Company, Vanadium, Republic and U. S. steels and Hudson sold 4 to 5 points higher.

Pere Marquette, Atchison, Norfolk and Western and Delaware and Hudson were the leaders of the rail group.

General Motors sold down 1½ points in the early trading, but recovered its loss. Greene Cananea and Calumet and Arizona were among the few other soft spots.

Important stocks maintained leadership of the market in the closing hour when a number of favorites were quoted from five to 10 points above yesterday's close. United States Steel brought 190¾ and Public Service, of New Jersey, 109½. Burroughs Adding Machine, Auburn Auto and Motor Products were up nine to 10 points, while Warner Brothers Pictures, Illinois Central and Borg Warner advanced five to six. The close was strong. Total sales approximated 3,900,000 shares.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, June 26.—Reports of beneficial rains in Canadian drought sections led to early downturns in wheat values today. Rallies ensued, however, at times, as a result of advices of continued excessive dryness south of the Canadian boundary and of considerable export business overnight. Opening at 1c to 1⅜c setback, wheat afterwards recovered much of the loss. Corn paralleled the action of wheat, starting ⅜c to ¾c off, and subsequently turning upgrade. Oats were easy. Provisions likewise tended to sag.

Special significance was attached today to the fact that rains furnishing relief from drought were reported in Saskatchewan province as well as in Alberta province.

Official records at hand showed that the moisture shortage had involved large areas of Saskatchewan, usually the heaviest wheat producing province of Canada. Detailed figures indicated the previous rainfall this season has been barely half the average amount.

On the other hand, domestic wheat crop reports today again were decidedly adverse. Western Nebraska, for example, reported high winds and dearth of moisture. South Dakota dispatches said another week without rain would mean that large areas would barely make seed. Renewal of unfavorable advices from Kansas was also a feature.

FIREPROOFING IN DEMAND HERE

Preferred Issues Move to New High for the Year In Quiet Local Trading

Further buying of National Fireproofing preferred and common stocks marked the early trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

Fireproofing preferred was in urgent demand during the first hour and shortly after the opening had established a new high record for the year. The common's advance was lacking in the urgency noted in the preferred, the former adding but fractionally to its price, while the preferred jumped about two points on the initial transactions.

Buying of the stocks was based on general improvement in the company's affairs and the reports that earnings for the current year will cover the dividend in the senior shares with a comfortable margin applicable to the common. Last year the company earned $3.24 a share on the preferred stock, but declared dividends amounting to $3.32½ on the issue. It is expected the regular 7 per cent annual dividend on the $50 par stock will be established. The company is steadily reducing its funded debt. Last year the reduction was more than $400,000.

In the fuel department there were few changes in the early trading. Lone Star Gas, old and new, continued to range around the figures quoted in the late market yesterday and the rights on the old stock were quoted a small fraction under 6. The Arkansas Gas stocks were quiet and unchanged.

Miscellaneous manufacturing issues were steady, but there was only slight interest noted in these stocks. Blaw Knox recovered a large fraction over the price at which it last appeared in the list, on Monday, while Allegheny Steel was off a fraction at 69½.

The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange has ruled that the commission on Lone Star Gas Corporation rights shall be not less than 5 cents a right and that Lone Star Gas Corporation old $25 par value common stock shall sell ex-rights July 3, 1929.

MOTOR OUTPUT AT RECORD

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP.)—World automobile production set a new record in 1928.

The Department of Commerce announced today that the total production last year was 5,203,139 machines, an increase of 1,044,173 over the 1927 figure.

Combined output of the United States and Canada was 4,601,141, an increase of 1,020,761. Decreases were reported for England, Spain and Denmark.

"More than 55 per cent of total production was required for replacements, as compared with approximately 50 per cent in 1927, 37 per cent in 1926 and a similar percentage in 1925," the Commerce Department said.

"This indicates that the industry is approaching what might be termed a stabilized condition, that is, each year an increasing percentage of production is being absorbed in the form of replacements. United States and Canadian exports alone, totaling 586,498, almost equal the combined production of the balance of the world, which numbered 601,998.

"The production of passenger cars, trucks and buses in the United States and Canada during 1928, which was the highest ever recorded, amounted to 4,601,141. While this was a gain of 1,020,761 over 1927, the 1928 production was only 95,280 in excess of 1926."

DIVIDEND NEWS

American Water Works.

American Water Works and Electric declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents in cash and usual semi-annual stock dividend of 2½ per cent on the common, payable August 15 to record of July 26. The additional common stock to be issued in payment of the special 10 per cent stock dividend declared payable July 11 to record of July 1 will receive the above dividends. Directors also declared the regular quarterly of $1.50 on the $6 preferred, payable August 1 to record of September 12.

Water Works Earned $3.92 on Common

NEW YORK, June 26.—American Water Works and Electric reports for 12 months to May 31 consolidated income of $6,947,068 after depreciation, equal, after preferred dividends to $3.92 a share on 1,467,950 common shares against $4,915,187, or $2.69 on 1,396,436 common shares in 1928.

REVIVE RUMOR OF COMBINE

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP.)—Meeting of Wright Aeronautical Corporation directors today revived persistent rumors in Wall street that a merger of Wright and Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation into the largest aviation organization in the world was pending. C. M. Keyes, president of Curtiss, had no comment to make on the report, it was stated at his office.

Wall street reports state the merger will be effected through the formation of a new holding company, which will acquire stocks in 10 companies controlled by the Curtiss and Wright groups. These companies include Moth Aircraft Corporation, Travelair Company and Keystone Aircraft Corporation, all identified with Wright interests, and Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., Sikorsky Aviation Corporation, Curtiss-Caproni Corporation, Cessna Aircraft Company and Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Company of the Keys-Curtiss interests.

The company would turn out a complete line of motors and planes and would be aligned with interests controlling the largest air line in the world.

NEW STYLE SET FOR MERGERS OF BANKS

National City's System of Separate Charters Likely To Be Copied by Others

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, June 26.—America is still in the midst of important financial realignments. New York is setting the pace with bank mergers, mixing up the financial lineage of the older institutions with the infusion of new blood. At the metropolis, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, the 52-year-old human dynamo, has been the creator of the new financial fashions.

In the setup of the enlarged national city, with a separate charter for its security company and still another charter for its trust division, the City Bank Farmers Trust Company, the City Bank created a new pattern in mergers, forming a financial group of affiliated companies, instead of a single corporation operating under one charter.

That the City Bank setup is the forerunner of a new trend is indicated by the fact that the same plan will be carried out by a group of Chicago banks. At the end of this month, the National Bank of the Republic, and the National Republic Company and the Chicago Trust Company will go under a common ownership.

FURTHER TREND SEEN

In referring to the program, Lucius Teter, chairman of the board of the Chicago Trust Company, informed me "this permits a combination of interest and yet affords management possible for specialists."

In describing the new tendencies in banking, which are signalized by the impending merger in New York of the Bank of America and the Chatham and Phenix National Bank and also of the Chase National Bank and the National Park Bank, Mr. Teter explained:

"I do see a further trend toward chain banking and branch banking.

"Of course, I think the larger corporations, showing the general tendency of all business, have already tended to alter methods of banking. Fundamental banking conditions do not change, but styles must change from time to time. While big business undoubtedly will be interested in banking, I doubt whether wise commercial leaders will undertake to go into the banking business. Men of this sort appreciate the value of specalized training and would be as unwilling to assume the responsibility of operating banks as they would be to operate on their own appendices.

"With the improvement in our banking laws and with better bank management, there is no doubt that more and more people are using banks. This is also partially due to the fact of the more general distribution of wealth. I believe also that the so-called masses are learning a greater use of checks, which, of course, we use in this country very much more than any other place in the world. Branch banking and a large number of small outlying neighborhood banks encourage this. There is also an interesting and successful experiment in what is known as checking-savings accounts.

"I have no suggestions as to legal changes at the present time. Of course, these will be made as occasion proves necessary. Such changes as are made should make for uniform practices throughout the country so that our public will understand easily."

LESS CRITICISM HEARD

In recent weeks, with signs of improvement in the credit situation, less criticism is heard of Federal Reserve policy, although a few die hards like William C. Durant are still insistent on new legislation to curb the power of the Federal Reserve Board. While under fire by critics, experts and otherwise, the Federal Reserve Board maintained a dignified silence.

The first break in this attitude of reticence has come in the address of Charles S. Hamlin, a member of the board, before the Maine Bankers Association. Mr. Hamlin indicated that the credit crisis, to which the board had called attention last winter, was over, and that the policy of direct dealing with recalcitrant member banks, instead of general rises in the rediscount rate, had proved a success.

This new procedure wes described by Mr. Hamlin as "a new technique which shows that diversion of Federal reserve credit into speculative channels may be curbed without serious injury to business and agriculture. This leaves the inference that, unless conditions change radically in the speculative markets, the board will not disturb the 5 per cent rediscount rate, although it may later authorize lower rates. Adherents of a 6 per cent or higher rate seem to have been rebuffed.

As to whether the expansion in Federal Reserve credit was a primary cause of the marked rise in stock prices since 1922, Mr. Hamlin observed, "how far Federal Reserve credit was responsible for this expansion is an interesting question which I shall not attempt to solve, except to express my opinion that the expansion was largely generated through gold imports and therefore that Federal Reserve credit on the whole was not responsible for it."

Grand Union Sales Pass Previous Year

NEW YORK, June 26.—Sales of the Grand Union Company for the first 24 weeks this year were about $16,900,000 against $14,500,000 in the 1928 period.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP.)—Public utilities resumed leadership of today's quiet session on the curb market, with Electric Bond and Share and United Gas Improvement issues boosted again into new high ground. The market held fairly steady all day, with some selling encountered in the afternoon. Gains for the most part were small and the volume of trading light.

Increased railroad earnings and continued high steel production were hailed by traders as indicating industry was being maintained at nearly record levels. Corporation earnings were favorable.

The advance in United Gas Improvement old stock to above 239 for a gain of more than 9 points reflected strength of public service of New Jersey corporation stock, of which U. G. I. holds a large block. The new stock go above 47. Electric Bond and Share crossed 115 for a gain of 5 points and American Light and Traction shot up 9 to cross 279. Electric Bond and Share advanced 2. The upper New York state group has inclined to heaviness. Long Island Lighting shot up to a new high on announcement of increased earnings.

Aircraft stocks were strong on persistent rumors of a merger of Curtiss and Wright aeronautical interests. Keystone and Niles Bement Pond were the leaders, the latter converting an early 2¾ point loss into a gain of more than a point.

Liberty Owens Sheet Glass sold off on profit-taking after yesterday's sharp advance on announcement of increased dividends and four for one stock split up.

Oils were strong in face of a further gain in weekly petroleum output. Standard Oil, of Ohio, which usually has a thin market, rose 2½, and Gulf and Humble were strong. Cosden dropped more than 3 points under profit-taking in the early morning, but bounded upward at midday.

Draper Corporation moved up 6 points to a new high at 78. This Massachusetts company which manufactures looms reports earnings are recovering after a slump last year. Deere and Company rose more than 8.

By B. C. FORBES

Subject: "Does an engineering training best fit a man to head a huge modern enterprise, or is 'specialization in generalization' the best preparation for reaching the top?"

There is a reason for making this suggestion.

THE General Electric Company was the only business concern in America to have two of its leading executives honored by receiving degrees from colleges this year. Their acceptance speeches, delivered almost simultaneously, differed sharply according to the summaries published by the newspapers. The one executive was not aware of what the other was going to say—Mr. Young did not know what he was going to say until he got on his feet, as he had not had a moment to prepare an address.

IN acknowledging the degree of doctor of engineering from Stevens Institute of Technology (Hoboken) President Swope, of General Electric, addressing the students, said, in part:

"Great and fundamental changes have come into the conduct of business and industry in recent years. The units of organization have become larger, laws and public opinion more definitely crystalized, ethics of doing business have been put on a more satisfactory basis and ownership has become more diversified—all tending to make management more and more objective and professional, and to put it in the position of trustees, not only for individual owners but also for employes and the public.

"Business and industrial organizations have become so large that they can no longer be run by one man, or group of men, by intuition. The requirement and probable use of the public must be studied and analyzed; new methods proposed must be subjected to searching tests and plans of development and exploitation carefully mapped out.

"Analyses and decision are distinctly the training and attitude of the engineer.

"Industry is seeking new men. Large organizations offer great opportunities, and although at first progress may be slow, sometimes causing impatience and discouragement, after that, going 'over the top' brings one to a broader outlook, especially if one has imagination in addition to engineering training such as you have received."

TWO days later Mr. Young, chairman of General Electric received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from Hamilton College (New York) and said the newspapers, "specialization in generalization" was advocated by Mr. Young for the graduating class." He added:

"It may be worth more in leading a great industry in a foreign country to know something of history, arts and the languages, than to know about physics and chemistry."

There you have the issue joined. Hence, the proposed debate.

Many thousands of youths are asking themselves just what line of education would best fit them to become heads of our modern enormous business organizations. Is a course in engineering more likely to lead them to the summits than a more general course, a course embracing "history, the arts and the languages," to quote Mr. Young?

The president of an important western corporation, visiting his son at an eastern college, this month said to me:

"I have strongly advised him against taking an engineering course. I don't want him to become a purely technical man, I would like to see him develop the broadest possible outlook on life and on the problems of business. I am afraid that if he were to enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for example, he might become so engrossed in strictly engineering problems that he would shut out from his mind everything else, and that he would thus stand less chance of becoming the president of a big concern than if he were to take a regular college course.

"I know that we live in an age of specialization, but it is not the specialist, as a rule, who is best fitted to become the commander-in-chief of a great army of employes. What is wanted for that kind of position is a good all-round man."

My own observation is that the biggest positions of all are more frequently awarded to those who have "specialized in generalization" than to those who have confined themselves to engineering or to any other one profession.

A full-length debate on this subject, embodying the marshaling of a wealth of facts and "cases," would be extremely illuminating. It might help many youths to steer the wisest course.

PARIS, June 26.—The Bank of France declared a dividend of 23½ per cent for the first half of 1928, compared with 16 per cent last year.

WORLD SUPPLY OF COPPER LIMITED

Experts Say Metal Supply Inadequate to Meet Far Future Needs

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The amount of copper in the ground is inadequate to take care of the world's requirements in the distant future, in the opinion of mining experts here. These experts believe in time to come there will be a rise in price of the metal tempered only by forced use of subsitutes.

There has been an astounding increase in demand for copper for more than a century, and indications are that this demand will continue indefinitely.

Future electrical development will be greater than the supply of copper, one of these experts declared, and a resort to substitutes will be forced. He pointed out that aluminum can be used for long distance transmission wires, but in delicate mechanisms requiring small wires, no substitute has yet been found.

NEEDS FORESEEN

Electrification is in its infancy in Europe, South America and Japan, and as time goes on there will be a larger drain on the limited supply of the metal. It was pointed out that when electrification of China gets under way there will be a greatly increased demand, to say nothing of the development of water power throughout the world.

A recent publication of the Bureau of Mines declared that for more than 100 years there has been an average increase of 53 per cent a decade in the rate of production. Only in the period 1919 to 1925 do we find acceleration of world production interrupted. It was pointed out the reduction in production for the latter period was due to the depression of 1921 and 1922. Since that time, however, there has been complete recovery and present production is the highest on record.

"It is safe to say that the United States production will continue to be the chief item of world production for many years," declares the bureau's publication, although its proportion in the world total may be expected to decrease slowly for a time, while the South American, African and Canadian proportion will probably continue to increase. Great reserves of proven ore exist in the United States to support its production of the near future, and there probably are also enormous quantities of very low grade copper-bearing rocks that will become of economic importance as the relatively high-grade ores of the world approach exhaustion some decades hence.

"Africa is the great new source of copper production, especially the Katanga deposits in the Belgian Congo. Production started in 1911, has steadily increased to about 100,000 tons, and will certainly continue to increase, as the known reserves of ore are large and of relatively high grade."

STEEL SLUMP DUE TO HOT WEATHER

Production Limitations Not Due to Market Demands; Crude and Ingot at Top

NEW YORK, June 26.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Summer is bringing a recession in the steel activity, but this far hot weather and the physical limitations of equipment have affected mill operations more than market conditions.

While open-hearth steel output has apparently diminished, with a larger number of furnaces reported down for repairs, Bessemer steel production has gained. The recent hot wave has chiefly restricted the production of sheet and tin plate mills and has not materially relieved the demand for crude steel. Meanwhile total ingot output remains at close to 100 per cent of rated capacity with little prospect of dropping more than 2 or 3 points before July 1.

Tin plate specifications continue to taper, reflecting in part the prospect of reduced packs of canned goods.

No general decline in steel demand has developed. The requirements of railroads and construction work are expected to increase rather than diminish.

Structural steel awards, at 61,000 tons, were well above the weekly average. Over 1,000,000 tons of fabricating work is in early prospect of being placed.

EFFECT OF FREIGHT RATES

Competitive relations between steel-producing districts will be materially altered by the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission establishing a mileage scale of freight rates on iron and steel products in official classification territory. Second only to the Federal Trade Commission order abolishing "Pittsburgh plus" in its effect on steel distribution, the decision establishes an entirely new set-up of rates for 90 per cent of the country's mill output. The mileage scale, intended as an orderly and logical structure calculated largely to wipe out inconsistent and prejudicial rates, will chiefly benefit producers in Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Cleveland and Wheeling. An incidental result is the abolition of a blanket rate to New England points.

The renewal of steel contracts for third quarter has been rather general, and in many cases consumers have asked for the same tonnage as in the expiring quarter.

On black and galvanized sheets 2.85c and 3.60c a pound, Pittsburgh, or $2 a ton below the last announced advances, have become more common; on the latter jobbers have been able to cover their requirements at 3.50c.

Both of the Iron Age composite prices are unchanged, pig iron at $18.63 a gross ton and finished steel at 2.412c a pound.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

CLEVELAND, June 26.—Most steel producers are coming up to mid-year with the best order books in their history for that period, says the Iron Trade Review. Not since 1920 have so many departments of the industry embarked on the third quarter with July output substantially sold and considerable August tonnage earmarked.

Specifications and shipments of finished steel continue to turn down moderately, under seasonal influences, but third quarter contracting is brisk, considering the generally stable price situation and the forerunning record six months. Compared with a year ago, third quarter commitments of many consumers show an increase.

Contracting for third quarter pig iron is more active, many automotive foundries now being in position to foresee their needs more clearly. In some cases these requirements are within 20 per cent of the second quarter melt. Especially at Pittsburgh and St. Louis is more interest in iron manifest, and southern producers to move their surplus are competing in northern markets on an equal price basis for the first time in a decade.

Baltimore Store Rumored in Deal

BALTIMORE, Md., June 26.—(INS.)—Unconfirmed reports in financial circles here today said the West Baltimore Street Building and stock of the American Wholesale Corporation, the south's largest wholesale department store, had been sold to Butler Brothers, of New York.

Sharp Rise Noted In Freight Traffic

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Loading of revenue freight for the week ended June 15 totaled 1,069,089 cars, the American Railway Association announced. This was an increase of 14,297 cars above the preceding week this year, 66,276 cars over the corresponding period in 1928, and 52,610 cars above the 1927 week.

Gardner Motor To Raise Capital

NEW YORK, June 26.—Gardner Motor Company has notified the New York Stock Exchange of a proposed increase in capital stock to 500,000 shares from 300,000.

Blumenthal Plans Wiping Out Arrears

NEW YORK, June 26.—Sidney Blumenthal & Co., Inc., is contemplating final payment of dividends in arrears on the 7 per cent preferred within the current year. After July 1 accumulations will amount to $5.25 a share on approximately 28,000 preferred shares.

Sidney Blumenthal, president, stated this obligation would be wiped out within the next six months. It is expected the board at a meeting early in the fall will take similar action to that of May 23 when $5.25 was paid on account of arrears in addition to the regular quarterly $1.75 dividend.

With liquidation of this account promised, sources usually well informed see the road clear for inauguration of common dividends early next year. The company has materially improved its financial position since the first of the year.

Mr. Blumenthal stated sales volume in the first four months was 40 per cent in excess of the same period last year. Sales so far for June were 75 per cent more than for the entire month of June, 1928, and that he was highly optimistic over the outlook for the last half.

S. A. COUNTRIES JOIN CENSUS

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Thirteen countries in Central and South America have promised co-operation in the world agricultural census of 1930, L. M. Estabrook, director of the census for the International Institute of Agriculture, stated.

Mr. Estabrook has just returned to Washington from a 11,000-mile trip to the capitals of Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Ecuador, Colombia, Venezuela, British Guiana, Trinidad and Barbados.

INTERESTING FACTS

The full text of a statement made public by the Department of Agriculture follows:

The inclusion of these countries in the census brings the total representation in the project to about 97 per cent of the land surface, 98 per cent of the total population, and approximately 99 per cent of the total agricultural production of the world. The only countries not visited by Mr. Estabrook since his appointment as director in 1925 are Afghanistan, Persia, Bolivia and some of the West African colonies and small islands in which agriculture is relatively unimportant but for which co-operation has been promised by their home governments.

The undertaking of a world census of agriculture in 1930 was approved by the general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome in 1924, and the preliminary work of organizing the census was made possible by the co-operation of the International Educationa' Board, the United States Department of Agriculture, and the International Institute of Agriculture. The census program and standard form of census questionnaire have been approved by the permanent committee and two general assemblies of the institute, by the diplomatic conference on economic statistics that met in Geneva in November, 1928.

The purpose of the world census of agriculture is to provide more complete, accurate and comparable international statistics relating to agriculture, to provide a secure basis for annual crop reports and statistics, and to improve the agricultural statistical organization of many countries. It will be the first census ever attempted in all countries of the world in the same year and according to the same general plan. The International Institute of Statistics, and the Diplomatic Conference on Economic Statistics have recommended that the agricultural census be repeated every 10 years.

Northwestern R. R. Reports Increase

NEW YORK, June 26.—Chicago and Northwestern Railway reports May net income was $1,325,385, against $924,920 for May, 1928, and for five months $2,022,480, against $1,489,090 in the corresponding period last year. Figures are after taxes and charges.

American Ice Co. May Earnings Up

NEW YORK, June 26.—The American Ice Company reports May net earnings of $521,358, after interest, but before federal taxes and depreciation, against $404,112 in May, 1928. For the first five months of 1929 net earnings were $1,201,128 against $906,179 in the 1928 period.

Judge Baer Denies Taplin Interests Motion

CLEVELAND, O., June 26.—(AP.)—Common Pleas Judge George P. Baer yesterday denied the motion of the Taplin interests to dissolve an injunction preventing them from placing their own set of officers in control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad. The injunction was obtained by the Van Sweringen interests after the Taplin directors elected a new proposed slate of officers during a rump session following the annual meeting of the road's directors.

Judge Baer, however, gave the Taplin group permission to institute quo warranto proceedings to determine whether their officers were legally elected. Attorneys for the Taplins announced the proceedings would be filed soon either with the Appellate or Supreme Court, at which time it will be decided whether the present Van Sweringen-elected officers or the Taplin group will assume control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie.

M'LEOD WANTS BUSINESS STUDY

Unemployment to Be Especially Studied By New Commission

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Creation of a commission to study the causes and the possible remedy of business cycles and unemployment will be the subject of a hearing before the House Committee on Judiciary, according to plans announced by Representative McLeod, of Detroit, Mich., sponsor of the proposal. Mr. McLeod already has introduced a resolution on the subject.

Mr. McLeod's view is that Congress should act as speedily as possible with a view to having the results of the proposed tudy available to the government for remedial legislation in the near future. The full text of Representative McLeod's statement follows:

I appreciate the objection to multiplying governmental commissions and also to anything that means increase of expenses of government. Congress, however, necessarily must spend money for public works, must borrow money for public uses from time to time, must regulate currency, must pay public debts and must perform other functions for the common good. And the expense that would be incurred, if any at all, would be compensated for many times in the results obtained, according to the conclusions of some experts who have studied the question.

I have embodied this view in a letter I have sent to the Detroit Board of Commerce. I believe that President Hoover is in favor of this proposal and that there is no question about results being obtained if my resolution is adopted. The first step, of course, is to have a public hearing on the resolution in Congress, at which witnesses from Detroit and elsewhere would be in a position to say something constructive on this subject, and thereby give us a basis for taking any action in Congress that may be shown to be desirable.

In the exercise of its function, the United States government inevitably brings about far-reaching consequences in our economic conditions, both directly and by example, to private industry. These consequences sometimes accelerate inflation and sometimes deflation and I believe that with proper guidance the government might be able to serve a constructive, corrective and regulating influence.

My resolution—and I shall urge it during the present Congress with a view to getting substantive action—is to authorize the President to appoint a commission of not exceeding seven members to thoroughly study the problem of maintaining sufficient aggregate income to consumers to support steady progressive production, to equalize and stabilize prosperity. Such a commission would make recommendations to Congress as to the feasibility of creating a government agency to direct activities for this purpose and, if found feasible, to report a definite plan for such an agency. The recommendations, under my resolution, would have to be made to the next succeeding session of Congress, so that there may be no needless delay.

At a recent meeting of the Detroit Board of Commerce some apprehension was expressed by some of the directors about the creation of another governmental agency. I have pointed out to them, however, that the personnel of such an agency as would deal with the subject could, and doubtless would, be made up of men already in Government service and so entail only additional functions, which of course would have to be authorized by Congress.

The operation of such a proposed board has been likened to the regulation of credit by the Federal Reserve Board. While the Federal Reserve Board is the controlling influence upon production financing in this country, its powers do not extend to a problem of maintaining a steady income sufficient to effect stability and constantly increasing buying power on the part of consumers.

WEATHER GOOD FOR CROPS

CHICAGO, June 26.—The week ended June 22 showed heavy rain at a few points in Ohio, too much over Missouri, excessive rainfall in Kansas and ample generally in Eastern and Central Nebraska, says B. W. Snow, of Bartlett-Frazier Co. Elsewhere rainfall was generally sub-normal to rainless.

With the exception of continued excess in Missouri and some damage from too much moisture in Kansas, the week was generally favorable for growing crops and prosecution of farm work. Spring wheat harvest is increasingly in need of generous and general rainfall.

Bituminous Coal Production Down

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Bituminous coal production for the week ended June 22 is estimated at 9,000,000 net tons, the National Coal Association announced today. This compares with 9,304,000 net tons for the week ended June 15.

Byllesby Control Of Standard Gas Challenged

WILMINGTON, June 26.—Mandamus suit has been filed in Superior Court here against Standard Gas and Electric Company by McKenna & Co., and Bruns & Co. and Kate Wilson, all of New York, who state they own 152,000 shares of Standard Gas common stock.

Petitioners seek a mandamus to compel the company to let them examine books and records of the company to determine whether the company is being managed for best interests of stockholders and to obtain full knowledge of relations between the company and H. M. Byllesby & Co.

The Byllesby company, it is alleged, caused the creation by Standard Gas and Electric of an unusual class of stock, a third preferred 6 per cent non cumulative stock, with par value of $1 having a voting power on parity with common stock.

The Bylessby company, it is alleged, acquired 997,006 shares of third preferred at $1 a share and in so doing obtained complete control of Standard Gas against 250,000 common shares which at time of issuance of new third preferred, had market value of about $10,000,000.

Holders of Two Mortgages Totaling $40,000,000 Demand Court Action

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP.)—Federal Judge George A. Carpenter has taken under advisement the report of a master in chancery recommending the foreclosure of mortgages totaling $40,000,000 on the Chicago and Alton Railroad. It was within the province of the court to order sale or reorganization of the road and such action has been predicted.

One of two mortgages concerned in the case has received no interest payment for seven years, according to the report, while the other has been without interest payments since it was placed on the road in 1912.

The first mortgage, held by the Farmers Loan and Trust Company of New York as trustee, was for $22,000,000 at 3½ per cent interest. The second for $18,000,000 called for 6 per cent interest and is held by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company of New York.

ROAD CONSIDERED SOUND

A mortgage for $45,000,000 loaded onto the road when it was purchased by E. H. Harriman, New York financier, in 1899, was not concerned in the action, since interest of 3 per cent has been paid regularly.

At the time Harriman purchased the road it was known as "the cleanest road financially in the country" and for many years paid a regular 8 per cent dividend.

The railroad went into the hands of receivers involuntarily August 30, 1922. The circumstance was blamed then on the coal and railway strike. William G. Beird, for many years president of the road, and Attorney W. W. Wheelock were appointed receivers and still are serving in that capacity.

The current litigation centered on the claims of the two mortgage holders, each of which claim right to a first lien on the rolling stock.

Attorneys have argued objections to the master's report for the last two days and Judge Carpenter has indicated he will give his decision in a few days.

Sale of Bankrupt's Assets Forbidden

Federal Judge Nelson McVicar has issued an injunction restraining Charles Shapiro and Constable Jacob Mintz from selling assets of Abe Ackerman, a retail grocer and bankrupt of Pittsburgh. The injunction was granted on petition of George Tomlinson, receiver of the store, who alleged that Shapiro, the landlord, and the constable had made a levy on the stock in the store and had advertised the sale, after the bankruptcy petition was filed.

Willys Announces New Knight Six

NEW YORK, June 26.—Returning from Europe, John N. Wiley, president of Willys-Overland Company, stated he was quite satisfied with present conditions and outlook for the company. The company, he said, is completing one of the best six-month periods in its history. Sales for the first half-year will be about 200,000 cars.

A new Willys-Knight great-6 will be placed on the market in July.

Hudson Bay Offers New Stock Issue

LONDON, June 26. — Directors have decided to issue 500,000 ordinary shares of £1 par to ordinary shareholders at £4 a share in ratio of one new share for each four held.

Stock Exchange Splits Seconds For Speed

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP.)—The New York Stock Exchange is splitting seconds to increase the speed of the stock ticker. The spurt in buying of Auburn Auto has won for this stock a new ticker symbol—AAC—which will save about a tenth of a second over the printing of the old abbreviation—ABU. To print the new symbol the wheel containing the letters and figures will not have to make as complete a turn as heretofore.

Many of the active stocks have only one letter for a symbol, such as "V" for New Haven, "C" for Anaconda, "N" for International Nickel, "M" for Montgomery Ward "Z" for Woolworth and "K" for Chrysler.

Auction Sale of GUARANTEED AUTOMOBILES

STARTING

Saturday June 29, at 2:30 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.

MOTOR SQUARE GARDEN

BAUM BOULEVARD AND BEATTY STREET — EAST END

Free Automobile to be Given Away!

BUY your car at auction NOW and take a whole year's time to pay. Don't buy at the other fellow's price. Wait until next Saturday, then come out to Motor Square Garden and make your own price. These cars will positively be sold to the highest bidder.

Every car is guaranteed exactly as represented. You can buy it and drive it five days. If you are not perfectly satisfied, at the end of 5 days return it to us and we will allow you the full price you paid in exchange for any car in our stock selling at the same price or more.

These cars can be seen on display at Motor Square Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from 9:00 A. M. till 10:00 P. M. They will be sold Saturday at public auction to the highest bidder, without limit or without reserve. Lots of free parking space and plenty of seats for all. The ladies are cordially invited to attend this great sale.

NO. 439.

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto the H. J. Heinz Company, its successors and assigns, the right to construct, maintain and use 23 concrete piers extending into Carpenter way, a maximum of 4' from building line at a minimum depth of 8' 9" below grade of way, for the purpose of erecting a proposed building on the property of the H. J. Heinz Company, Twenty-third Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the H. J. Heinz Company, its successors and assigns are hereby given the right and authority at its own cost and expense to construct, maintain and use 23 concrete piers extending into Carpenter way, a maximum of 4' from building line at a minimum depth of 8' 9" below grade of way, for the purpose of erecting a proposed building, property of the H. J. Heinz Company, Twenty-third Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The said grant shall be constructed in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance and in accordance with plan hereto attached and identified as Accession No. B-347, Folder "B," in the files of the Division of Public Utilities, Bureau of Highways and Sewers, Department of Public Works, entitled, "Proposed extension of concrete piers into Carpenter way for a proposed building on the property of the H. J. Heinz Company, Twenty-third Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa."

SECTION 2. The said company, prior to the construction of said piers, shall submit to the Director of the Department of Public Works a complete set of plans showing location and all details for the construction of said piers, and the said plans shall be subject to the approval and supervision of the Director of the Department of Public Works.

SECTION 3. The rights and privileges herein granted shall be subject and subordinate to the rights of the City of Pittsburgh and its powers over City streets, and to the ordinances of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and to the provisions of any general ordinance which may hereafter be passed relating to the construction, maintenance and use of City streets and compensation for same.

SECTION 4. The said grantee shall bear the full cost and expense of the repaving and repair of sidewalks and street pavement damaged, repair of sewers, water lines and other surface and sub-surface structures which may be in any way damaged or disturbed by reason of the maintenance and use of the said sidewalks and streets. All of the said work shall be done in the manner and at such times as the Director may order, and shall be subject to his approval and supervision.

SECTION 5. The rights and privileges granted by this ordinance are granted upon the express condition that the City of Pittsburgh, without liability, reserves the right to cause the removal of the said piers, upon giving six (6) months' notice through the proper offices pursuant to resolution or ordinance of Council to the said H. J. Heinz Company, its successors and assigns, to that effect; and that the said grantee shall, when so notified, at the expiration of the said six months, forthwith, remove the said piers and replace the sidewalks and streets to their original condition, at its own cost and expense.

SECTION 6. The said grantee shall assume any liability of the City of Pittsburgh for damages to persons or property, including the streets and sub-surface structures therein, by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of concrete piers in said sidewalks and streets and it is a condition of his grant that the City of Pittsburgh assumes no liability to either persons or property on account of his grant.

SECTION 7. NO. 440

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto the Mercy Hospital, its successors and assigns, the right to construct, maintain and use a 6" conduct under and diagonally across Pride street, 3' below grade for the purpose of transmitting steam from power plant, property of the Mercy Hospital to the opposite side of the street, property of the Mercy Hospital, First Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mercy Hospital, its successors and assigns be and are hereby given the right and authority at its own cost and expense to construct, maintain and use a 6" conduit for a distance of approximately 40' 6" under and diagonally across Pride street, 3' below grade, located approximately 52' 8½" from the south side of Locust street, for the purpose of transmitting steam from power plant, property of the Mercy Hospital across Pride street to property of the Mercy Hospital, First Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The said conduit shall be constructed in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance and in accordance with plan hereto attached and identified as Accession No. B-348, Folder "B", in the files of the Division of Public Utilities, Bureau of Highways and Sewers, Department of Public Works, entitled, "Proposed 6" conduit under and diagonally across Pride street, property of the Mercy Hospital, First Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa."

SECTION 2. The said Mercy Hospital, prior to beginning the construction of said conduit, shall submit to the Director of the Department of Public Works of the said City a complete set of plans showing the location and all details for the construction of said conduit and said plans and the construction of said conduit shall be subject to the approval and supervision of said Director.

SECTION 3. The rights and privileges herein granted shall be subject and subordinate to the rights of the City of Pittsburgh and its powers over City streets, and to the Ordinances of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto, and to the provisions of any general Ordinance which may hereafter be passed relating to the construction, maintenance and use of conduits in City streets and compensation for same.

SECTION 4. The said grantee shall bear the full cost and expense of the repaving and repair of the street pavement damaged, repair of sewers, water lines and other surface and sub-surface structures which may be in any way damaged or disturbed by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of said conduit. All of the said work, including the repaving of the street damaged, shall be done in the manner and at such times as the Director may order, and shall be subject to his approval and supervision.

SECTION 5. The rights and privileges granted by this ordinance are granted upon the express condition that the City of Pittsburgh, without liability, reserve the right to cause the removal of the said conduit upon giving thirty (30) days' notice through the proper officers pursuant to resolution or Ordinance of Council to the said Mercy Hospital, its successors and assigns, to that effect; and the said grantee, when so notified, shall at the expiration of the said thirty days, forthwith, remove the said conduit and replace the street to its original condition, at its own cost and expense.

SECTION 6. The said grantee shall assume any liability of the City of Pittsburgh for damages to persons or property, including the street and sub-surface structures therein, by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of the said conduit, and it is a condition of this grant that the City of Pittsburgh assumes no liability to either persons or property on account of this grant.

SECTION 7. The foregoing rights and privileges are granted subject to the following conditions, to-wit: This Ordinance shall become null and void unless within thirty (30) days after its passage and approval, the Mercy Hospital, shall file with the City Controller its certificate of acceptance of the provisions thereof, said certificate to be executed by the said Mercy Hospital, with its corporate seal attached.

SECTION 8. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same effects this Ordinance

BUGS BAER Says

BIG CHIEF DAWES SMOKES PIPE OF PEACE

THE conference between Charley Dawes and Premier MacDonald resulted in a draw.

"Bugs" Baer

The Premier started by asking, "What kind of tobacco do you smoke?"

Charley asked, "What kind have you got?"

In diplomatic circles, this was a check-mate. Dawes controlled the proxies but the debentures had collapsed.

Charley said, "I wish they had it in America."

Wishing to change the subject without altering climatic conditions, the Premier interrogated, "What position did you hold in America?"

Charley explained, "I was next to the President."

Charley said, "It was until the President got next to me."

Charley asked, "What have you there?"

The Premier told him, "tobacco."

Charley complained bitterly, "Why do you fool a guy by carrying it there?"

The Premier asked, "Are you the man who said what America needed most was a good five-cent cigar?"

"Sure. But I'm sorry I said it."

"Why?"

The boys then went into their blindfold test and smoked 16 cartons of handpicked Sumatra crumbs.

At the finish of the executive pipe-smoking, merry old England was further in debt to the new world to the extent of three borrowed matches.

Metro Charter Defeated But Obtains Big Majority

The people have spoken. The Metropolitan Charter has been rejected in a referendum in which the proposal to unite all of Allegheny County as the City of Pittsburgh failed to obtain a required two-thirds majority in more than 50 per cent of the civil divisions of the county, as provided in the amended constitution of Pennsylvania. The figures are unofficial, but their accuracy in general is not questioned and the only expectation is that the official canvass of Tuesday's vote will be confirmation of the decision as shown by the return sheet tally.

While it is regrettable that the charter did not meet approval at this time, an explanation of the vote of suburban districts possibly can be found in the mental attitude toward the City of Pittsburgh, resulting from the kind of government that has prevailed here. For more than a quarter of a century there have been few city administrations under which vice, crime, gambling and graft have not been rampant. These are not conditions that would promote growth of admiration among the good people of the county at large.

One way to win them over would be the operation of a city administration in such a manner that there would be no reasonable excuse for criticism on the part of our neighbors beyond the city limits. Or at home.

The proposal for a federated city was a popular one, according to a compilation of unofficial figures, showing a splendid majority in the total of cities, of boroughs and of townships, even though all of the cities in the county except Pittsburgh were against it. The overwhelming vote in Pittsburgh more than counterbalanced the majorities against in McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton. Popular majorities are of no avail, yet the result, as a whole, is far from discouraging to friends of progress.

Although the charter has been rejected, it is the voice of the minority that is speaking so powerfully. The large favorable vote very likely will demand that the matter be submitted to the voters again, which may be done at any special or general election.

The vote was very light, but probably representative of sentiment in the county.

Blue Law Now Invoked To Put Clamp on Flying

Over in Sunbury, an enterprising town on the Susquehanna, the hoary old blue law of Pennsylvania is being used to cripple aviation. The Sunbury Flying Club has been found guilty of breaking the Sunday observance act of 1794. Counsel for the club announces the case will be appealed.

The specific act charged was carrying passengers on Sunday at a rate of $3 a trip.

Aerial transportation, proclaimed the travel method of the future, is thus being discouraged in the great state of Pennsylvania. Those who brought the charge against the flying club doubtless would say they have no intent to be an impediment to progress. Yet they would stop people from going into the air on Sunday. And how about Sunday excursions on the railroads?

Aviation is pioneering. In many places it has made rapid progress, but it still is pioneering, and fliers who take persons aloft for short trips are doing a good service, providing their equipment and landing places are safe. They are teaching the people—giving them the actual experience of flying—creating a willingness to use the airplane for travel.

That is necessary. It is a work that will hasten the day when passenger airplane lines will have Sunbury and other Pennsylvania towns as ports. Attempts to apply the unenforcible blue law will retard it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I DON'T know how it is with you but I am one of those good natured saps who will do anything for anybody. And of course they let me do it.

So things go on and on with me being Lady Bountiful and them expecting me to be—until some day I wake up and find that I'm being imposed upon in about 5,739 different ways. Whereupon I get all smoked up with rage, resentment, surprise, horror and self pity.

Which is absurd. For of course it's all my own fault.

NO ONE CAN IMPOSE ON US UNLESS WE LET THEM. AND IT'S STRICTLY UP TO US NOT TO LET THEM.

It's as much up to us to protect our own interests as it is to wash our teeth or pay our taxes or dispose of the garbage. But somehow we have no end of trouble learning that lesson. We persist in thinking that other people should safeguard our happiness and respect our rights—and if they don't we raise Cain and consider ourselves betrayed and abused.

That's a lovely way to think and maybe people will act in that high minded way in Heaven—but it's a cinch they won't on earth. Why should they? Haven't they enough to do, protecting and developing their own territories, without taking care of ours?

Yesterday the cattle broke through into Sid Blake's oats and ruined the whole field for him. Everyone is sorry for Sid but they know it was his own fault. He's put off fencing the south end of his field properly and that's the result.

You and I have only ourselves to blame, partner, if someone breaks through our unprotected boundaries and lays waste our property. And you may bet on it that the average human WILL break through if you give him half a chance.

A cynical view. Not at all. Merely a natural fact. We're still, largely, predatory on the hunt for more power or perquisites. Everyone is beset by everyone else—

Big fleas have littler fleas—and so ad infinitum—"

That's Life. And you're just out of luck if you expect that Life or your neighbor is going to protect you against fleas!

And this doesn't just apply to your enemies. It applies as much to those you love and trust as to those you detest and distrust.

YOU'VE NO RIGHT TO SHOVE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF YOUR HAPPINESS, YOUR PROGRESS, YOUR SAFETY ON THE OTHER FELLOW, NO MATTER HOW NEAR AND DEAR.

Bible Passages

The Last Judgment

(St. Matthew 25; 31-46)

WHEN the Son of man shall come in his glory and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory:

And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats:

And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left.

Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

For I was hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in:

Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick and ye visited me: I was in prison and ye came unto me.

Then shall the righteous answer him saying, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink?

When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee?

Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?

And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily, I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels:

For I was an hungered, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink.

I was a stranger, and ye took me not in, naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee?

Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

TWO guys were boasting to one another at a speakeasy in New Orleans.

"My wife is terrible jealous of me," says Jones.

"Is that so? I should think that'd be an awful nuisance. It would cramp a fellow's style so."

"Wrong you are. Mine ain't a bit jealous."

"Well, I should think that would be awful humiliating."

So they were more than even, and ordered another drink.

:-: NOT SO MUCH :-:

By Herbert Kaufman

THE half billion dollars just voted by Congress for Farm Relief won't reach from here to the edge of agriculture, if used as a substitute for EIGHT-INCH furrows, SOIL conservation and COMMON SENSE.

The farmer's basic problem remains in STATU QUO and no amount of legislation, however paternal, can lift it from individual responsibility.

Governmental utmost will merely furnish instrumentalities to improve production and marketing.

Political and fiscal systems aren't aiming to perform ANY of the MANY personal tasks which finally determine the profits and losses of wheat raising, fruit and vegetable culture—or stock and poultry breeding.

Thrift and diversification must replace stupid waste and speculative specialization, before the farmer may appreciably better his returns.

For instance: Overhead has scarcely begun to find that good sires are actually CHEAPER than trash bulls and boars.

Pastureland that now sustains scrawns and culls will as readily nourish quick fatteners and pedigreed strains. And no more chicken feed is needed to mature a choice, plump fowl than a degenerate pullet.

THE national milk bucket would be double its present size IF HALF our dairy herds held TWICE as many higher-record kine.

There's more cash rotting in refuse heaps, manure piles and chaff stacks than EFFICIENCY demands to straighten the kinks of distribution.

Agriculture can't expect to survive on CRUTCHES, and President Hoover's determination to reject any debenture scheme is based upon the experienced conviction that EVERY vocation and industry must learn to stand on its OWN feet, or topple.

The Hoover mind is a graduate of engineering, which erects its structures on stable foundations and builds for permanence.

HE is promptly fulfilling pre-election pledges to remove the farmer's economic handicaps: by eliminating tariff inequalities, expanding export facilities and developing federal aid wherever the government can be of constructive assistance to earnest and industrious husbandry.

But to ease any routine duty from the shoulders on which it BELONGS would defeat his sound purpose, and further ENCOURAGE the slipshod practices that are agriculture's heaviest curse.

He'll advise how, what and where to plant, calculate seeding depths, garner and disperse corrective information from all corners of the earth, but WON'T sweat urban taxpayers for folk who decline to house machinery, test grain, collect eggs, churn butter and maintain a garden patch.

FEDERAL relief doesn't contemplate the remission of a SINGLE neglected chore—from cleaning the wheatfield of dockage, to conditioning the reaper and restoring the fertility of exhausted land.

The only harvests ahead of scratched ground, unbroken clods and subtle-sowing are DEFICIT and MORTGAGE.

Half a billion may seem like a lot of money BACK YONDER, but its ACTUAL coverage power is revealed by the announcement that J. P. Morgan & Co., opening a grocery counter at Broad and Wall, will expend $430,000,000 on yeast and baking powder stocks ALONE.

Just Two Heads

EDISON AND FORD—GOOD FRIENDS AND GOOD HEADS.

It will interest you to look at these two faces for a moment and perhaps ask yourself, "What is it, IN those two heads, that has made all the world know them?"

What qualities enabled Thomas A. Edison to put millions of men to work, creating billions of new values?

What particular quality, or qualities, enabled Henry Ford, starting out with one little "gas wagon," to provide fifteen million separate automobiles, carrying in all probably more than 50,000,000 Americans, and to manufacture now another kind of automobile at the rate of 8,000 a day?

Human faces are much alike.

If you saw these two men in a crowd, you would have to be a good judge of human nature and physiognomy even to GUESS that they were exceptional men.

You might say, "The man on the left looks keen, a good natured man. I dare say his family like him very much."

You might say, "The man on the right looks keen, a good trader, I should judge. I don't suppose he will ever be very RICH, but he might be useful in some business requiring keenness."

You would be very far away in any guessing you might do about these two men, if you didn't KNOW them.

Henry Ford has always on hand three or four hundred millions, just in case he should need them.

Thomas A. Edison has little money compared with Henry Ford, certainly not one-tenth, perhaps not one-hundredth part of the wealth Ford has. But Ford would tell you, believe him or not, "Edison is one hundred times more important to the world than I am."

WHAT MADE THE SUCCESS OF THESE MEN?

Nobody can answer that positively.

But this IS CERTAIN:

Their success is due to the fact that these men Used what is in their heads.

They didn't think about it, they didn't say "SOME day." They went to work and kept at work.

Therefore one of them is Thomas A. Edison, the other Henry Ford, and the whole world knows them both.

Try to use what is in your head. You may not be as great as either of these men or as rich as either. YOU may be greater than either, richer than either.

Greatness and richness are not important.

But DOING YOUR BEST IS IMPORTANT.

If every man did his BEST, this would be a different and better world.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 26.—"Ghost writing" has reached such startling proportions it threatens the entire American literary structure. Even established writers are suspected of having others do their stuff. Ghosting originated with baseball stars signing stuff written by sport writers.

Today they are whispering among the intellectuals that three successful short story writers and two novelists have quit writing under their own names altogether and are making bigger money "ghosting" for ambitious litterateurs with no talent but fat bank accounts.

Society women, merchant princes, bankers, doctors, lawyers and even the thief have had their writing wraiths. A publishing expert is authority that 100 novels and text books and five slim volumes of verse were products of the ghoulish guild during the past year.

Nouveau riche wives aching for a touch of personal exploitation are juicy meat for the professional ghosters. They are willing to pay triple the price that would accrue from the advance and royalties of the average successful novel just to be in the limelight.

The recent ballyhooing of books in the manner of a three-ring circus—they are actually three sheeted—has worked incalculable harm. Hair dressers, perfumers and such have been able to taint publications with publicity by having them "ghosted" and privately printed.

There are printing establishments with "dummy" publishing companies where one may have any book printed for a price. Book reviewers receive many books these days they immediately toss in the ash can. They see the hand of the spook and an honorable business becoming a racket.

Honest publishers are genuinely exercised because it casts a doubt on the real authorship of the new and conscientious author. Recently there were sent out engraved announcements from "a literary aid" society showing one could author an honest-to-goodness book for $3,000.

But the woolworth in Manhattan manners is reported from a speakeasy where a gentleman sat down uninvited at a table occupied by several ladies. "Do you mind," he asked archly, "if I take off my hat?"

In the same speakeasy is a scantily clad girl who shivers a mean shimmy while furiously smoking a cigaret. One of the old-timers from back yonder sat at ringside table looking bored and stifling an occasional yawn. "That's pretty hot," ventured his city cousin. "Not," he replied, "if you live with an aunt who smokes a pipe and has the palsy."

Also there was a gentleman in evening clothes sprawled across a table with his head in his hands. A waiter was asked the trouble. "Just pickled and thinking big thoughts," he replied.

PLANETESIMAL HYPOTHESIS

By Archibald Henderson

TWENTY-EIGHT years ago, the great American geologist, Thomas Chrowder Chamberlin, gave the first anticipation of the planetesimal hypothesis. This appeared in his paper, "The possible function of disruptive approach," which constituted an immensely important contribution to cosmogony. In 1905 was put forward a well-ordered account of the planetesimal hypothesis in the second volume of Chamberlin and Salisbury's "Geology." In this same year and the following year, Forest Ray Moulton gave a reasoned and clear account of the new hypothesis, considering it from the angle of dynamics. A specious and disingenuous attempt of British astronomers, in particular Jeans, to appropriate the new theory under another name, the tidal theory, is doomed to failure in the face of the dates and published contributions of the American scientists. Even the distinguished British astronomer, Eddington, has fallen into a grave error in attributing to Jeans the theory that a configuration resembling the solar system would be formed by the close approach of another star casually pursuing its way through space. Jeans was anticipated by Chamberlin and Moulton by full a dozen years!

And what is this remarkable new theory put forward by the two American scientists and favorably taken up by many astronomers during the past decade? It is a much more difficult theory to understand than the essentially simple theory of Laplace. But the purpose of science is not necessarily to put forward the simplest theory, but that theory which best explains all the facts. The planetesimal hypothesis cannot be put forward in a simple formula; but it explains phenomena which cannot be explained under the nebular hypothesis of Laplace.

Let us suppose, for example, that some twenty billion years ago, a large, hot, highly active, gaseous mass closely approached the sun. Let us imagine that, in consequence, great tides were raised upon the sun. This sun was then a fiery body, intermittently throwing off great streams of matter, to as great distances as a half a million miles. Some of this matter, which did not fall back upon the sun, escaped from its control altogether. After the visiting star had passed on its way, there existed in a space a large quantity of matter which had been torn from the sun. This matter of necessity moved about the sun in orbits that were in general highly eccentric, but the motion was always forward. These planets grew up around nuclei by the accretion of countless little planets, called "planetesimals," born at the same time. In accordance with the well-known principles, set forth in any work in celestial mechanics, the orbits of these planets became fat and round.

According to this hypothesis, the eruption from the sun which produced the planetary nuclei also produced one or more smaller nuclei traveling at about the same speed. "If, at the time of ejection," says MacMillan, "such a system of nuclei were moving like a rigid system in rotation, then if they were not too far apart they would continue to move as a dynamical unit and the smaller nuclei would move about the planetary nucleus as a system of satellites."

The theory of Chamberlin and Moulton, aside from priority, over the theory of Jeans, is superior to it in many ways. The arguments in favor of the former theory, while qualitative rather than quantitative, are very appealing and persuasive. The mathematical difficulties in the way of the tidal theory of Jeans are almost, if not quite, inseparable. The planetesimal theory is "broad and elastic;" and the arguments in its favor naturally "appeal to one who loves nature rather than one who merely loves mathematics."

It is important to observe that, under the planetesimal hypothesis, the growth and evolution of the planets could not have proceeded along the lines consonant with Laplace's theory. The intervals of time for the events contemplated by the planetesimal hypothesis are of an entirely different order from that provided for by the Laplacian theory. Instead of tens of millions, thousands of millions of years are required. According to Helmholtz's contraction theory of the sun's heat, which has not been rejected, Lord Kelvin provided a lifetime for the earth of about 25,000,000 years. Even Jeans now admits that the ages we must now attribute to our sun and the other stars are many hundreds of times longer than he, until quite recently, thought at all possible.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DO YOU easily forget your troubles and just as easily become despondent when a new trouble comes?

Do you worry about something or other most of the time, but at other periods do you cast anxious thought aside so completely that you fail to give attention to matters you cannot afford to neglect?

Is it easy for you to give in, and hard for you to fight?

Rather than maintain an effort to surmount obstacles are you prone to give up and let the consequences be what they may?

Has your spirit been killed, the spirit that should glory in accomplishment?

Where is it and why have you lost it?

You should welcome the opportunities to get into something that will call for all you have in physical and mental power.

You need what this would give you.

You should not be so easily pleased that you are jubilant over little victories and despondent over what other men would consider trifling annoyances.
